RAPS RED TAPE AS MAIN PERIL IN FOOD CRISIS

Schricker Demands Farm Crop Help.

BY GUY GENTRY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., May 26.—An appeal to selective service heads to stop robbing farms of skilled man power, coupled with a demand for elimination of red tape "by our long haired friends in Washington," was made today by Gov. Henry F. Schricker of Indiana, addressing officials of six states at a conference on food production in the midwest flood areas.

Gov. H. F. Schricker.

The need for farm labor and farm machinery was acute, Gov. Schricker pointed out, before flood waters inundated millions of acres of productive land, destroyed crops already planted, and caused damage to farm machinery, equipment, and buildings that still can only be estimated.

Asks End to Red Tape.

Turning to M. Clifford Townsend, who, as personal representative of War Food Administrator Chester C. Davis, presided over the conference, the Indiana governor said:

"Go back to Washington and tell your long haired friends to cut out the red tape if they expect us to solve this problem. If food is to win the war we had better get busy."

Gov. Schricker said that the flooded area of Indiana, with 700,000 acres inundated and 40 counties disastrously affected, was only a part of the state's farm problem. Almost continuous rains the past month have so delayed farm work that less than 2 per cent of the state's farm crops are planted. L. M. Vogler, farm war board chairman, estimated that more than 50,000 acres will raise no crops this year.

Need More Machinery.

"It doesn't make sense to take skilled labor from the farms in the face of the additional problems now confronting us," Schricker declared. "We need more machinery. We need plows working 24 hours a day all over the state. The war department has lots of machinery, including tractors and plows. Every state in this area has large army camps with many farm boys experienced in handling tractors and plows. If we could get this machinery and this man power, I think Indiana would surprise the world with the amount of food it produces this year."

Delegates from every state emphasized the great need for immediate action if crops are to be replanted in flooded areas in time to mature before killing frosts next fall. Floods have not yet reached their crest in Arkansas and other states and additional damage is expected, but reports to the conference indicated that already more than 12 million acres have been inundated in the six states.

Urges Delay in Draft.

Dean H. P. Rusk of University of Illinois college of agriculture urged that selective service officials be called upon to defer drafting of farm workers within the flood area for a period of 60 or 90 days. The suggestion was made that a ruling be obtained from the war department to permit soldiers now training in various camps within the flood regions to assist in farm work thru the critical next two or three weeks.

In addition to assistance needed by farmers for rehabilitating their buildings and replanting crops, much critical material, including steel, will be needed to repair washed out bridges and highways, the conference was informed by Col. Malcolm Elliott, in charge of army flood control on the upper Mississippi river.

Danger of frost damage in the fall was pointed out as likely to result from late planting.

HOW SOLDIERS FOUGHT JAPS ON ALEUTIAN ISLAND

On the back page of today's Tribune appear the first pictures to be released showing the landing of United States forces on Attu Island in the Aleutians on May 11. Included are scenes from Holtz and Massacre bays, where the forces first went ashore, and pictures of fighting on the island after the landings. The photographs were released by the navy.

SIX GANGSTERS DROP FIGHT TO ESCAPE TRIAL

Plan to Put Blame on Nitti Rumored.

BY CARL WIEGMAN.

Federal prosecution of the Chicago "syndicate," accused of levying a million dollar tribute on the motion picture industry, was moved to New York yesterday. But a chief issue of the trial, set for Sept. 7, is expected to be the contention of the defense that, if any crime was committed, it was committed in Chicago, not in New York.

This theory was advanced by Atty. James D. C. Murray of New York, one of the lawyers for the six Chicagoans who suddenly abandoned their fight against removal from their home stamping grounds to face charges of extortion and mail fraud conspiracy in New York. The unexpected move came shortly after the noon recess of the hearing before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker.

Base Defense on Dead Man.

The New York trial is expected to be a historic event in the fight to cleanse certain unions of racketeers. It was learned that the defendants base some of their hopes of acquittal on the fact that Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti, long regarded as the top man in the syndicate, committed suicide a few hours after he and the six others were indicted.

The defense expects to try to show that Nitti was the production supervisor of the nation-wide extortion racket.

Nitti May Have Feared "Mob."

The novel theory also was expressed that Nitti killed himself, not because he was dejected over the indictment, but because he had been operating the extortion racket independently of his former buddies and feared their rage.

Ending of the fight against removal to New York was an abrupt anti-climax, because the morning session had been devoted to a long legal argument that indicated the defense intended to prolong the hearing for weeks, if possible. During the noon hour the defense and government lawyers held a conference, and then reappeared before Commissioner Walker.

"On behalf of the defendants, I now wish to waive removal proceedings," said Atty. A. Bradley Eben. "We have reached an agreement with government counsel."

$50,000 Bonds to Continue.

Assistant United States Atty. Maurice Walsh explained to the commissioner that the agreement had been reached with Assistant United States Atty. Boris Kostelanetz of New York, who has been attending the removal hearing. Under the agreement, the government agreed to set the trial for Sept. 7, and the defendants agreed to appear in New York on June 8 for arraignment. Their present bonds of $50,000 each will remain effective.

Only two witnesses testified before the commissioner—Nicholas M. Schenck, president of Loew's, Inc., and Arthur Israel Jr., assistant to the president of Paramount Pictures, Inc.

Testimony Is Brief.

Nicholas Schenck, who on Tuesday told of threats made against him by union racketeers, returned to the stand yesterday and was permitted to say three words in reply to this question from Eben:

"Did you tell any one besides [the late] Sidney Kent, head of 20th Century-Fox, about Willie Bioff's demands?"

"I did not," Schenck replied.

Prosecutor Walsh then made a motion to strike the witness' answer and Eben's question.

After the argument, Commissioner Walker reserved decision on the motion.

During the long legal argument Schenck sat almost motionless on the witness stand. The defendants' faces betrayed varying emotions. Philip D'Andrea appeared stern; Francis Maritote, alias Frank Diamond, seemed worried; Charles Gioe fidgeted and chewed gum; Ralph Pierce dozed, and Louis Campagna and Paul Ricca were impassive.

Navy Planes Sink Sub by Dive Bombing

Washington, D. C., May 26 (AP).—The story of the sinking of an enemy submarine by a navy pilot who flew a huge, slow, and cumbersome patrol plane as a high speed dive bomber was announced today by the navy.

The plane was a Consolidated Catalina flying boat, known in the navy as a PBY. It is a long range, two engined airplane cruising at 110 to 120 miles an hour, used principally for reconnaissance. It has a wing span of 104 feet, and is several times heavier than the standard, faster dive bombers, which are single engined craft with wing spans of 47 to 40 feet. They dive at speeds of 300 miles an hour and over, rates for which the PBY never was intended.

Surprised on Surface.

Several weeks ago, in the South Atlantic, Ensign Thurmond Edgar Robertson of Spartanburg, S. C., surprised the enemy submarine on the surface. The underwater prowler was sighted by Earl J. Kloss, seaman second class, of Royalton, Minn., a member of Robertson's crew. The pilot raced to within a mile of the submarine, which then opened fire with a deck gun. The navy's account of the engagement said:

"Dive bombing a PBY is something the designer never thought about, but the pilot did. Rumbling out of the clouds like a landslide at an angle of 60 degrees and an unprescribed speed of 245 miles an hour, Robertson held his plummeting plane on the sub in spite of continuing gunfire until he was close enough to release his bombs."

The depth bombs exploded close on both sides of the sub. When water thrown up by the explosions cleared, the undersea craft circled, still on the surface, leaving a heavy oil streak.

Second Plane Attacks.

Robertson used his radio to call for more planes, and a bomber from the same squadron, piloted by Lt. Gerard Bradford Jr. of Mobile, Ala., arrived and made a second attack. After the second bombing run and continued strafing attacks by both planes, using machine guns, the submarine "settled gradually by the stern and her bow came out of the water until it protruded at an angle of about 50 degrees," the report said.

Finally the sub sank beneath the surface, with gunfire coming from its deck until the conning tower was submerged, leaving 30 or 40 survivors struggling in the water. The American planes dropped life rafts, but no report has been received of the rescue of any of the submarine crew.

WOMAN PUSHES THRU FLORIDA BILL TO GIVE WIVES EQUAL RIGHTS

Tallahassee, Fla., May 26 (AP).—Rep. Mary Lou Baker today won a fight to have the Florida legislature enact a bill giving married women equal rights with men in handling property and making contracts.

The house earlier in the day refused by a tie vote, 39 to 39, to concur in a senate amendment to her bill, but it reconsidered and concurred by a vote of 46 to 37, completing legislative action on the measure which apparently had been killed on various occasions.

CUT RED TAPE FOR FURLOUGH RATION POINTS

Washington, D. C., May 26 (AP).—To save time for service men home on brief furlough, the office of price administration announced today that it had cut "red tape" for their food ration certificates, as well as shortening to three days the minimum food-allowance period. After June 2, all United States service men, as well as allied soldiers and sailors, on leave for 72 hours or longer, may apply for ration certificates before leaving camp. Previously, a week was the minimum leave for which extra food could be granted.

A "furlough ration unit" based on the anticipated amount of rationed food that would be eaten at nine meals has been established, consisting of eight points for processed foods, eight points for meats and fats, one quarter pound of coffee and one quarter pound of sugar. A soldier on leave for four days and applying for a 12-meal allowance would receive two units, enough for 18 meals.

Find Federal Corporations Take Billions

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 26.—American taxpayers, just told by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau that they must raise 45 billion dollars this year on top of current taxes to meet growing federal expenses, were informed today by the Citizens National committee that they are supplying the funds for the operation of 32 government corporations, many of which compete directly with private business.

These corporations, which render no accounting to the general accounting office of the United States, have almost complete freedom from centralized financial control. In the first six months of the current fiscal year 26 of them spent money so fast that if continued their total year's expenditures will completely exceed the nation's 1942 farm net income.

Pay No Taxes or Interest.

These corporations use the taxpayers' money to finance their operations, but pay neither taxes nor interest for the use of the money. Some, altho they are limited in life by law, have authority to establish subsidiary corporations or agencies of unlimited life.

These, and many other points of considerable interest to the taxpayer, are revealed in a report entitled "Government Corporations—The No Man's Land of Federal Finance," issued by the committee.

The committee is a private research organization which conducts continuing surveys of national policies with a view to focusing particular attention on governmental waste and extravagance. Its chairman is John W. Hanes, New York business executive, who was formerly a member of the securities and exchange commission and undersecretary of the treasury.

Many Facts Unobtained.

The report, a product of an exhaustive, analytical study of the use of the corporate device by the federal government, states frankly that the subject is obscure and many pertinent facts and figures are unobtainable.

Those government corporations that reported their operations to the treasury department on Jan. 31 this year had total assets of 23 billion, 199 million dollars, about five times greater than the assets of government corporations on June 30, 1933, the report said.

The government had nearly 12 billion dollars invested in these corporations. They employed more than 100,000 persons and had a monthly pay roll of better than $19,000,000.

Yank Corsair Held Superior to Japs' Zero

Washington, D. C., May 26 (AP).—The navy's Corsair fighter plane, first such craft in the service to have a 2,000 horse power engine, was described officially today for the first time as decidedly superior to all models of the famed Japanese Zero, even in maneuverability.

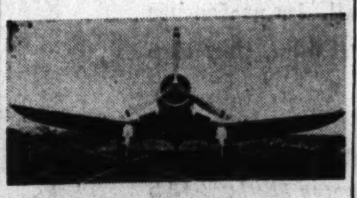
Fighting in the South Pacific has proved its superiority, the navy said it had been informed by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific fleet.

"Our naval and marine pilots at Guadalcanal are enthusiastic about this plane, which so regularly turns out a first rate job," Nimitz declared.

Licks Zero in Every Way.

These pilots have reported that the Corsair has the Zero licked in every phase of combat performance: Interception, maneuverability, climb, speed, fire power, and armor.

Earlier American fighter models than the F-4-U were superior to the Zero in armor and fire power, but generally not in other respects. This compelled American pilots to rely on their skill in evolving new tactics to offset the Zeros' tactical advantages, but prevented our fighters from using a maximum variety of combat methods.



THE CORSAIR.

The navy said that included in the action on which the conclusions of Corsair superiority were based were two engagements in which Jap Zeros swept over the advance American base in the Russell Islands, northwest of Guadalcanal.

In the latest of these, as announced May 14, 16 Zeros out of a total of 25 were destroyed. Corsairs got 15.

In the other engagement, reported April 1, 2d Lt. Kenneth A. Walsh of San Diego, Cal., led his Corsair squadron to the aid of six P-38 Lightnings, which were battling 25 Zeros at 20,000 feet.

Illinois Flyer's Victory.

As Walsh and his wingman, Lt. Dean B. Raymond, 23, made contact with the enemy, two Zeros dived on them without success. A third Zero, in a circling turn, was overshot by Walsh. Raymond cut inside Walsh and shot down the Jap plane.

[Lt. Raymond's mother, Mrs. Permelia Raymond, lives at 301 West Lincoln avenue, Streator, Ill.]

Two Zeros then struck at the two marine flyers. Walsh caught the second Zero and shot it down. Then he took cover in a cloudbank, got on the tail of another Zero, and sent it into the water.

Walsh then got on the tail of another Zero. The Jap made a loop. Walsh followed him in a larger circle, coming out above and behind his adversary. The Jap made a short turn but Walsh beat him to the punch with a 180 degree turn and sent the Zero down in flames.

GENS. EISENHOWER, MACARTHUR KNIGHTED BY KING OF ENGLAND

LONDON, May 27 [Thursday]—(AP).—King George VI. today bestowed upon Generals Eisenhower and MacArthur the honorary rank of knights, grand cross, of the Order of the Bath, military division. Gen. Eisenhower, allied commander in chief in North Africa, and Gen. MacArthur, commander in chief of the southwest Pacific, were honored "in recognition of most valuable services in command of troops of the allied nations."

Medal of Order of the Bath.

In the case of British citizens, these appointments would permit the generals to use the title "sir," but American citizens holding office are forbidden by the Constitution from accepting foreign titles without congress' consent.

The American generals will be presented the insignia of the order, a 33 ounce gold collar with nine Albert crowns, but will not kneel before the king and be dubbed knights.

F. D. R. DEMAND BRINGS ACTION FROM LEADERS

Must Resume Jobs by Noon Today.

Akron, O., May 26 (AP).—Responding to President Roosevelt's demand that 51,500 idle rubber workers "return to work at once," officials of the United Rubber Workers [CIO] locals ordered an end to the five day war production stoppage tonight and expressed confidence their members would comply tomorrow morning.

Earlier, unionists at the General Tire and Rubber company, one of four major Akron concerns involved in the tieup, resumed production on the 10 p. m. shift, a few minutes before the President's order was made public here.

Follows Roosevelt Order.

Roosevelt termed the strikes "inexcusable" and a "flagrant violation of the no-strike pledge" and declared, "If this strike is not ended by 12 o'clock noon, Thursday, May 27, 1943, your government will take the necessary steps to protect the interests of the nation."

Meeting in joint session, the executive boards of the union locals at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, the B. F. Goodrich company, and the Firestone Tire and Rubber company, adopted a resolution urging a "return to work at once."

Union officials said they were confident the employés would resume production on the 6 a. m. shifts tomorrow.

In urging their membership to end the walkout, the union executive boards requested the war labor board to reconsider the merits of the WLB panel's recommendation of an 8 cent an hour wage increase which the WLB later pared to 3 cents.

Given Until Noon.

Washington, D. C., May 26 (AP).—President Roosevelt declared tonight the government will "take the necessary steps" unless the Akron [O.] rubber strike is ended by noon tomorrow.

The chief executive acted soon after the dispute was certified to him by the war labor board.

In a telegram to leaders of the unions in Akron the President said:

"The national war labor board has reported to me concerning the serious strikes existing in several rubber plants in Akron. From the point of view of the nation, these strikes are inexcusable and must therefore be accepted by the country and by your government for what they basically are—namely, a defiance of the war labor board, a challenge to government by law, and a blow against the effective prosecution of the war.

Violation of Pledge.

"Further, these strikes constitute a flagrant violation of the no-strike pledge. They must not be permitted to continue any longer. In the midst of a war calling for the supreme sacrifice of many in the ranks of our armed forces, it is shocking to the nation to discover that any group within our citizenry would impede, for a single moment, the production of the materials of war needed for our war effort.

"Economic sacrifices, whether real or not, do not justify the strike action taken by the members of your union. The war labor board has already called your attention to the fact that orderly procedures exist for a review of your grievances, but those procedures cannot be made available to you in the face of a strike against the security of this nation. As I have stated before, the decisions of the war labor board are binding upon all employers and all employés, and a defiance of the board cannot be permitted.

Orders Picketing Ended.

"Therefore, as commander in chief of the army and navy, I direct all picketing to cease and all employés now out on strike at the rubber plants to return to work at once. If this strike is not ended by 12 o'clock, noon, Thursday, May 27, 1943, your government will take the necessary steps to protect the interests of the nation, the legal rights and properties of the companies involved, and the rights of the patriotic workers who desire to work.

"I hereby request and delegate you to notify the members of your union accordingly and make clear that each and every one of them now out on strike should consider that this telegram is also addressed to the individual striker."

NEW PROBLEMS FORECAST UNDER PAY-AS-GO PLAN

Warn Many Must Guess Incomes in Advance.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 26—Government tax experts drafting the compromise pay-as-you-go income tax legislation which was approved in principle yesterday by a house and senate conference committee disclosed today that the proposed system would vastly increase the complexities of tax payments for millions of Americans.

They said that approximately 14 million taxpayers would have to file not only the usual return on the prior year's earnings, exemptions and deductions, but also would have to file estimates of probable earnings at the beginning of each year and if the first estimate proved incorrect, it was learned, many would have to file as many as three more estimates to escape penalties for not keeping abreast of the pay as you go system.

This was expected to be sad news for those who have faced the annual March 15 tax deadline in perplexed agitation over the chore of filling out returns.

Trouble for Business Firms.

Employers, notably the accounting departments of business firms, also face vast increases in their bookkeeping in the collection of withholding taxes each payroll period, paying them to Uncle Sam every quarter and providing employés with necessary receipts.

Under the proposed system agreed upon by conferees, persons whose tax bill for the 1942 or 1943 year—whichever is lower—was $50 or less would be forgiven the entire amount. Those above this level would be forgiven 75 per cent. The bill, which provides for a 20 per cent withholding tax starting July 1, will go to the house and senate for approval. Speedy enactment was predicted, but whether President Roosevelt would sign the bill was considered uncertain.

Won't Settle All Bills.

Since the 20 per cent withholding tax is designed to yield only a 3 per cent victory tax and a 17 per cent income tax, it would not fully settle the obligations of salary and wage earners in the higher surtax brackets. Generally, single persons receiving more than $2,700 a year and married persons earning $3,500 or more would have to estimate their total tax and pay quarterly on the amount above withholdings to keep abreast of their obligations.

Also those with income from other sources, such as professional men, independent business men, or stock and bond holders receiving dividends would have to estimate their earnings and pay quarterly instalments based on these estimates. Farmers would be required to estimate their annual income and pay currently on an instalment basis. Experts stressed the fact that taxpayers whose bill was covered by the withholding tax entirely would not be required to make any advance estimates.

Penalties would be assessed against persons whose advance estimates were more than 20 per cent below their actual income. Farmers would be allowed 33⅓ per cent margin. The penalty would be 6 per cent of the difference between their estimate and the allowed margin.

However, it was explained, taxpayers would be permitted to revise their estimate at the end of each quarter, necessitating revised payments to bring them up to date, and if their final estimate were within the margin of error they would escape the penalty even tho their other three estimates were wrong. The final accounting would be made on March 15 of the year following the taxable year.

Predict Revenue Gain.

Neither the withholding tax nor the current quarterly installments represent new taxes. They comprise merely a new collection device based on the existing scales adopted last year. Because of the partial doubling up for those whose obligations are more than $50, the measure is expected to produce additional revenue of more than 3 billion dollars by March 15, 1945. Whether this will eliminate necessity for higher taxes later this year is uncertain, since President Roosevelt has asked for 16 billions in new revenue in the next fiscal year thru increased taxes, enforced savings or both.

The withholding tax is computed so as to approximate the income levy for the normal and first surtax bracket, as well as to cover the portion of the victory tax, 3 per cent, retained by the government under existing law.

Exemptions in computing the withholding tax tables on which employers are expected to gauge the amount to be taken out of pay envelopes are $624 a year for a single person with no dependents, $1,248 for a married couple with no dependents and an additional $312 for each dependent in either category. These also allow roughly for allowable deductions for charity contributions, etc.

Exemptions Not Altered.

These would not change present exemptions or place a new limit on deductions, which vary with individual taxpayers. When making his usual March 15 return, the taxpayer would compute his bill for the preceeding year, as he has done in the past. If his withholding tax and instalments already paid totaled more than the bill, he would be allowed a refund or credit. If they were less, he would pay the difference, with the 6 per cent penalty if he was outside the 20 per cent margin of error.

In addition, on March 15 for the next two years those in the higher brackets receiving only 75 per cent forgiveness of a year's obligations would have to pay off the other 25 per cent, at the rate of 12½ per cent a year. No discount would be offered for payment ahead of time.

In figuring how the plan would affect them, taxpayers must compare 1942 and 1943 earnings. If their bills are below $50, they are immediately relieved of paying anything for the smaller of the two years. If above that figure, except in the borderline cases, they would be forgiven only 75 per cent and would be expected to pay the first half of the remaining 25 per cent by next March 15 and the remaining half by March 15, 1945.

Tax Example Cited.

For example, a taxpayer with a $2,500 net income before personal exemptions now has a 1942 tax bill of $232. Assuming that his 1943 income is higher, he would be forgiven 75 per cent of last year's levy or $175 [because that is the smaller year] leaving him with an outstanding balance of $58. Of that, $29 would be paid by March 15 next year and another $29 a year later, in addition to his current payments.

In the case of the $2,500 taxpayer, the first two instalments on 1942 taxes which will have been paid by June 15 of this year would be made to apply against the 1943 levy and in the last half of the year the collections would begin thru the withholding tax. A total of $52.75 also was collected from him during the first half of the year under the 5 per cent victory tax.

Out of this, under existing law, he is entitled to a maximum refund or credit of 40 per cent, $21.10, for debt repayment, insurance premiums, or purchase of government bonds. This would be rebated next March 15, and the taxpayer allowed to apply it against the unforgiven portion of the 1942 or 1943 tax bill.

Seek to Save Bookkeeping.

It will be the last time such a rebate will have to be made, however, since only the 60 per cent of the victory tax belonging to the government is to be collected as part of the withholding tax. That part on which individuals can secure a credit if they qualify will still be due under the law, but in the future it will be collected in a lump on the March 15 settlement day from those who must pay it. This was done to save the government the necessity of the bookkeeping entailed in making millions of refunds, it was explained.

Similarly, a taxpayer in a higher bracket—a married man with a $25,000 gross income and no dependents —owes a tax of $7,791 plus a victory tax of $1,218.80, a total obligation of $9,009.80. During the first half of the year the full 5 per cent victory tax was collected thru pay roll deductions, a total for that period of $609.40. And he will have paid by June 15 the first two income tax instalments, amounting to $3,895.50, or half his year's bill.

In the last half of the year, he will owe a total of $4,626.78 income and victory tax of which $2,376 will be withheld. This will leave him with a balance of $2,250.78. If he has correctly estimated his income ahead of time, he would pay off the balance, half on Sept. 15, and half on Dec. 15. But if he has underestimated, he would have to pay the difference by the next March 15.

Forgiveness $5,843.25.

Assuming that his income this year was the same, his 75 per cent forgiveness for a year would amount to $5,843.25, leaving him with a balance of $1,947.75 to be divided over the next two years. If he qualified for a rebate on the $609.40 victory tax under the 5 per cent victory tax collected in the first half of the year, he would have a credit of $243.76 to apply against the first of the instalments.

Since only $731.28 or 3 per cent was collected in victory tax in the last half of the year there will be no further rebate due on this levy, as has been explained. However, if this individual failed to qualify for a rebate in the last half of the year, he would then owe the added 2 per cent when he filed his final return the following March 15. The withholding tax and instalments will operate the same in the future as in as in the last half of 1943.

HOW FORGIVENESS OF TAXES AFFECTS MARRIED PERSONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 27.—The following table shows the amount of forgiveness for various net income brackets and the total annual tax burden for the next two years necessary to pay off the unforgiven amounts for a married person without dependents, as provided in the compromise tax bill. The first column is the net income before exemptions; the second column shows the 75 per cent abatement for each bracket and the last column gives combined total of a year's bill plus the added 12½ per cent for each year:

1,500 VENEREAL CASES TREATED IN NEW HOSPITAL

Lack of Technical Aids Limits Service.

BY BRYCE ENGLE.

Fifteen hundred persons have been treated for syphilis and gonorrhea at the Chicago Intensive Treatment hospital, 2449 Dearborn street, in its first six months of operation, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, disclosed yesterday.

The number of patients has increased steadily from about 100 in the first month to approximately 400 in May. A peak was reached this month when 172 patients were hospitalized at the same time.

"The hospital could be operated at its capacity of about 200 beds if we had sufficient technical personnel," Dr. Bundesen said.

The primary consideration in determining which victims of venereal diseases are to be admitted is the extent to which prospective patients are likely to spread the disease, Dr. Bundesen said. This is to make the hospital "help as much as possible in winning the war."

Two-Thirds Are Women.

About two-thirds of those admitted for treatment are women, the health official said, and a large majority of all patients are under 30 years old. Many of the women are in their late teens. About half the patients are treated for syphilis and the rest gonorrhea, altho some have both diseases.

Because the newest methods of combating the diseases are used, a large majority of patients are released as noninfective within two weeks. The health department plans to "follow up" these discharged patients with checkups over a period of many years.

The speed with which venereal disease victims are made noninfective may be contrasted with older methods of treatment which in the case of syphilis require 18 months and the four to eight weeks of treatment originally planned at the intensive treatment hospitals over the nation.

The objective of the hospital, Dr. Bundesen said, is to make venereal disease sufferers noninfective "quickly, safely, and kindly." All persons are treated as sick, not as sinners, he said, and the hospital makes no distinction as to "race, color, or creed."

Many Come Voluntarily.

Many persons eventually enter the hospital as a result of "contact investigations," which follow disclosure by victims of venereal diseases of possible sources of their infection. Health departments in other cities and the army and navy supply much information valuable in locating venereal disease victims.

The hospital, dedicated last Nov. 29, is operated under supervision of Dr. Bundesen and Dr. Theodore J. Bauer, venereal disease control officer for Chicago. Dr. H. Worley Kendell, one of the leaders in developing the short time chemothermic method of treating venereal diseases at Dayton, O., is medical director of the hospital.

The treatment at the hospital, which is financed primarily by federal grants, is free, and there is no provision for accepting contributions by patients who might desire to pay.

WOMAN GAGGED AND ROBBED BY MAN IN UNIFORM

Thief Takes 3 Rings and $300 Watch.

A young man in sailor's uniform yesterday bound, gagged, and robbed a north shore housewife—the mother of three service men. As the result of her experience, she was confined to bed in the home of friends last night.

The victim was Mrs. Sallie Campbell, 50 years old, 343 Washington avenue, Wilmette, wife of Harry C. Campbell, vice president of the Morris Paper mills, 135 South La Salle street.

With her three sons in the fighting services and her husband out of the city, Mrs. Campbell was alone at home about 3:30 p. m. yesterday when the bandit appeared. He said he was looking for a sailor friend, then asked to use the phone.

Intruder Asks for Rope.

Inside the house later he asked for some rope to "use on my car." He was described as about 23 years old, 5 feet 5 inches tall, 130 pounds, with fair skin and dark curly hair. Mrs. Campbell invited him to the kitchen for a drink of pop.

Suddenly the intruder picked up a sharp paring knife from the kitchen table. He thrust it toward the startled Mrs. Campbell, announced he wanted her money, and ordered her into the bedroom.

Searches Home for Loot.

There he tied her arms and feet with the rope he had borrowed, presumably for his car, and gagged her with a handkerchief. With Mrs. Campbell helpless, he searched her home and found $40 in cash. Not content with this, he took her platinum wrist watch, valued at $300, and three rings, worth $800.

He left and a few minutes later Mrs. Campbell freed herself and called police. Chief Theo Hall of Wilmette said he hoped to trace the bandit thru the telephone call he made, provided it was outside of Wilmette. A card found on the floor was traced to a reputable business man. The robber drove a gray convertible coupé.

NAVY SENDS NEW CARRIER HERE TO TRAIN FLYERS

Sable Joins Wolverine for War Task.

Training of naval flyers to land airplanes on carriers in the Great Lakes will be doubled at once as a result of the arrival at Chicago yesterday of the U. S. S. Sable to join the Wolverine, which has been in service since last August.

Like the Wolverine, the Sable is a former Great Lakes luxury ship from which the upper decks have been removed and a flight deck installed. The Sable, formerly the Greater Buffalo of the Detroit and Cleveland Navigation company, also is a coal burning sidewheeler, but somewhat larger than the Wolverine, now a familiar sight in the harbor off Grant park.

The Sable was commissioned as a navy ship May 8 at Buffalo, N. Y., where the conversion work was performed under direction of Lt. Comdr. A. E. Eisele, who also supervised conversion of the Wolverine.

Original Cost $3,500,000.

Built in 1925 at a cost of $3,500,000, the Sable is 550 feet long at the water line and has a beam of 100 feet. A 12,000 horsepower engine gives the craft a speed of more than 20 knots.

Equipped with passenger decks that rose to a height of 80 feet above the water line, the Sable formerly had accommodations for 2,120 passengers and 1,000 tons of freight.

When Capt. W. K. Berner and his crew boarded the Sable, they found many luxuries not included in ordinary naval construction. To save the cost of equipment, the navy retained and is using much of the luxurious furniture, china, linens, bedding, and other movable gear of the Greater Buffalo.

Because the airplanes that will use the Sable are based at the Glenview naval air station, no hangar deck is required as on fleet carriers.

Modern Food Preparation.

Food for the officers and crew will be prepared in up-to-date galleys equipped with electric refrigeration, dish washing machines, and a waste disposal unit.

Capt. Berner was graduated from the United States Naval academy in 1922 and has been a naval flyer since 1924. Before taking command of the Sable he was on the staff of the commander of the Atlantic air forces.

The executive officer of the Sable is Comdr. H. H. Crow, a naval reservist since 1909 who served in World War I. aboard the Tacoma and Buffalo.

NEW SUBSTANCE USED IN FIGHT ON GONORRHEA

The recently discovered substance, pencillin, has cured gonorrhea in three cases in which even the usually effective sulfa drugs failed, the Journal of the American Medical Association reported yesterday.

Pencillin, obtained from a mold, was found to have remarkable ability to combat certain types of infection.

Doctors Wallace E. Herrel and Edward N. Cook, and Luther Thompson, Ph. D., all of Rochester, Minn., said their cases indicate that pencillin should prove effective in treating infections due to bacteria which resists the sulfonamide drugs.

LONELY KODIAK'S 'BEAR' IS A SHOT IN ARM TO YANKS

BY WARREN BAKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kodiak, an island about a hundred miles long and 50 wide, lies just under the head of the Alaska peninsula, that long spearhead of land that eventually breaks up into the Aleutian chain of islands. Kodiak is the home of the bears, and since the war, the home of The Bear.

Maj. Gen. Corlett.

Every big game hunter in the world either has shot a Kodiak bear or dreamed of doing so. They are the largest carnivorous mammal in the world, often measuring 12 to 13 feet in length. Until the army and navy moved into Kodiak to set up bases, the bears sometimes roamed the two streets of the little village of Kodiak.

Becomes Collectors' Item.

The Bear is one of those popular little camp papers that suddenly become collectors' items all over the world, just as the Stars and Stripes did in the last war. It was really the brain child of Maj. Gen. Charles Harrison Corlett, better known to his command at Fort Greely as "Cowboy Pete."

The village of Kodiak, when the army and navy came, was built chiefly along one mud street full of geese and dogs. The buildings were, and are, of one story construction, all frame, built hurriedly with a view to quick and easy profits.

Now there are highways all over the island and the town has been put under stricter regulations. Saloons must close at 8:45 p. m. and the boys pile into taxicabs and buses to get back to their bases. Now that they can get cokes or beer, play pool or pinball at the recreation centers Gen. Corlett set up for them at the camps, many don't even bother to go into town any more.

Gen. Corlett, whose paternal interest in his men extends far beyond his responsibilities as a commanding officer, got tired of seeing them go into town to pay 35 cents for hamburgers, a quarter for a 10 cent can of beer, and $2.50 for a doubtful steak.

So, among many other projects designed to keep the men interested, busy, and healthy, the general finally succeeded in getting his recreation centers set up.

Food Under Ashes.

Gen. Simon B. Buckner Jr., chief of the Alaska defense command, likes to tell you: "When the American soldier is fighting or very busy he's happy. When he's not fighting and idle he's homesick."

Many of the soldiers on Kodiak were there before Pearl Harbor, and after huts and buildings were put up and they were out of their drafty tents with little to do they began to get restless.

It was then that Gen. Corlett asked for volunteer farmers and vegetable growers. They scraped a foot of ashes from the 1912 eruption of Mount Katmai off a hillside and planted cauliflower, cabbage, potatoes, lettuce, radishes, beans, peas, and even strawberries and raspberries.

Built Dairy Next.

Then Corlett took another group of volunteers over to a neighboring island where there was a fine stand of spruce and opened up a sawmill. Even that wasn't enough for Cowboy Pete. He established a dairy, so his boys wouldn't have to depend entirely on powdered and canned milk from eastern and middle western milksheds.

Gen. Corlett is a rugged-faced, homely, bowlegged, but soft spoken and interesting man in his 50s who was wounded twice in the World war and nearly died of pneumonia.

After the war, Corlett was forced to retire from the army to regain his health, weakened by the pneumonia attack. But he was back in the service in 1920.

High on Morale.

Morale is his big fetish. Any private who has a grievance can take it straight to the general without any red tape. But usually the general gets to him first. The Kodiak Bear, one of his first efforts in this direction, is the post paper, edited by the boys and for the boys. If a picture is worth pinning up, it may run two weeks in a row. There doesn't have to be any news attached to it, anyway. The paper is breezy and a bit Rabelaisian, but right alongside some spicy wisecrack there is likely to be some sweetly nostalgic poem one of the boys has knocked off in the lonesome night.

Another of Corlett's morale builders was station KODK, a wildcat 15 watter staffed by former radio announcers and technicians in the Kodiak command.

Finally, the federal communications commission was persuaded to license the bootleg station. But instead of allowing it to keep the apt and euphonious KODK signature, the FCC assigned it the call letters WVCQ. But it goes right on keeping the boys on Kodiak in touch with the outside world and entertaining them in the few spare moments they have now that the war has begun in earnest in the islands.

JAP FEEDER BASE AT MADANG PLASTERED WITH 2,000 LB. BOMBS

ALLIED HDQ., AUSTRALIA, May 27 [Thursday]—(AP).—Two thousand pound bombs were dropped on Madang, New Guinea, yesterday by raiding B-24 Liberators, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced. Madang, 350 miles northwest of the allied held Port Moresby is an enemy feeder base for menaced positions at Salamaua to its southeast.

"Our heavy bombers attacked the airdrome and adjacent enemy installations with fragmentation and explosive bombs ranging up to 2,000 pounds," the noon communique said, adding "simultaneously, our lon grange fighters [Beaufighters] strafed enemy positions."

Twelve miles below Salamaua, where Japanese and allied troops face each other, attack planes also bombed and strafed the enemy.

At Langgoer, on the Kai Islands above Australia, explosions and fires were started on the enemy airdrome by B-25 Mitchells. At Arawe, New Britain, a Flying Fortress strafed the coastal area.

F.D. Picks Adm. Glassford as U. S. Minister to Dakar

Washington, D. C., May 26 (AP).—President Roosevelt's appointment of Rear Adm. William A. Glassford Jr., as his personal representative, with the rank of minister, in French West Africa was announced today by the state department. Glassford will head an American mission at Dakar to coördinate and supervise American activities in that area, the announcement said. He will leave for his post "in the near future."

U.S. NAVAL SHIP SUNK AFTER JAP PLANES BOMB IT

Washington, D. C., May 26 (AP).—Japanese planes attacked the naval auxiliary vessel Niagara on Sunday east of Cape Surville, San Cristobal Island, in the Solomons, and damaged it so badly that it was sunk by United States forces, the navy announced today. Members of the crew were taken aboard other ships. Reports reaching the navy department indicated there were no casualties to personnel.

The Niagara's skipper was Lt. Comdr. David B. Coleman, 37, of La Mesa, Cal.

The Niagara, formerly a private yacht, was acquired by the navy from Mrs. H. Edward Manville of New York in 1940. The vessel was used as a motor torpedo boat tender.

VALLEY ON ATTU CLEARED; YANKS ATTACK ON RIDGE

Take One of Last Three Jap Positions.

Washington, D. C., May 26 (AP).—Japanese resistance on Attu Island appeared today to be crumbling fast with one of the enemy's last three main positions in American hands and a second under violent assault.

Army air striking power in the western Aleutian Islands was supporting the assault by ground forces. A navy communique said Liberator and Mitchell bomber and Lightning fighters all joined the attacks on Monday.

Still Fight for Ridge.

Chichagof valley was the first of the enemy positions to fall since the Japanese forces were split last week into three groups. It was cleared of the enemy Monday. Combined units of the American northern and southern landing groups then turned to an attack along the ridge north of the valley and this, the navy communique said, "was reported as continuing."

Hold Positions on Lake.

The ridge stands as a bulwark between Chichagof valley and Chichagof harbor, one of the two remaining main enemy positions on the northeastern tip of the island. The other Japanese position is the area immediately north of Lake Nicholas, two or three miles southeast of Chichagof.

Monday's air attack was officially described as having started fires in the Chichagof area.

CHICKENS AND HOG STOLEN.

PLAN FOR 800 GUESTS TO HEAR SEN. WHEELER

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] will address the members and guests of the University of Michigan club of Chicago at their annual dinner in the Red Lacquer room at the Palmer House tomorrow evening. The senator's topic will be "War and Peace."

Leo T. Norville, chairman of the dinner committee, said yesterday that approximately 800 persons were expected to attend, among whom will be several classmates of Sen. Wheeler in the class of 1905. Prominent among those who will attend are Federal Judge John P. Barnes, Silas H. Strawn, Hughston M. McBain, president of Marshall Field & Co.; George Kelly, vice president of the Pullman company; Donald C. Miller, vice president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, and Atty. Leonard C. Reid.

Sen. Wheeler, accompanied by Mrs. Wheeler, is expected to arrive tomorrow morning. They plan to spend the week-end with friends here.

HINTS JAPANESE ISSUE MAY COST DE WITT HIS JOB

San Francisco, Cal., May 26 (AP).—The Call-Bulletin today quoted Rep. Richard J. Welch [R., Cal.] as saying a shakeup was under way in the Pacific coast army high command because of differences between Lt. Gen. John L. De Witt and certain war department heads over the question of treatment of Japanese in the western states.

The paper said that according to Welch's information, De Witt will be removed as commander of the 4th army and western defense command and be given a job in or near Washington, D. C.

The paper reported Welch said he understood De Witt would be succeeded by Lt. Gen. Delos Emmons, now commanding general of the Hawaiian defense command. De Witt has opposed the return of any Japanese to the coast.

JAPS TO OFFER PEACE TO CHINA, CONGRESS TOLD

Corean Asserts Terms Already Drawn.

Washington, D. C., May 26 (AP).—A Corean leader, who said he predicted the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor two months before it occurred, told the house immigration committee today that the Japanese plan to offer China a separate peace not later than September.

Kilsoo K. Haan, Washington representative of the Corean National Front federation and Sino-Corean People's league, who previously has predicted an attempt by Japan to invade the United States this year, listed the terms of the expected peace proposals, which he said had already been submitted to the Japanese supreme war council last November.

Reported Peace Terms.

He said they provide:

1. That China is to withdraw from the allied nations and remain neutral.

2. That Japan is to restore to China all of the occupied territories, status quo as of 1937; however, Japan is to reserve the right to control and use for the duration all the railroads and harbors now under her domination.

3. Japan and China to name an equal number of delegates to an international commission, to reorganize Manchukuo for joint Sino-Japanese ownership after the war.

4. Japan to grant China one billion yen "lend-lease" credit.

Reports Forced Marriages.

Haan also told the committee that 2,600 Filipinos had been taken to Japan during the past six months and made to marry Japanese girls; and would return to the Philippines late this year with their brides; that in three years Japan expects to have 20,000 Japanese girls shipped to the Philippines and 10,000 to Java and Thailand.

"If this Japanization program shows signs of reasonable success," Haan declared, "it is certain that within a generation 150,000 Japanese girls will be shipped to all parts of the occupied areas to be married off to native bridegrooms."

The Corean appeared at a hearing on bills the committee is considering for repeal of the Chinese exclusion acts.

11 ARRESTED IN 4 GAMBLING RAIDS THRU LOOP AREA

PRIEST RELATES JAP VENGEANCE FOR TOKIO RAID

Chinese Area Ruined in Hunt for Flyers.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 26 [Special].—Ravages of "beasts from Japan" in the Chinese province of Kiangsi were described today by Father Herbert F. Vandenberg, who is recovering from malaria in St. Mary's hospital, 2320 North Lake drive, after harrowing experiences with Japanese violence in the province that sheltered American flyers forced down there after the Doolittle raid on Tokio.

Father Vandenberg heard of the raid on Tokio while listening to a radio report from the Jap capital. He and the other priests were apprehensive with the knowledge that the Japs were solidly entrenched in Nanchang, the capital of Kiangsi, only 50 miles away from the Catholic compound of the Vincentian fathers in the city of Linchwan, the place of their missionary.

Fled with Orphans.

Knowledge that 10 American flyers were being sheltered in the province soon became a generally recognized fact, and the Japs learned of the Americans' presence thru their spies. Familiar with Jap tactics, Father Vandenberg prepared to move 45 of the Chinese orphan girls from the compound when he heard that Japanese soldiers were marching from Nanchang. On June 1, 1942, he and his Chinese wards set out for Hangpu, 20 miles away.

In the meantime, at nearby Linchwan, in the same province, Fathers Stephen Dunker and Clarence Murphy escaped the Japs, altho the city had been entered. The two priests and Father Vandenberg, with the 45 frightened Chinese girls, met at Hangpu, but soon were forced to evacuate the city when the enemy's machine gun fire was heard outside the city.

After several days marching, Father Vandenberg and his band finally arrived at the village of Wutu, where they remained for three months.

City Destroyed.

On Aug. 25 the Japs evacuated Linchwan, and Father Vandenberg, Father Dunker and Father Murphy and the 45 orphans returned to find the city, normally of 50,000 population, desecrated and practically destroyed.

The Japs had wreaked special vengeance on the Catholic church there, Father Vandenberg said. They had chopped up the altars, torn down the pulpit, wrecked the sacristy and mutilated the statues of Christ and the Virgin Mary.

Rape of children, young women and grandmothers was in evidence thruout the wrecked city of Linchwan, the priest said. Swords had cut down a great portion of the city's manhood, and babies had been smashed against the walls. One pretty 10 year old Chinese girl had been raped twice by the Japs and left to die.

Missions in Ruins.

As the three priests reviewed the situation of the Catholic church in the Kiangsi province of China, Father Vandenberg said, it was learned that 26 of the 30 missions in the diocese lay in ruins. It was impossible to reconstruct them and many of the Catholic Chinese in their diocese had been slain, so the three priests decided to return to the United States.

A hazardous six month journey brought the trio to the United States by way of China's back door to India, then to South America.

CHINESE RETAKE KEY POINT; KILL 600 JAP TROOPS

Report 3 Enemy Drives Near Ichang Blunted.

CHUNGKING, China, May 26 (AP).—Chinese troops have recaptured an important strategic point and killed 600 Japanese in a battle on the outer ring of Ichang in central China, a high command communique reported tonight.

Ichang is the center of menacing Japanese thrusts along the Yangtze river in southwestern Hupeh province in the direction of Chungking. Earlier the Chinese Central News agency had reported the blunting of three enemy drives fanning out of the Ichang area.

Chinese forces also suffered "considerable casualties" in the latest battle, which was west of Lungchuanpu, northeast of Ichang, but they seized big stores of military booty, the communique declared.

Enemy Reported Advancing.

South across the Yangtze from Ichang, enemy troops were reported advancing northwestward after taking Changyang, 12 miles southeast of Ichang.

Chinese shore batteries drove back still other enemy forces attempting to cross to the north bank of the Ching river, a tributary of the Yangtze, south of Changyang, the war bulletin said, while Japanese units from Yuyangkwan, southwest of Ichang, were reported repulsed in a brisk attack on two villages.

The Central News agency had reported defeat of Japanese groups south and southwest of Yuyangkwan, and "staggering losses" inflicted on the enemy below Ichang when the invaders attempted to drive the Chinese out of defenses along the Yangtze between Ichang and Yochow. It also told of heavy fighting continuing on the south bank of the Yangtze.

Villages Taken, Says Communique.

Central News said 700 Japanese troops were killed in a Chinese thrust into enemy occupied Tangyang, 40 miles northeast of Ichang.

The late communique declared Chinese troops recaptured two villages in the outer ring of Lihsien in the Lake Tungting area, and that in a night raid in Chekiang province they entered Hsihsishih, west of Lansi, "killing many enemy men and thoroly demolishing enemy defense works."

HELD FOR JEWELRY THEFTS.

Marie Korterba, 26 years old, 5620 South Throop street, was held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Frank E. Donoghue in Felony court after admitting stealing jewelry from several homes where she had worked as a maid.

FREE INDIA FIGHT JOINED BY FIVE LABORITE M. P.'S

Ceylon Is Promised Partial Home Rule.

Deny Gandhi Request

NEW DELHI, India, May 27 [Thursday]—(AP).—The British India government today denied Mohandas K. Gandhi facilities to communicate by letter with Mohammed Ali Jinnah, president of the All-India Moslem league. Jinnah had invited the Hindu leader to write him from his internment if, he said, he was sincere in his expressed wish to bring an end to a disagreement between the Moslem league and the Congress party. A communique said that "disabilities from which Gandhi suffers are of his own choice and it rests with Gandhi to satisfy the government of India that he can safely be allowed once more to participate in the public affairs of the country."

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 26.—Five members of the house of commons, all Laborites, agreed today to join the Council for International Recognition of Indian Independence, which proposes to contact legislators of allied parliaments and press a demand for early recognition of Indian independence.

Colonial Minister Oliver Stanley announced that the government had sent new assurances to the Ceylon government regarding constitutional reform, promising to Ceylon after the war full responsible government in all internal administration, but retaining defense and foreign affairs under British control.

Gratitude for War Work.

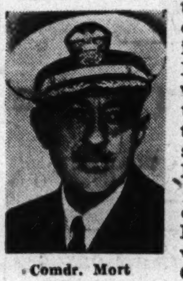
This assurance, while not satisfying those seeking dominion status for Ceylon, marks an advance on the British government's promises of two years ago, since it invites the Ceylon government to go ahead with drafting a new constitution before the war ends and defines the broad limits wherein it may be framed.

The government's move is regarded as a gesture of gratitude to Ceylon for her part in the war. Ceylon has supplied rubber, tea, and graphite to Britain, as well as contributing more than $4,000,000 to various war funds.

Sweepout Predicted.

The political commentator of the Evening News suggests that the first thing the Ceylon government will do when it has achieved limited home rule will be to "sweep out the Whitehall officials who exercise considerable administrative control." There are three so-called "officers of state," members of both the board of ministers and state council, whose presence constitutes "a constant provocation and hurt to Singhalese pride," the writer says.

JAP CRASHED PLANE INTO SHIP'S BRIDGE, SELIGMAN REPORTS



Comdr. Mort Seligman.

The pilot of a crippled Japanese plane, the leader of the first flight to attack the aircraft carrier Lexington after Pearl Harbor, was killed trying to wipe out the top officers of the ship, Comdr. Mort Seligman, executive officer of the ill-fated Lexington, revealed yesterday. Comdr. Seligman spoke at a demonstration of oil fire fighting methods at Roosevelt High school in East Chicago.

"The leader was hit by anti-aircraft fire, spun a couple of times and one engine fell into the sea. The pilot recovered and dived straight for us on the bridge, firing everything he had, but missing. He came straight thru the most terrific hail of fire I ever hope to see, but he was killed just before he crashed into the water only 200 feet away."

This was the battle, in February, 1942, in which Lt. Edward J. O'Hare single-handed shot down six out of a flight of nine bombers.

BRITISH CHURCH ASSAILS LYING AND SEX PERILS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 26.—The upper house of convocation of Canterbury, the Anglican church's parliament, unanimously passed a resolution today protesting against "the widespread decay of truth speaking" and urging the clergy and bishops to "foster new reverence for truth."

Dr. Barnes, bishop of Birmingham, said increased lying is "only one phase of the process of social demoralization and decay; there is a concurrent increase in theft and a growth in sexual license." He estimated it would take 50 years after the war for Britain to "regain the moral social level of the Victorian era."

Ickes in Chicago; Denies Visit Concerns Cut in Gas

Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, was registered at the Blackstone hotel yesterday. Ickes denied his visit to Chicago was prompted by recent statements issued from his offices in Washington that more drastic rationing of gasoline in the middle east is imminent.

Count Plane Losses

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 26.—Altho Britain lost 287 bombers and the Americans 28 in raids during April over Germany and western Europe, no better use could have been made of them, Air Minister Archibald Sinclair told the house of commons today. "That means 699 bombers have been lost since Jan. 1," Richard Stokes, a Laborite, commented. "Is the minister satisfied that some of them couldn't have been put to more useful purposes?"

Sinclair replied: "I'm absolutely satisfied."

LONDON, May 26 (AP).—The royal air force bashed the German arms center of Duesseldorf with nearly 2,000 tons of explosives last night.

Perhaps 500 bombers, most of them four-engined giants packing two-ton blockbusters, left a carpet of flames to eat thru cratered Duesseldorf in a saturation raid almost equaling Sunday night's record of destruction heaped on Dortmund, 50 miles away.

Drop 5 Bombs a Minute.

More than five two-ton blockbuster bombs a minute hurtled down on Duesseldorf in the biggest attack yet carried out under unfavorable weather conditions.

Thousands of incendiaries also plummeted upon the Ruhr city, the resulting fires casting a red glare on the cloud layers thru which the British attacked "in very great strength." Twenty-seven bombers failed to return.

"One huge explosion came up in a red mass and penetrated right thru the clouds," said returning airmen. "There were several other good explosions which sent up bright orange flashes."

Fifty-second Raid on City.

Two German night fighters were shot down by the R. A. F. planes, which included Halifaxes, Stirlings, and Lancasters.

It was the 52d attack on Duesseldorf, Germany's third largest inland port equipped with iron and steel works comparable to the great Krupp plants which once existed at Essen. An R. A. F. attack on Dec. 2 was said to have left 190,000 homeless at Duesseldorf.

The German high command communique announced "losses among the population as well as damage to buildings." It did not name Duesseldorf, referring only to "the west German area."

GIRAUD FORCES GET 60 MILLION IN LEND-LEASE

Washington, May 26 [Special].—Lend-lease supplies worth approximately $60,000,000 were transferred to the forces of Gen. Henri Honore Giraud in French North Africa during April, it was announced today by Edward R. Stettinius Jr. lend-lease administrator. Total aid to Gen. Giraud's forces thru April 30 amounted to approximately $75,000,000. No indication was given as to how much of the equipment has reached Africa thus far.

"The weapons have been supplied to the French military forces in French Africa, and they are now an integral part of the united nations' striking power," Stettinius said.

PROPOSES JAPS BE EXECUTED AS U. S. RETALIATION

Correspondent Urges Prompt Action.

Forecasting the execution of "scores" of American prisoners in the hands of the Japanese unless we retaliate in kind for the murder of captured Yank flyers, Robert Bellaire, former war correspondent, last night urged that America immediately execute a like number of Jap prisoners.

Bellaire, a correspondent for the United Press in Tokio when Pearl Harbor was attacked, spoke to more than 1,200 persons at the 45th annual convention of the National Metal Trades association in the Palmer House.

"The blood of the Doolittle raiders is not only on the hands of the Japanese but also on the hands of those Americans who persist in advertising to the world that our enemies may do whatever they wish to us and we will do nothing about it," Bellaire said. "It would be regrettable, but we must protect the lives of our own people by showing the Japs we are fully as ruthless as they are.

Reports Japs Confident.

The Japanese have the utmost confidence in their ability to win the war and have recuperated 75 per cent of all the pre-war production of oil and rubber they seized in the far east, he declared. They are continuing their terrorizing and torturing of American prisoners because they are certain that victory will prevent retaliation by the United States.

C. S. Cragmile, vice president of the Belden Manufacturing company of Chicago, presented the association's first annual merit awards to three engineers who have contributed inventions which are speeding the war effort. First award went to Oliver W. Bonnafe of Hudson, Mass., who developed a machine which rifles .50 caliber machine gun barrels 50 times as fast as those formerly used.

Earlier in the day the convention delegates were told by Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director of selective service, not to expect long deferments for young husbands without children.

Disturbed by Strike News.

United States submarine crews can't understand why American news broadcasters frequently devote more than half their time to news of strikes, while the boys eat, work and fight around the clock, Lt. Comdr. Charles C. Kirkpatrick, former skipper of a United States craft which sank 14 enemy ships, told the convention.

Tech. Sergt. H. B. Hancock, at the luncheon meeting, said the B-17 Flying Fortress is a plane "which will take you where your mission requires and bring you home." Sergt. Hancock, in 308 hours of combat flying, won two distinguished flying crosses and the air medal with five oak leaves for 26 combat missions.

Col. John Slezak, deputy chief of the Chicago ordnance district, in the afternoon session said that "American free enterprise has performed miracles and justified itself in the face of almost insurmountable obstacles."

C. Scott Fletcher of the government's committee for economic development predicted that the "toughest assignment" of the war would be the creation of 55,000,000 post-war jobs, 9,000,000 more than in 1940, when the war is won.

B'nai B'rith Bond Goal Is 10 Millions by June 30

The B'nai B'rith order yesterday announced plans for presentation of subscriptions for 10 million dollars in war bonds to Henry Morgenthau Jr., secretary of the treasury, at the 75th annual convention of District 6 in Milwaukee on July 18, 19, and 20. The bond campaign by the lodge will close June 30. The project is in observance of the 100th anniversary of B'nai B'rith. Charles H. Louer is in charge of the drive.

400 U. S. PLANES RAID TARGETS ON 3 ITALIAN ISLES

Forts Down 12 Aircraft; Bomb Messina Port.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, May 26.—Allied aerial fleets again dealt a ponderous hammering to the links of Italy's chain of island defenses yesterday, nearly 400 of them bombing and strafing targets in Sicily, Sardinia, and Pantelleria and knocking out 23 axis aircraft in dog fights. Three more enemy aircraft were reported shot down by British Wellington bombers. This brought to 355 the number officially reported destroyed by the allies in the last week. Eleven American planes failed to return from all of the missions yesterday.

Staff Sergt. Fred E. Bowker.

Blast Ferry Terminal.

Messina, Sicilian harbor and ferry terminal, was visited by Flying Fortresses which hit the ferry slip, the railroad yard, supply dumps, workshops, the power station, and the naval seaplane base.

[A Cairo communique said that American Liberator bombers of the 9th air force in the middle east also attacked Messina in daylight on Tuesday, dropping 175 tons of incendiary and high explosive bombs which hit the naval oil depot and railways. R. A. F. fighters from the middle east swept across the Mediterranean to attack a seaplane base at Preveza on the west coast of Greece.]

The Flying Forts encountered heavy anti-aircraft fire near Trapani, on the way to Messina, and 40 Messerschmitt 109s dove on the 10 Fortresses. Twelve of the Messerschmitts were destroyed, but every Fortress came away safely.

Chicagoans Gain Victories.

Fortress gunners gaining victories included Tech. Sergt. Carl E. Olsen of 9047 Escanaba avenue, Chicago, and Staff Sergt. Fred E. Bowker of 514 South Highland avenue, Oak Park. Also among the "Fort" crews was Tech. Sergt. Ermando P. Roviajo of 242 West 109th street, Chicago.

"They gave me the roughest show of my 50 missions," Roviajo said.

2d Lt. J. M. Lord of Hinsdale, Ill., said, "If they had a thousand fighters we would still have got thru."

One of the Lightnings' biggest assignments of the day was the Bocca di Falco airdrome in northern Sicily.

Other Sicilian objectives were Porto Empedocle, on the south shore; Licata, also on the southern coast, and a railway tunnel near Cape di Gallo, seven miles west of Palermo on the north coast.

In Sardinia, Portoscuso, Carloforte, Terranova, and Porto Aranci were hit. Lightnings carried out these assignments.

Warhawks carrying bombs went over Pantelleria, smashing small boats in the harbor and starting fires on the dock, airfield, and barracks.

CLAIM "FORTS" SHOT DOWN.

The Italian high command communique broadcast from Rome claimed that 44 allied planes were shot down on Tuesday, eight of them "of the Flying Fortress type." The communique acknowledged that Messina "was attacked repeatedly and important damage was caused."

Rome also claimed that Italian torpedo carrying planes sank two medium size steamers and damaged a third along the African coast.

ALLIED ARMIES IN AFRICA RANK AS HEALTHIEST

British Medical Chief Tells of Care.

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, May 25 [Delayed]—(AP).—The American and British armies in North Africa probably are the healthiest expeditionary forces in the world, but with the dysentery and malaria season now entering into full virulence the strictest measures will continue, Maj. Gen. Ernest Cowell, British director of the allied medical services, said today.

"No expeditionary force in history has been better provided for medically," Cowell said. "Washington D. C., and London have not spared personnel, equipment, or supplies to provide hospitalization and skilled professional treatment. Nearly 50,000 beds are available."

Three factors—adequate stocks for blood transfusions, quick use of sulfa drugs, and rapid evacuation to rear hospitals—have contributed to "the remarkable low mortality" among the allied wounded, Cowell said.

Deaths from Wounds Reduced.

"We don't have complete statistics yet, but deaths from wounds in this campaign were only a fraction—perhaps one-fifth or less—of the rate established in the first World war."

American ambulance planes handled more than 15,000 cases, with the average flight covering 300 to 400 miles from the front.

"Once a badly wounded man reaches the first medical installation he has more than a fair chance of recovery and this chance increases at each stage farther back. At one general hospital only 5 deaths in 1,500 severely wounded cases were reported," Cowell said.

Because of the universal use of vaccines and toxoids, no epidemics have struck the allied forces. Field medical units not only safeguard the troops against typhus, but they have also cleaned up pest holes in the native villages.

Battle Against Diseases.

By mosquito control and the universal administration of atabrine or mepacrine it is hoped to minimize malaria, but results must be awaited, Cowell declared.

Cowell described the venereal disease situation as "not too bad, but it could be better. Organized recreation, education, athletics, discipline, and propaganda are helpful. We can use all the athletic gear that the people of the United States and Britain can send us."

Of the heroism of the medical officers, nurses, stretcher bearers, ambulance drivers, and other personnel—American, British, French—Cowell had an inexhaustible supply of stories.

One of the most exciting medical chapters, he said, was the replacement of a bombed American hospital unit by another unit which was flown to the spot within a few hours, complete with all equipment.

One rehabilitation camp for convalescent soldiers almost ready to return to service accommodates 5,000 men at a picturesque Mediterranean sea shore resort.

43 AMERICAN FLYERS TRANSFER TO ARMY FROM ALLIED FORCES

LONDON, May 26 (AP).—Forty three American flyers who have served with the Canadian air force and the Polish air force were transferred to the United States army air force in ceremonies today.

Among pilot officers transferred was Maximillian J. Ginter, Friendship, Wis., while flying officers transferred included George G. Grimes, Albia, Ia., and Russell C. Neumann, Lansing, Mich. Sergt. Paul R. Hagan, Owosso, Mich., was also transferred.

Among the R. A. F. transfers was Sergt. Beno Byers, Mark, Ill. Sergeant pilots transferred from the Polish air force included Stanley A. Jursj, Chicago.

DU PONT
self-cleaning
HOUSE PAINT

1 Guards the surface
These days when conservation means so much, it's all the more important to use the best house paint you can buy—all the more reason for using Du Pont House Paint. For Du Pont House Paint gives more than lasting, good appearance—it gives long-lasting protection.

2 Keeps white houses white. Du Pont House Paint is probably whiter than any paint you've ever seen. It's made with titanium dioxide, the pigment that's actually whiter than snow! Furthermore, this whiteness lasts, because—

3 It's self-cleaning
All paints collect dirt on exposure. But, with Du Pont House Paint, "self-cleaning" starts after a few months, under normal weather conditions. A fine white powder forms on the surface. Heavy rains wash this away, carrying the dirt with it—leaving the newly exposed surface clean and white again! (Unusual climatic or dirt-collecting conditions in extremely sooty industrial communities may, of course, delay this process.) Because this "self-cleaning" is gradual, the wearing qualities of the paint film are not abnormally affected.

▶ Despite this remarkable quality of Du Pont House Paint, it costs no more than other good paints. Call in a reliable painter for your painting job, and specify Du Pont House Paint. It's available in white, and in durable tints.

There's a Du Pont Paint dealer near you. For his name see your Classified Telephone Directory or call Du Pont Co., Brunswick 6900.

Guadalcanal Air Circus Has Last Show.

[This is the 12th and final instalment of the personal story of Capt. Joseph J. Foss, the great marine ace who blasted 26 Japanese planes out of the Guadalcanal skies. Yesterday he told of returning to the island after a long illness with malaria.]

BY CAPT. JOSEPH J. FOSS.
As told to Walter Simmons.
[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

On the afternoon of Jan. 15 my outfit escorted dive bombers which had been assigned to attack an enemy transport and destroyer up the line a ways. Before we reached the target Capt. Gregory Loesch, Montrose, Colo., was forced to return to Henderson field because of engine trouble, leaving seven planes in my flight. We were accompanied, however, by several army P-39s.

As we neared the ships we were attacked by Zeros. Three of my boys, led by Lt. William Marontate, Seattle, Wash., went down to accept the challenge. I remained at altitude because several Zeros were circling there also.

In short order there were several Jap chutes in the air. I saw one Grumman Wildcat, too, with its left wing missing, spinning toward the water at about a 45 degree angle. This was apparently Lt. Marontate. He had a head-on crash after shooting down an enemy plane.

Zero Gets Careless.

The fight moved upward. I fired one short burst at a Zero, but didn't get a hit. He dove and I let him go. Then I noticed a Grumman, piloted by Lt. Oscar Bate, Essex Falls, N. J., coming my way, surrounded by Zeros that seemed to be sparring for a favorable position. I turned and started in his direction.

As I turned, a Zero dove directly in front of me at close range, apparently not seeing me. I gave a short burst that must have been just right, for he exploded at once.

Before I could blink a Grumman dove in front of me with a Zero some distance behind, trying to get a shot. I fired, but was so close I couldn't observe the effect. As he passed I looked around and saw him burst into flames and spin down. He didn't blow up.

An approaching Grumman was off to my right with a Zero about 100 yards behind, pulling into a good position to shoot. When the Zero was about 500 feet below and shooting at the Wildcat, I fired on him. As I did so he pulled up and came at me, shooting.

Both Fire Point Blank.

By this time we were both firing, but neither of us registered. My bullets were going over his hood. If they had been a few inches lower they would have brained him. His shots at me went the same way. I could see the pilot and the green strip in front of the windshield to keep glare out of his eyes. The cowling was bright red.

He climbed, made a turn around, and we came back at each other. He was above, coming down, and I was going up. Shooting headon, he made a right turn, giving me a chance to get on the inside. As I fired it looked as if my bullets were going into the side of his cockpit. I was off at a little angle.

He dove 2,000 to 4,000 feet below me, made a big circle to the right, and came back in my direction. I intended to take another shot at him but approaching Zeros changed my mind. Just as he passed me at about 100 yards smoke started pouring out. I kept watching, hoping fire would break out. When he was a half mile away, he burst into flames and started on down.

Last of the 26.

I flew home with Lt. Bate. We landed in rain and darkness. Those three Zeros brought my score for the Guadalcanal campaign to 26. I never got any more.

Every one returned with the exception of Lt. Marontate. A gunner in a dive bomber saw him bail out and said he got out all right. There were six other chutes in the vicinity, over a Jap destroyer. Our only hope is that Bill Marontate is a prisoner. His score was 13 planes.

When Jan. 25 arrived I knew it would be my last day at Guadalcanal and my last day of flying for a while. I also had a hunch there would be some excitement.

Last "Show of Shows."

As we went on scramble standby at noon I said to the boys: "We haven't left here yet, and we particularly want to be on the lookout today."

When they scrambled us we shot off, cut short, and at 180 degrees from the field every one was joined up tight. It was the best joinup I've ever seen or been in.

We climbed to the ceiling of 18,000 feet, circled, and were joined by four P-38s. As we moved out toward Savo Island we noticed 12 Zeros playing around.

"Okay, gang," I said, "let's go and get the so and sos." When we were within a mile of them I noticed a hole in the overcast. Thinking it was funny for the Zeros to be playing around, I climbed to see what was above. There were about 20 Zeros. Farther off were about 24 dive bombers, and behind them were more planes.

Stay in Tight Formation.

I went back down and said, "We aren't going out there. They want us to attack those Zeros so the gang above can send its dive bombers right to the field. Let's stay in tight formation and circle."

Two P-38s got on one side of the big circle and two on the other. We just moved around. Then the Japs sent over six Zeros which circled temptingly below.

"Just keep rolling and keep your eyes on them," I radioed the boys.

Finally the Japs below tired of circling. Four of them went back to join the formation. One climbed in front of me. I could have shot him, but we just waited.

In the meantime a lot of our fighters were coming up. I had radioed the field long before—in short words, too.

Last Flight of Circus.

One of the Zeros, failing to see the P-38s, pulled in front of them so close the first two passed him. The third riddled him at such close range it must have put powder burns on the back of the Jap's neck. He didn't explode, but burst into flames and went into a long dive into the sea near Savo.

The other Zero made a dive on the P-38, but our man just shoved down his throttle and gunned around. The nearest P-38 got on the Jap's tail, followed him into a cloud, and pretty soon sent him bouncing out, smoking like hell. Back went the P-38 into formation.

By that time the air was full of our fighters and the enemy was running short of gasoline. The dogs turned and fled for home. Later I was told their force included 18 high level bombers, too.

One of our flights below that day ran into 20 Zeros, got four, popped into the clouds, popped out and got four more.

We didn't get a shot that day. But we were satisfied—we had outwitted them and turned aside their Sunday punch. That was the last flight of the "Flying Circus."

Names in Gold

The metropolitan office of civilian defense will honor each Chicagoan who has died in any of the branches of the armed services during this war with a memorial plaque. Names in gold letters are being embossed on the more than 300 plaques, which will be placed on frames in the blocks in which each lived. Dedication ceremonies will be held when all the plaques have been placed.

JAP SUBS SEEK INFORMATION ON NIGHT ATTACKS

Jap submarines, apparently seeking information on allied defenses along the United States to Australia sea and air routes, shell southwest Pacific islands indiscriminately in the middle of the night, Lt. Harry J. Taylor Jr., 26 years old, 7817 South Shore drive, a coast artillery officer, said yesterday upon his return home from the islands.

"The subs invite fire from our shore batteries," Lt. Taylor said. "But they never get any.

High flying planes also attempt to scout out American positions and drop occasional bombs. In the only air attack Lt. Taylor has undergone in 18 months of building bases on the islands, three planes loosed their bombs without hitting a single objective or even coming close, he said.

BRITISH DECIDE TO WATCH RULE BY REGULATIONS

Business Harassed to Death, Is Charge.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 26.—British business men are being harassed to death by the multiplicity of government orders which is threatening not only the people's rights but those of parliament, the house of commons was told today. Thereupon the house approved without a vote a resolution urging that parliament "vigilantly maintain its ancient right and duty of examining legislation whether delegated or otherwise."

Simultaneously the house of lords stressed in debate the effects of government control of private enterprise after the war. In neither house did government spokesmen indicate any prospect of relief from the system of legislation by emergency regulation.

H. Holdsworth, a Liberal, in the house of commons debate voiced suspicion that many orders were issued solely to "satisfy the idiosyncrasies of ministers and advisers." British business men, he said, are "harassed to death by the multiplicity of orders and constant amendments."

Sell Tomatoes by Regulation.

Harold Webbe, a Conservative, said it was too much to expect a greengrocer to understand an order relating to the sale of tomatoes which consisted of nine pages of regulations and eight pages of schedules.

Maj. M. Petherick said he did not believe parliament was alive to the immense growth of delegated legislation. In 1931, he said, there were 800 statutory rules and orders and by "1938 the number had been doubled." The number had increased to 1,697 in 1942, Petherick continued, and this year 700 more had been added. The possibilities of unknowingly breaking the law under the huge number of regulations he described as "alarming."

Blames Commons' Inaction.

He said it was unfair to describe the civil service as "an evergrowing octopus seeking to grasp power," adding that the fault lay with the house of commons, which is not always sufficiently alive to its responsibilities. He advocated the appointment of a standing committee to keep the house informed.

Ralph Etherton described emergency legislation as "ivy gradually tightening its grip on the tree, which if uncontroled gradually strangles and kills the tree." He protested against orders which he said were frequently made and in operation a considerable time before the house knew of them.

Defends Regulations.

Ellis Smith, Labor party spokesman, supported the government, urging that ministers should have used emergency powers even more freely to speed up output. Smith suggested, however, that regulations be issued in simpler language.

In reply, Minister of Home Security Morrison said the regulations were essential for the successful prosecution of the war. Parliament could "annul what it has done if both houses wished to do so," he said.

In the upper chamber, Godfrey Elton called attention to "the danger that we may purchase security at the price of liberty after the war" and warned that already "silent compulsion is being extended far beyond the control and ken of parliament."

Newspapers Aroused.

Henry Snell, in reply, said the government deprecated too rigid planning and wouldn't take decisions on any post-war question until all the facts were known. The first essential, however, he reiterated, was victory and the emergence of Britain from the war as "a sovereign nation."

Editorials in Thursday morning papers published tonight warned against the possibility of Britain lapsing into a "servile" state. "It is a sober uncovering of perils that beset us, a free men in a free country," the Daily Sketch says.

NAZIS SHOOT 372 SERBS BUT CAN'T QUELL PATRIOTS

Guerrilla Bands Renew Attacks on Foe.

14 Die in Blast

ANKARA, Turkey, May 26 (AP).—Fourteen persons were killed and 24 injured in a mine explosion at Petrilla, Rumania, a telegraphic report from Rumania said today.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ISTANBUL, Turkey, May 25 [Delayed].—Jugo-Slav guerrillas have renewed their activity most effectively, altho the Germans, who were unable to capture the fighting patriots, shot 372 sympathizers and hostages in Belgrade early in April, according to a detailed report brought here today.

Since spring has opened Balkan roads and generally made life easier for the guerrillas, they have wrecked a number of trains, smashed a strategic bridge, sank oil barges, drove German garrisons from at least three villages, wrecked a German armored train, and fought a pitched battle after capturing four guns and many prisoners.

Attack Along Danube.

Gen. Draja Mihailovitch's band of Chetniks drove German garrisons totaling one division from villages near Homolje in the Danube river region.

On May 2 they took advantage of this action to raid the region guarded by Germans and to sink two tugs and six oil barges in the Danube. The Germans then were reported to have declared the banks of the river prohibited zones. Guards on vessels were ordered to fire on all persons seen along the shore.

In Bosnia the guerrillas attacked and wrecked a German armored train. The Germans then sent one Croat division and a German division, which called itself the "Devil's" division, into the region to clean out the guerrillas.

Mihailovitch, who had mustered all available forces in the nearby Ozrem mountain region, moved out to meet the German-Croat forces. Despite the superiority of the enemy forces, the guerrillas were reported to have killed many Germans and Croats and to have surrounded and captured six companies of Germans and four field guns before retiring.

A head-on collision of two German military trains at the Stevanac railroad station was caused by the patriots in April. The trains were switched onto the same track, smashing two locomotives and six passenger cars, injuring a large number of the German military, and tieing up the line until the wreck was cleared.

NAMES OF 332 MORE MISSING YANKS LISTED

Reports Are from Action in Four Areas.

Washington, D. C., May 26 [Special].—The war department made public today the names of 332 United States soldiers who are missing in action. The announcement includes casualties in the Asiatic, European, middle eastern, and North African areas.

Names of men whose homes are in the Chicagoland area, with their nearest of kin, follow. Area of action from which the report is made is indicated in brackets.

NAZIS REPORT ALLIED CONVOY AT GIBRALTAR

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Transocean, German propaganda agency, yesterday said in a dispatch date lined Algeciras, Spain, and broadcast by Berlin, that a large allied convoy was seen on Tuesday morning passing thru the strait of Gibraltar in the direction of the Mediterranean.

There was no confirmation of this report from allied or neutral sources. The broadcast was recorded by the Associated Press.

Transocean, which has issued similar reports in the past, in an apparent attempt to gain information, added:

"Among the ships laden with troops or war equipment was a 50,000 ton Cunard liner. Anchored at present at Gibraltar are 3 British aircraft carriers, 3 battleships, 12 destroyers and 8 corvettes as well as 2 United States gunboats, and 2 British submarines. One French, 1 United States, and 3 British transports are lying on the Gibraltar roadsteads."

24 HR. FLIGHT BY ITALIANS CALLED THREAT TO U. S.

BERNE, Switzerland, May 26 (AP).—The Gazette de Lausanne suggested today that the Italian claim of having bombed the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan and Eritrea had brought within the realm of possibilities "a spectacular operation against New York," but concluded that "the game wouldn't be worth the candle." The Italian operation was reported to have entailed a flight of 24 hours and it was pointed out that Italian bombers leaving the French Atlantic coast could reach New York and return within that time.

General in German Air Force Killed in Action

LONDON, May 26 (AP).—Gen. Hoffmann von Waldau, a member of "the supreme staff of the German Luftwaffe," has been killed in action "over his sector front," a German radio broadcast said tonight. A German news agency radio dispatch from Budapest said three Rumanian divisional generals and 22 brigade generals have been killed since the start of the Russian war.

ORDER QUANTITY PRODUCTION OF TINY WARSHIPS

Washington, D. C., May 26 (AP).—The navy announced today it is ordering quantity production of two new types of small warships expected to contribute greatly to the fight against enemy submarines.

One is a 180 foot steel patrol craft designed for convoy duty in rough northern waters. Several of this type already have been launched and contracts for building nearly 100 of them have been awarded to three private shipbuilders—the Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing company, Chicago; the Willamette Iron and Steel corporation, Portland, Ore., and the Albina Engine and Machine Works, Portland, Ore.

The other, designated the PCS, is an adaptation of the familiar 136 foot wooden mine sweeper. Of the same size a sthe mine sweeper, it will carry depth charges and similar anti-submarine armament instead of the sweeping gear of the anti-mine vessel. Other recent additions are the destroyer escort, a modification of the regular destroyer, and the frigate, a development resulting from the British corvette.

FURS STOLEN FROM CAR.

Three fur coats valued at $625 were stolen from her automobile parked at 4740 South Michigan avenue, Mrs. Alice Matthews of 192 North Clark street reported to police yesterday.

REDS HALT DRIVE BY 1,600 GERMANS ON KUBAN FRONT

LONDON, May 27 [Thursday] (AP).—Fighting was renewed Wednesday in the Caucasus, where a force of 1,600 Germans was thrown back with heavy losses in an attack in the lower Kuban river, Russia reported early today.

In addition to the resumption of land fighting, Moscow said 67 German planes were destroyed on this front as the Nazis attempted mass raids on soviet positions. Twenty Russian planes were lost.

Two other German thrusts in the Rostov and Donetz sectors also were shattered and 200 Germans were killed on the western [Smolensk] front.

[A German Transocean broadcast yesterday said the Germans had improved their positions in the lower Kuban district near Temryuk, capturing 600 Russians and killing 400. The British Broadcasting corporation last night reported the German radio had announced a "temporary withdrawal" of German troops on the main defense line southwest of Veliki Luki, an area in which the Russians have not mentioned fighting recently.]

QUEEN OF DUTCH IN CANADA; FLIES OCEAN 3D TIME

OTTAWA, Ont., May 26 (AP).—Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, 62 years old, arrived here today by air from England for a brief visit with Crown Princess Juliana and her three princesses, the youngest of whom, Margriet Francesca, she has never seen.

It was the queen's third trans-Atlantic flight and it was believed that she would remain here until after the christening of the princess at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church in Ottawa June 29. The queen flew here last June, returning in August.

The queen was accompanied by the Netherlands foreign minister, E. N. Van Kleffens, who is expected to visit Washington, D. C.; her secretary, George Van Goudriaan Van Tets, and two members of her personal staff.

BATTLE RISING FLOOD WATERS AT BEARDSTOWN

Soldiers and Residents Man Seeping Levee.

Beleaguered Beardstown, the Illinois river city evacuated by its citizens and defended by nearly 1,000 army troops, civilian rescue workers, and only the male residents against the worst flood in its history, stood in grave danger again last night.

The Illinois laps at the planking and sandbags atop the 27 foot concrete seawall there, its level reading 29.75 feet on the river gauge. This may be the crest of the rain swollen stream. Again, the crest of 30 feet even, predicted by some observers, may arrive today.

Seepages Occurring.

There is already some seepage, for the water is two to three feet above the concrete, stopped only by the emergency super-structure. If the levee breaks, eight to 15 feet of flood water will cover the entire town.

But the weary, determined troops and citizens are laying bets that it won't and backing them with every ounce of their energy in sleepless work and vigil.

Among the most honored group of men in Beardstown's grim battle against the flood are the 560 Negro troops of a military police battalion out of Joliet.

Battle Waters Night and Day.

They have battled night and day to keep back the silent, menacing waters, and city officials and townspeople alike agree that if the town is saved a large share of the glory will be theirs.

The men fought the river, and they fought despondency as well. When skies were darkest and spirits lowest, their commander, Lt. Col. Amory Miller, called out the band. Their music sounded thru downtown streets and people looked for the sun to shine again and felt sure the levee would hold.

Some 5,500 of Beardstown's 6,500 residents have been evacuated and are in refuge centers in surrounding Illinois towns.

Lucas Asks 55 Million Aid.

In Washington Sen. Scott Lucas [D., Ill.], whose home is in nearby Havana, announced last night that he is seeking legislative and administrative relief totaling at least 55 million dollars for the midwest flood areas. He said the Illinois flood was the worst since 1884.

Sen. Lucas said he will introduce legislation today to permit the war department to spend up to 30 million dollars in unobligated funds for rescue work and repair of flood control works destroyed by the high water. He said he also will ask another 25 million dollars for rehabilitation of ruined or damaged municipal facilities.

One large industrial plant in southern Illinois southeast of St. Louis, Mo., was closed yesterday by flood waters of the Mississippi river, and another big plant, as well as several small communities in that area, were menaced, but high water conditions on the great river and its Illinois tributaries were reported to be improving.

Powder Plant Flooded.

The Atlas Powder company plant at Wolf Lake, Ill., about 100 miles from St. Louis, was forced to suspend operations, and the Central Illinois Public Service generating plant at Grand Tower, Ill., 25 miles north of Wolf Lake, was menaced.

The Atlas plant covers about 2,000 acres of low land and is three miles from the Mississippi under normal conditions.

The generating plant is a $9,000,000 project supplying power for Illinois south of Tuscola, including many coal mines. It is ringed with sandbags. The plant's intake for the generator cooling system is located on the normal banks of the Mississippi.

The 6th service command announced yesterday that 8,100 army troops are now on duty in the flood areas of Illinois alone in flood control work.

Radio Sender Dropped by Plane Saves 19 at Sea

LONDON, May 26 (AP).—A portable radio transmitter dropped from a British plane to 19 survivors of a ship torpedoed in the North Atlantic provided the means whereby a destroyer was directed to their rescue, the air ministry news service reported today. It was the first time that the apparatus, described as foolproof and about the size of a home coffee grinder, had been used for this purpose. The equipment automatically sends out S O S signals when a crank is turned.

ASK POST-WAR REGULATION FOR SEAFOOD TRADE

Whalemeat Gets Plug at Conference.

Hot Springs, Va., May 26 (AP).—There was talk of whale steak and corned whale at the food conference today as the Norwegian and Icelandic delegations stressed lakes, streams and oceans as sources of nourishment for the post-war world.

Both delegations pointed out that their respective countries normally have great surpluses of marine food and fish products and therefore are vitally interested in any expansion of world trade.

Chairman Anders Fjelstad of the Norwegian delegation expressed the hope that whatever regulations might eventually result from the work of the conference—such as international measures to stabilize prices and supplies—would be applied to fish as well as the products of agriculture.

Says Whale Like Beef.

Surgeon General Karl Evang of the Norwegian public health service described at a press conference the advantages of whale meat as human nourishment. He observed that the whale is a mammal, not a fish, and from the viewpoint of those who like red meat might be considered a seagoing Texas steer.

"You Americans already have been eating lots of it," he said. "It's just like beef."

A reporter wanted to know if corned whale could pinch hit for corned beef and Evang without hesitation replied:

"Of course. It is also delicious when dried, in the form of pemmican."

Russians Back United States.

Russia's delegation put itself on record today as supporting in principle the United States proposal for creation of an interim commission to plan a permanent international agency dealing with food problems.

Georgi F. Saksin, of the soviet delegation, informed the committee considering recommendations for carrying forward the work of the conference that the soviet group thinks it is possible to accept the proposal as a basis for joint discussion.

The Brazilian delegation today put itself on record as advocating "measures destined to reduce to a minimum present economic inequalities . . . between different economic regions of the world."

Urges Technical Aid.

It recommended in particular:

"That every opportunity be taken at the earliest possible moment by every highly industrialized nation to coöperate to the utmost in supplying to the less industrialized nations all needed equipment and machinery as well as providing them with direct technical aid."

The Brazilians proposed this should be done because: Most surpluses of several commodities are due to a low level of consumption rather than to an excess of production; and because the most rapid and permanent way of raising low standards of living prevalent in underprivileged areas is to increase the productivity of activities in those areas.

CHIEF OF NEGRO REPUBLIC GUEST AT WHITE HOUSE

Barclay Arrives for Overnight Stay.

Washington, D. C., May 26 (AP).—Edwin Barclay, president of the West African Negro republic of Liberia, was received today at the White House with the full honors accorded all visiting foreign dignitaries.

He became the first member of his race to spend the night as a guest in the executive mansion.

Hold Dinner for Him.

Barclay was repaying President Roosevelt's visit to him after the Casablanca conference last January. A stag state dinner was held for him tonight at the White House, with high officials present.

Barclay arrived late in the day, escorted by Secretary of State Cordell Hull and accompanied by W. V. S. Tubman, president-elect of Liberia.

Rayburn Invited to Dine.

Barclay and his party will move tomorrow to Blair house where the government quarters visiting foreign officials.

Among the guests invited to tonight's dinner were Wallace, House Speaker Sam Rayburn, Hull, Justice Felix Frankfurter of the Supreme court, Biddle, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, Wickard, and Welles.

FIRESTONE APPEALS FOR RUBBER SAVING THRU RIDE SHARING

Harvey Firestone Jr.

Harvey S. Firestone Jr., president of the Firestone Tire and Rubber company, cautioned the nation's 27 million motorists yesterday that the United States' rubber stock pile will approach the danger point this year before synthetic production and imports from Africa and South America can help to supplant natural rubber sources lost to the Japanese.

Addressing more than 900 industrialists and war plant transportation officials at a midwest conference on rubber conservation thru car sharing, Firestone said the rubber balance sheet will show 142,000 tons of rubber at the end of the year, only 22,000 tons more than the point classed as dangerous by the Baruch rubber investigation committee.

The meeting, in the Morrison hotel, was conducted by the office of defense transportation with the coöperation of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, National Association of Manufacturers, and the National Conservation bureau.

F. J. Walters, employé transportation director of the General Motors corporation's Oldsmobile division, said 80 per cent of war worker transportation depends on private automobile, and warned that 125,000 cars are wearing out each month.

SENATE GROUP FROWNS UPON FOOD SUBSIDIES

Washington, D. C., May 26 (AP).—Sen. Harlan J. Bushfield [R., S. D.] said today after a closed session of a senate agriculture subcommittee that its members are solidly in favor of outlawing food price subsidies such as are planned by price control officials.

If their view prevails, committee members said, the effect would be virtually to nullify operations of an office of price administration order which would subsidize processors in compensation for a 10 per cent roll back in retail prices of butter, meat and coffee beginning June 1.

The subcommittee, seeking to perceive effects of the lower price directive, earlier heard Ernest C. Strobeck of Macedon, N. Y., secretary of the Dairymen's League Coöperative Association, Inc., declare that "instead of rolling back prices the government should establish adequate guaranteed prices for milk for all producers."

A HARMONY OF GREAT AMERICAN WHISKIES HAS MADE IT
America's Luxury Whiskey
PARK & TILFORD Private Stock
WHEREVER FINE WHISKIES ARE SOLD

JUST as a symphony is a masterful blend of musical notes to produce an agreeable harmony of sound . . . so Park & Tilford Private Stock is a skilful blend of fine American whiskies to create an harmonious luxury of flavor. In Park & Tilford Private Stock, the ancient and difficult art of whiskey blending reaches a new peak of perfection—superbly rich, exceptionally agreeable in taste! The additional cost to you is trifling—the additional enjoyment is surprising.

WAR-TIME NOTE!—All five Park & Tilford distilleries are no longer distilling whiskey but are converted to the exclusive production of war-alcohol. This is why you may occasionally experience difficulty in obtaining this brand. It won't happen often because we are drawing upon our vast reserves, distilled in peacetime, to satisfy your requirements.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM

The FARM by Gail Compton

LIKE all good boarding house keepers, the farm manager has his eye out for any one not paying the rent. Working on the "no tickee, no washee" basis, any animal that doesn't give good returns for the feed and care lavished on it is doomed to be asked to pack up and leave.

Right now the manager has his eye fixed on a certain yellowish looking Hereford roaming the feedlot. This steer showed indications last summer of not being worth its weight in silage. On grass it gained very little compared to the rest of the steers.

In the feedlot this winter it turned out even worse. While it ate heartily it was slow in putting on weight, and could not keep up with its companions. The animal is what cattlemen term a "boarder." It loafs around the barn, eats all the food, and promises little in return payment.

Each Cow Must Produce.

The same situation may be found in many dairy barns thruout the nation. If a farmer does not keep a careful check on the amount of feed given each animal and the amount of milk returned, he may well be harboring a boarder without knowing it.

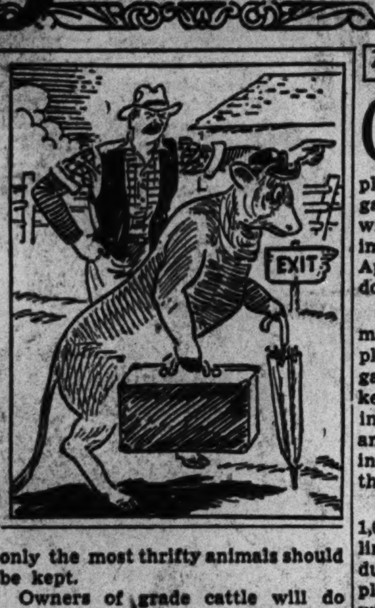
The most economical way of handling these animals is to get rid of them. With shortages of meat and milk plaguing the nation, only the most thrifty animals should be kept.

Owners of grade cattle will do well also to purchase purebred bulls and breed up their stock. There is no excuse for maintaining low class, poor producing cows on the farm when a good bull can establish a line of good producers.

Poor Steer Is Loss.

The farmers of the nation must get the greatest possible amount of meat and milk from the smallest possible amount of feed. A program of this type leaves no room for a boarder. They should be eliminated.

The Hereford steer which is causing so much trouble may not be shipped with the others. The manager may put it back on grass this summer to do the best it can, and then slaughter it for farm consumption. Whatever is done the steer will represent a considerable monetary loss.



The GARDEN by Ben Markland

GARDENERS have been inquiring about the length of time that onion sets and plants can be kept in storage before planting. Hundreds of Chicagoland gardeners bought sets during April with the intention of planting them immediately, then the series of late April and May rains kept them from doing any spading or planting.

Such sets and plants will keep for many weeks if stored in a cool, dry place. The tender of the sample gardens on The Tribune farm has kept onion sets on the work bench in the toolroom since late March and they are undamaged. If stored in a garage, they should be kept off the floor.

The farm gardener planted over 1,000 row feet of onion sets, seedlings and plants in the farm plots during April. It now is too late to plant onion seeds, but the gardener will make an additional planting of Bermuda plants in the next few days. He has more than 1,000 of these plants, which are shipped into the Chicago area from Texas.

FOOD RATIONING, LABOR SHORTAGE HIT BUSY CAFES

A 15 per cent rise in restaurant patronage and declines in workers available and in food supplies are causing Chicago restaurateurs sleepless nights, Marion Isbell, president of the Chicago Restaurant association, said yesterday.

Tho hard hit by curtailment of meat, fat, and canned food supplies in the rationing setup, the restaurant owners feel most the increasing man power shortage, Isbell said. For lack of sufficient help to handle a record business volume, many eating places have shortened their business hours, some as much as one-third, Isbell said. He asked that restaurant patrons bear this in mind when irritated by service that is not up to pre-war standards. Much of the help is new and inexperienced, he said.

Restaurant men in general have suffered more keenly than housewives in the matter of point rationing, he declared. Ration allowances for public eating places are based on last December's business, which was considerably smaller than today's trade. A survey of 275 leading Chicago restaurants made in March showed a 15 per cent business increase in a year, Isbell revealed.

MARMION CADET CORPS TO HOLD REVIEW SUNDAY

The effects of military training and Catholic high school education in preparation for citizenship will be stressed at the eighth youth citizenship day Sunday at Marmion Military academy at Aurora. The program will feature a parade from downtown Aurora to a reviewing stand at the academy campus, where cadets will be addressed by the Rev. Father Norbert, O. S. B., superintendent of the academy, and by two of their classmates, Richard W. Huberty and William G. Mahon.

WOMAN DIES FROM FALL.

Mrs. Josephine Boydston, 84 years old, a widow, died yesterday in Robert Burns hospital of complications arising from a fractured hip suffered May 5 when she fell from a table while cleaning the walls of the kitchen in her home at 642 South Harvey avenue, Oak Park.

CONSTIPATED? TRY THIS GENTLER WAY
Many medicinal purges work on you—by prodding the intestines into action or drawing water into them from other parts of the body.
But KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN—a crisp, delicious breakfast cereal—works mainly on the contents of your colon. If you have normal intestines and your constipation is due to lack of "bulk" in your diet, you'll find ALL-BRAN a much gentler way to treat it.
Eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly and drink plenty of water—and you'll find wonderful relief. For this way, ALL-BRAN gets at the cause of constipation due to lack of "bulk" and corrects it. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek and sold by your grocer. Try it!

HIT BY BURGLAR, WOMAN SUFFERS SKULL FRACTURE

Mrs. Alice McKinney, 40 years old, 1606 Granville avenue, suffered a skull fracture yesterday when she was struck by a boy burglar while she was sleeping with her son, Michael, 3 on a couch in her home. She stood up after she was struck, she said, and the boy fled out the rear door. She said he was between 12 and 15 years old and wore a green sweater and blue denim trousers. Her husband, Edward, a tool designer, last night was seeking to determine what had been stolen. The entire home was ransacked.

CHILDREN WIN PROBATION FOR BURGLAR DAD

Twin sons and a daughter melted the hearts of judge and prosecuting witnesses yesterday, and Joseph Mageria, 29 years old, 13447 South Western avenue, charged with burglary and larceny, was placed on probation for six months by Judge Frank E. Donoghue in Felony court. Four complainants, to whom Mageria had made restitution of clothing and jewelery valued at $195, asked leniency. The judge, who had observed the defendant's children, said they were "three of the sweetest children this court has ever seen," and advised Mageria to go home to the family and go straight.

HEAD OF SCHOOL THRICE INDICTED ON SEX CHARGES

Lake county sheriff's deputies last night were seeking Robert Edward Stewart Lee, one of the operators of Starrett school, near Libertyville, on charges of crimes against children contained in three true bills returned by the grand jury to Judge Ralph J. Dady in Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan. Arraignment was set for tomorrow by Judge Day and, at the request of State's Atty. Harry A. Hall, bond was set at $15,000 on each of the three charges. Lee and his sister, Mrs. Frances Duket, have operated the Starrett Co-educational school, two miles east of Libertyville on St. Mary's road, since June, 1942.

MRS. DEMPSEY'S BOUDOIR FIGURES IN DIVORCE SUIT

Witness Says He Saw Man Asleep in Bedroom.

White Plains, N. Y., May 26 (AP).—An indisposition kept Hannah Williams Dempsey from the Supreme court room today where a witness testified in the former heavyweight boxing champion's divorce suit that he saw the one-time musical comedy star and Benny Woodall asleep in her bedroom.

"I walked thru the bedroom and saw Woodall asleep with his trousers on and shoes off," testified Harry Goldman of the Bronx before Official Referee J. Addison Young.

"What did you see about Mrs. Dempsey's dress?" inquired Arthur F. Driscoll, attorney for Dempsey, now a lieutenant-commander in the coast guard.

She Was Covered Up.

"She was covered up," Goldman replied. "She was in bed. She had blankets on."

Dempsey has charged his wife with intimacies with former lightweight boxing champion Lew Jenkins and Woodall, who was Jenkins' former trainer. He seeks custody of the couple's two children, Joan, 8 years old, and Barbara, 6, as does Mrs. Dempsey, who has filed a countersuit for divorce. Her allegations have not been made public.

Mrs. Dempsey's illness caused adjournment of the afternoon session, until next Tuesday, but before the proceedings ended Goldman testified about gifts Mrs. Dempsey gave to Woodall and parties at the apartment of Madeline Webb, who now is serving a life term for murder after conviction resulting from the slaying of a woman in an attempted jewel robbery.

Admits Considerable Drinking.

Goldman, who testified that he attended many parties in Mrs. Dempsey's Manhattan apartment, drank quite a bit and sometimes could not recall what had happened, clung to his story under cross-examination by Gerald Donovan, Mrs. Dempsey's attorney.

Under Driscoll's questioning, Goldman, a photographer friend of Woodall who was in court, told of going to Miss Webb's apartment on New Year's eve, 1940, with the trainer and meeting Mrs. Dempsey there.

From there, he said, the three went to Scranton, Pa., where Mrs. Dempsey visited her sister and the men stayed at a hotel. Then they returned to Miss Webb's apartment, woke her up, and spent the night there.

Ran for Back Door.

"I slept on the couch with Benny," he explained. "I don't know where Hannah slept."

Goldman said that on other occasions Mrs. Dempsey and Woodall "were kissing one another in the car and in restaurants" and that she gave Woodall a camel's hair coat, shirts, and a "self-timing wristwatch" for Christmas presents.

"Did you ever see any one run out the back door when Mr. Dempsey came in the front door?" Driscoll asked.

"No," Goldman replied. "Occasionally they would run for the back door when they heard a bell ring."

2 EX-OFFICIALS OF CLERKS' UNION SEEK DAMAGES

Suit to collect $100,000 damages for false arrest was filed in Circuit court yesterday by Sam Krause and Louis Rubinstein, former officials of the Retail Clerks' International Protective association, against the union and its present officers.

The suit, filed by Atty. David A. Riskind, stated that Krause and Rubinstein were arrested on charges of embezzling $140 from the union, on a warrant obtained from Municipal Judge Frank Donoghue.

The action added that the two men were exonerated when the embezzlement charges were brought to trial before Judge Donoghue Tuesday. Krause and Rubinstein now are officials in the Store Employés union, an affiliate of the Building Service Employés International union.

RULES TO KEEP FLYER'S PROXY BRIDE IN BRITAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 26.—The government has decided against any legislation permitting proxy marriages and today Herbert Morrison, minister of home security, told parliament of obstacles that made recognition inadvisable.

The question was raised by the proxy marriage of Joan Churchman to George Kalins, Chicagoan now at officers' training camp in Miami, Fla. The American embassy takes the view that the marriage is legal because the state of Florida recognizes proxy marriages, but Miss Churchman still is a British subject. To travel to the United States she would need a British passport and exit visa before the American government could do anything about the matter. The British passport bureau has said it will not issue a passport or an exit visa.

Miss Churchman called at the passpost bureau, the American embassy, visited the foreign and home offices and interviewed Capt. Leonard Gammans, member of parliament, at the house of commons today in an unsuccessful attempt to join Kalins in the United States.

She said she had not yet replied to a cable announcing the proxy marriage because she did not want to worry her husband, who was under the impression she was arranging transportation.

DAUGHTER TELLS OF HER FATHER'S TANGLED LOVES

Two romances in the life of Rufus Riddlesbarger, president of Lanteen Medical Laboratories, Inc., were described yesterday by his daughter, Mrs. Jeoffrey S. Gough, 21 years old, in the Circuit court of Judge Walter J. La Buy where Mrs. Fay Riddlesbarger, 46, is seeking to have a 1931 Aurora divorce set aside.

Feminine leads in the two romances, the daughter said, were Verma Hansen, whom she said Riddlesbarger married, and Roberta Eames. Attorneys said both would be called as witnesses.

Mrs. Gough said her father provided luxurious surroundings for the women—swank Chicago apartments, a large house in Denver, a ranch in Arizona, a New Year's holiday in the south, expensive mountain resort hotel suites, and a $300 chaise lounge.

"Verma Hansen slept in the same bedroom with my father. There was only one bed."

Mrs. Gough said she and her sister went to Colorado Springs, Colo., in 1937 to visit their father who, she said, had a suite in the Broadmoor hotel, sharing it with Miss Eames.

3 TAXI DRIVERS AND 5 TAVERNS LOSE LICENSES

Licenses of five taverns and three taxi drivers were revoked yesterday by Mayor Kelly. Two of the cab drivers, Morris Goldberg, who operated a Yellow cab, and William J. Hall, Checker cab driver, were accused of failing to take passengers to their destinations.

The third driver, Luciaus H. Fox, operator for an independent cab company, had been convicted of speeding and was fined in Traffic court.

Three of the taverns—at 177 West Washington street, 1136 South Wabash avenue, and 4662 North Western avenue—were charged with selling to minors.

Meanwhile Commissioner Allman directed district captains to see that all liquor dealers have their second period liquor licenses by 6 p. m. Saturday.

BOOM NEBRASKA GOVERNOR FOR VICE PRESIDENCY

G. O. P. Backers Hail Record of Griswold.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lincoln, Neb., May 26.—Discussion of Vice Presidential possibilities in 1944 is enlivening the Republican political gossip in Nebraska and in Iowa.

Friends of Gov. Dwight Griswold here are starting to boom him for a place on the national ticket. They speak of his record as governor and his fighting qualities as a campaigner and declare he would add strength to the ticket in the midwest and the west. The governor himself says nothing about this, but in Lincoln, Omaha, and elsewhere in the state there is talk of him as a favorite son.

In Iowa Gov. Bourke B. Hickenlooper likewise is the center of an incipient Vice Presidential boomlet. The Omaha World-Herald recently carried an illustrated article on Hickenlooper as a running mate for the Presidential nominee. It appears not unlikely that by the time the national convention meets next year there may be quite a stable of Vice Presidential possibilities under blankets in the paddock.

One Term Pledge Urged.

Gov. Griswold recently made addresses in New York City and St. Louis, Mo., that have received wide comment. One of his suggestions is that the Republicans should nominate a presidential candidate who is pledged to run for only one term.

"I suggest this," says the governor, "not to stir up fourth term discussion but because I am sincerely of the belief no man becoming President in January, 1945, with the terrific problems which will face him, properly can do that job if he is giving the slightest attention to any desire to remain popular and be reelected.

"The man going into that office should have nothing in mind except to try to save this nation.

Strain on War Feared.

"I hate to think of the effect of a fourth term campaign. It will bring bitterness and hatred even if the effort receives the approval of more than fifty per cent of our people. It is apparent it will receive the bitter disapproval of such a large percentage that the very campaign itself will throw a terrific strain upon our war effort.

"Yet there is nothing any of us can do. The decision to throw the nation into that maelstrom rests in the hands of one man. We can do something concrete, however, to pledge at least one 1944 candidate to only one term, and a man should be nominated who sincerely believes in that policy."

Y. M. C. A. Dedicates Flag Carrying 5,633 Stars

A service flag bearing 5,633 stars, one of which was gold representing 25 men killed in service, was dedicated last night at a victory dinner at the Central Y. M. C. A. at 19 La Salle street. The flag was dedicated by Ensign Joseph A. McDonald, a former physical director at the South Chicago Y. M. C. A. and a survivor of the sunken aircraft carrier Wasp. S. L. Hypes, chairman of the Chicago chapter of the organization's world service, said that more than $38,000 of a $40,000 goal has been raised in Chicago to be used for servicing Y. M. C. A. centers in foreign countries.

'WE DON'T WANT WILLKIE' BLANKS PLACED IN MAILS

McLeansboro, Ill., May 26 [Special].—Printed forms for the organization of "We Don't Want Willkie" clubs thruout the middle west were mailed today from the office of a local weekly newspaper, The March of Progress.

The material consisted of petition sheets to be filled with signatures and sent to the Republican national committee or to The March of Progress. The heading states that the signers urge the nomination of a presidential candidate "who is anti-New Deal and anti-Roosevelt."

"We are opposed to compromise candidates," it reads, "and, while we are not trying to pick the nominee, we don't want Wendell L. Willkie."

On the back is reprinted an editorial from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE entitled "Betrayal, Inc."

WAR MACHINERY TAX RULING MAY BENEFIT COUNTY

Many millions of dollars of taxable property may be put on the rolls of Cook county if a recent decision of the Pennsylvania state Supreme court in regard to war plant machinery is found applicable here, it was disclosed yesterday by John S. Clark, county assessor.

An act of congress made the real estate of the war plants subject to local taxation but specifically exempted the levying of personal property taxes against machinery. The Pennsylvania decision held that the heavy machines in a war plant were in reality a portion of the company's real estate and taxable as such.

"If that holds, the additional property we can assess in Cook county will run into box car figures," Clark asserted.

ADMITS KILLING GIRL; PESTERING CALLED REASON

Ionia, Mich., May 26 [Special].—Donald Temelco, 18 years old, testified today before a jury trying him for first degree murder that he killed Clara B. Johnson, attractive war plant worker, on Feb. 27 while in a rage because she insisted on following him home after they had met at midnight in a restaurant.

"She followed me for four blocks and thru a railroad yard," he said. "I kept telling her to go away but she paid no attention. Finally I walked up an alley and she still followed me. So I knocked her down and then I choked her."

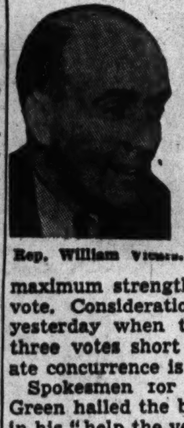
Temelco, a 220 pound high school football player admitted he had bought and consumed a pint of whisky during the evening as well as several drinks of beer and ale. He characterized his condition as "pretty drunk." His attorney indicated they hope to show there was no premeditation in the slaying.

VOTE TO SET UP STATE JOB POOL FOR WAR VETS

House Republicans Pass Bill in Bitter Debate.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Rep. William Vicars.

Springfield, Ill., May 26.—A pool of several thousand state jobs would be available for veterans after the war under a bill passed by the Illinois house today. After July 1 the measure would place hirings of civil service employés on a temporary basis.

Republicans mustered nearly maximum strength on the 80 to 58 vote. Consideration was postponed yesterday when the G. O. P. fell three votes short of passage. Senate concurrence is expected.

Spokesmen ror Gov. Dwight H. Green hailed the bill as a milestone in his "help the vets" program, but Democrats claimed that it betrays the civil service system.

Continues Bitter Debate.

There was no letup in the bitter debate started yesterday.

"Instead of hurting civil service, this will save civil service," said Rep. Alan E. Ashcraft Jr. [R., Evanston], who introduced the bill. "We have got to liberalize civil service to enable it to meet the crisis.

"Civil service rolls are being loaded with second raters and third raters because of the man power shortage."

Rep. William Vicars [D., Pontiac], minority leader, said the Green administration had made the Ashcraft measure a "must," and asked:

"Why not be honest and repeal the civil service act? This bill could be used indefinitely under the vague language as to the emergency."

Seeks Medical Center Shift.

Rep. Reed F. Cutler [R., Lewistown], majority leader, introduced a bill which would shift control of the Chicago medical center commission from the Democrats to the Republicans.

Administration of the Illinois security hospital at Chester, which houses the criminal insane, would be transferred from the department of public safety to the department of public welfare under another bill, Cutler said.

Ashcraft's bill to regulate labor unions suffered virtual death in the house committee on industrial affairs. His offer to amend the bill to eliminate registration of business agents was rejected. Consideration was postponed until June 30—final day of the session.

A Democratic bill to cut the sales tax from 2 cents to 1 cent was condemned by the revenue committee.

Fire Violations Keep Cocktail Lounge Shut

Judge Erwin J. Hasten in License court yesterday ordered that the Drum Cocktail lounge, 114 North Dearborn street, remain closed until all eight violations of the city fire prevention ordinances there are corrected. Fire department reports showed four of the violations still had not been corrected yesterday. Judge Hasten continued the case until June 2. The place was closed last Saturday after investigators discovered the violations.

BILL TO CREATE STATE REVENUE UNIT APPROVED

Benson Rips Motives of Plan's Foes.

BY JOHNSON KANADY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sen. Arnold P. Benson.

Springfield, Ill., May 26.—Democratic opposition to the administration proposal to create a new department of revenue was attributed today by Sen. Arnold P. Benson [R., Batavia], senate majority leader, to fear that the new department would scan the operation of pegged levy governmental units in Chicago. The senate passed the measure to create the new department on a strict party vote of 27 to 16. It now goes to the house.

Benson accused Sen. Richard J. Daley [D., Chicago], minority leader, of opposing the program because of "concern over the possibility that the new department may find out in the operation of your pegged levy system how much money really is needed and how much is used for the Kelly-Nash organization."

Warns of Central Control.

Daley had declared that creation of the department, which is designed to handle the tax collecting and assessing functions of the present department of finance and the Illinois tax commission, would "subtly and cleverly take over the taxing machinery of every local government."

The bill would abolish the tax commission.

Daley also attacked the job reclassification measure, another of Gov. Dwight H. Green's bills which passed today.

The Republicans held together and were joined by Sen. Nicholas L. Hubbard [D., Mount Pulaski] in passing the bill, 29 to 17.

Also passed by the senate was a bill to regulate open cut coal mining and Daley's bill to permit the Chicago city council to purchase or condemn buildings for rehabilitation of substandard neighborhoods.

Favor Conservation Bill.

The senate oil and gas conservation committee reported favorably on a conservation bill which contains a section calling for proration according to market demands.

Green announced late today that an agreement has been reached between the administration and officials of the Illinois Education association calling for an increase in the state distributive school fund. The agreed figure is $35,160,000—$1,730 over the budget figure.

NEW JAP MINISTER WARNS SITUATION IS GROWING MORE GRAVE

New York, May 26 (AP).—The Tokio radio announced today the appointment of Fumio Goto, former home minister, as minister of state without portfolio, and carried a statement by him warning the people that they were "now facing an unprecedentedly grave situation."

"The war situation has further increased its seriousness as you already well know," he said. "We, the people of Japan, are now facing an unprecedentedly grave situation and we must thoroly fulfil our duty to our imperial household by completely manifesting our loyalty and by fully expressing our devotion to the nation as if we were actually fighting on the battlefield.

"The most urgent demand in our nation at present is to consolidate further our total national strength and to strengthen the domestic structure for the decisive battle."

KNUDSEN MEDAL IS AWARDED TO DR. W. A. SAWYER

Rochester, N. Y., May 26 (AP).—Dr. William A. Sawyer, medical director of Eastman Kodak company, tonight was named 1943 recipient of the Knudsen medal for "the most outstanding contribution of the year to industrial medicine."

The award, established in 1939 by Lt. Gen. William S. Knudsen, then president of General Motors corporation, was presented at a dinner of the American Association of Industrial Physicians and Surgeons. Selection of Sawyer was made by a committee of past medal winners. The physician was cited for "outstanding work in control of tuberculosis; constructive contributions to a practical program of nutrition in industry, and setting up a program of rehabilitation for handicapped workers in industry."

Dr. Sawyer, a native of Iowa and a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania medical school, has devoted his entire career to industrial medicine. He joined Eastman in 1919.

Praise and Censure Greet School Board Election Bill

Views of supporters and opponents of a bill now before the state legislature to provide for an elective school board in Chicago are presented below. The measure, introduced by Rep. Stanley C. Armstrong [R., 6th], provides for division of the city into five districts of approximately equal population before Jan. 1, 1946. Voters of each district would then elect two board of education members for eight year terms at the next general election. One member would be elected for the city at large for a four year term. All would serve without pay.

New Power to Voter

Election of members of the Chicago board of education, provided for in a bill recently introduced in the general assembly, would give the people positive control over the manner in which their children are educated, Dr. Ralph W. Tyler, head of the University of Chicago education department, said yesterday. Members of the board now are appointed by the mayor.

"The education of the young is so vitally important the people should have an opportunity to consider it separately," Dr. Tyler declared. "Many governmental functions are at issue in the election of a mayor and the people tend to forget that the education of their children is at stake also," he said.

Should Inspire Voters.

"I am in favor of this legislation because I believe a better school administration would result and the voters would give more thought to the operation of their schools," Dr. Tyler said.

Frank J. Loesch, veteran civic leader and still active at the age of 91, who was a member of the board of education from 1898 to 1902, also expressed his approval of the Armstrong measure.

"The election of board of education members by the people would end control of the schools by the mayor, a bad situation no matter who is mayor, because it puts politics in the schools," Loesch said. "But I believe the board should be larger and more representative. It was not political 30 and 40 years ago when we had 21 members. I opposed passage of the Otis law [setting up the present schools system] in 1917 because it reduced the board to 11 members."

Calls It Protection.

Rep. Armstrong said he had introduced the measure to protect the rights of the people. "Board members are now hand picked by the mayor and jammed thru a machine controlled council," he declared.

"Election of school board members is logical and scientific, but the state school election law should be changed before we change from an appointive system," said Mrs. Lora Hughes Lunde, author of a school survey for the Woman's City club five years ago. "School boards can be self-perpetuating under the present law," she charged.

Mrs. Lunde added that smaller boards of education are more effective than large bodies, pointing to the five man board in Indianapolis, elected by the voters, as a model. Boston and Cleveland also have small, elected boards. New York's board of seven is appointed by the mayor.

Favors Chief Executive Plan.

Appointment of a chief executive for the Chicago schools, responsible for all administration, would make the question of whether an elected or appointed board is better a matter of small importance, according to Aubrey H. Mellinger, president of the Bell Telephone company, who was chairman of a committee which recently completed a two year study of the board of education.

"The school system could be operated under any type of a board as long as it was an advisory group only and all administrative matters were the responsibility of one individual," Mellinger declared. Other members of his committee, appointed by James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, were Holman D. Pettibone, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and Oscar G. Mayer, meat packer.

Fears Machine Power

Chicago schools would come under the complete domination of politicians if approval is given legislation recently introduced in the general assembly which would require the election of members of the Chicago board of education, Angus Roy Shannon, attorney and author of the Otis law, said yesterday. This law in 1917 established the present schools system in Illinois and required the appointment by the mayor of school board members in cities over 100,000 population.

"If the politicians had left the Otis law alone, our school troubles of the last decade would not have occurred," Shannon declared. The law originally provided for five year terms for board members and four year terms for the superintendent of schools, business manager, and attorney for the board.

Tells of Changes.

"In 1933, however, the legislature erased the terms of the business manager and attorney, making them pawns of the board and causing that body to become an administrative group, contrary to the intent of the Otis law," Shannon said. He was attorney for the board from 1900 to 1919.

Mrs. William S. Heffernan, who served on the board of education from 1923 to 1941, said she opposed the election of school board members. "The Otis law was passed after long deliberation and with the support of all civic groups and it should not be changed," she declared. "An elected board might dictate to professional school people, and it certainly would not eliminate politics."

Herbert Bebb, former president of the City club of Chicago and one time chairman of its education committee, disapproved of Armstrong's measure because it would lengthen the ballot at the November elections. "Further, the idea that electing officials gives the public control of their acts is completely elusory," Bebb stated. "If members of the board of education had to run for office, only the good campaigners, the politicians, would be successful," he said.

Fears Chance of Alibi.

Mrs. W. F. Heineman, only member of the board of education now who offered comment on the bill, said she believed the election of a board of education would fail to provide any relief for a large city, altho it seemed advisable for smaller communities.

"Elections are just as easy to control as appointments," Mrs. Heineman said. "Further, a mayor could use an elected school board as an alibi for poor school administration. He has no alibi under our present system," she declared. Mrs. Heineman observed that she never would be tempted to run for her office in an election.

Sees No Improvement.

"I am not in favor of endlessly passing laws in the hope of making changes for the better," said Mrs. Henry C. Dormitzer, chairman of the public education committee of Woman's City club. "If we can't elect a school minded mayor, I don't see how we could expect to elect a good board of education," she explained.

Mrs. Harry C. Mulberry, president of the Woman's City club, said she believed it would be difficult to persuade qualified people to run for office in a school board election and that voters would be unable to judge the merits of candidates.

U. S. COMMUNISTS INVITED TO JOIN TROTSKYITES

New York, May 26 [Special].—The national committee of the Socialist Workers party today appealed to members of the Communist party to leave it and join the ranks of the Fourth International, founded by Leon Trotsky. The Socialists charged that the dissolution of the Communist International "has provided official recognition of the fact that the comintern has long been dead as a revolutionary international."

"The degeneration of the comintern began in 1924, after Lenin's death," declared the Trotskyist group. "The degeneration was caused by the isolation of the first workers' state in capitalist encirclement and the rise in the soviet union of a privileged burocracy, product of the economic and cultural backwardness of the agrarian country inherited from the czars.

"The burocracy took advantage of the exhaustion of the masses after the Civil war and was able to seize control of the party, the unions and the state, and to transform them into totalitarian instruments of the privileged class."

REVEAL ILLINOIS LIQUOR DRINKING DECREASE IN '43

Survey Shows Switch to Beer and Wines.

Drinking statistics show that Illinoisans now are showing a preference for beer and light wines while the rest of the country is consuming just a wee bit more of hard liquors. The figures, issued yesterday by the Illinois liquor control commission, show the apparent per capita consumption of alcoholic beverages increased 12.9 per cent in 1942 over 1941 in the 48 states, District of Columbia, and Alaska.

Country-wide reports showed the consumption of wines increased 15.2 per cent, of beer 15.1 per cent, and of spirits, 1.2 per cent over 1941, and that for Illinois alone the general drinking total was higher by an average of .65 gallon per person.

What Illinoisans Drank.

The per capita consumption of alcoholic drinkables in Illinois for 1942 was given as follows: Beer, 18.82 gallons; wines, .95; spirits, 1.71, a total of 21.48 gallons as compared with 20.829 gallons in 1941. The 1942 per capita figures for the whole country were: Beer, 14.16 gallons; wines, .774; spirits, 1.08; total, 16.01 gallons, as compared with 14.16 gallons in 1941.

The commission said Nevada again in 1942 led in total per capita consumption of alcoholic drinks—26.90 gallons; per capita consumption of spirits was highest in the District of Columbia—4.42 gallons; of wine, California was highest with 2.87 gallons, and of beer, the highest was Michigan with 23.945 gallons.

On the subject of liquor rationing during the war the commission said there are now on hand approximately 370,000,000 gallons of whisky. The normal demand was given as 120,000,000 gallons a year; in 1942 it was 150,000,000 gallons. Therefore, there is enough liquor on hand for two and one-half years, but, the commission said, distributors are doling it out in reduced quantities.

Compare Two Years.

A comparison of the first four months of 1942 and the first four months of 1943 for Illinois show the increased beer drinking and the lessened whisky drinking, as follows:

BEER.

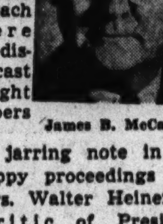
	1942—Gals.	1943—Gals.
January	10,615,087	8,888,684
February	8,932,655	10,262,917
March	10,869,912	12,231,609
April	13,540,983	13,989,961
Total	43,958,637	45,373,171

ALCOHOL AND SPIRITS.

	1942—Gals.	1943—Gals.
January	1,642,266	765,494
February	1,070,003	839,204
March	971,124	999,015
April	907,682	886,145
Total	4,591,075	3,490,858

The data, compiled by Max Loeb, chief of field investigators for the commission, and issued by William M. Devine, secretary of the commission, showed an increase in Illinois wine consumption here of 234,780 gallons in the first four months of this year, as compared with the same period of 1942.

M'CAHEY IS ELECTED FOR 11TH YEAR TERM AS HEAD OF SCHOOLS



James B. McCahey.

James B. McCahey yesterday was elected to serve his 11th consecutive one year term as president of the Chicago board of education, and Nels H. Olson was elected vice president for the second consecutive year. In each election there was only one dissenting vote cast among the eight board members voting.

The single jarring note in the otherwise happy proceedings was voiced by Mrs. Walter Heineman, outspoken critic of President McCahey, who declared that she could not vote for the reëlection of McCahey and Olson because they have "opposed the merit system of selecting teachers for the public schools."

In accepting office, McCahey said he intended to continue his present educational policies and replied to critics of his administration by contrasting the present status of Chicago public schools with the condition they were in when he took office in 1933.

BILL TO TIGHTEN LIQUOR CONTROL GOES TO SENATE

Gives Commission Right to Revoke Licenses.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 26. — The senate judiciary committee today acted favorably on a bill reportedly favored by Gov. Dwight H. Green which would give the Illinois liquor control commission the power to suspend and revoke licenses without action by local authorities.

Sen. William G. Knox [R., Chicago], sponsor of the measure, said it was drawn at the request of army and navy officials who are having trouble in some districts because of conditions in taverns. Sen. Roland V. Libonati [D., Chicago] spoke against the bill, asserting that it would mean usurpation of local government powers.

Invokes State Law Only.

The committee amended the bill to cut the period of suspension to 30 days and to strike the reference to commission rules and regulations. Sen. Wallace Thompson [R., Galesburg] termed such rules "vest pocket laws" and said no license should be revoked or suspended for infractions of them. Only infractions of the state laws would be grounds for suspension proceedings as the bill now stands.

The committee voted down, 8 to 4, a bill sponsored by Sen. Richard J. Barr [R., Joliet] which would have eliminated all taverns in the state outside of incorporated territory. It is the third session in which Barr has introduced the measure, which is backed by the Illinois Anti-Saloon league.

Raises Juvenile Limits.

Reported out favorably was the series of bills raising by two years the age limit below which juvenile courts have jurisdiction. The new age would be 16 in most criminal cases. Also provided is a system of state and county participation in boarding out delinquent and dependent children.

FAIL TO FIND HEIRS TO $20,000 ESTATE OF 'PAUPER' CHENEY

Heirs to the $20,000 estate left by Lafayette Cheney, who was buried as a pauper before his true identity was established, cannot be located, according to a proof of heirship report filed in Probate court yesterday by Referee David J. A. Hayes.

Legatees named in Cheney's will are Mrs. Elizabeth Colie, whose relationship to Cheney is not clear, and her two daughters, Sybil Colie Noggle, and Charlotte Colie.

Secondary heirs, to whom the estates would go if the original heirs are not found, also are unknown, Hayes said. These would be the natural heirs of Cheney's foster parents, Maj. and Mrs. Augustus J. Cheney, who died years ago, or heirs of his real parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Albert Hill, who lived in Chicago.

Cheney died in County hospital last Jan. 1, and was buried as "John" Cheney until an investigation started by a trust company which held his estate led to the establishment of his true identity.

FREED OF ROBBERY CHARGE.

Orders Autopsy for War Plant Worker Found Dead

A chemical analysis of the organs of John F. Garkowski, 39 years old, a war plant worker, was ordered yesterday after Dr. Sinclair Snider, coroner's physician, revealed that a cursory examination showed the victime had not died of the effects of an antiseptic. Garkowski's body was found Tuesday in a prairie at 99th street and Yates avenue with an empty antiseptic bottle near by. His parents live at 3024 East 81st street. The inquest was adojurned until June 11 pending the examination.

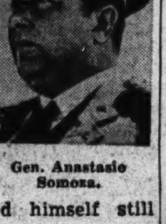
NICARAGUA ASKS U. S. TO BUILD 2D 'PANAMA' CANAL

Urged Both as Military and Recovery Project.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, May 20 [by Air Mail].—President Anastasio Somoza of Nicaragua was the first of the Latin American chief executives to be entertained in Washington under the Pan American good will program. And incidentally he became the first Nicaraguan president ever to leave his country and return to find himself still president.



Gen. Anastasio Somoza.

Urged as Recovery Measure.

While the war is on, Gen. Somoza continues his campaign for construction of the canal as a postwar recovery measure. That there are a number of important talking points on his side is evidenced by the United States' earlier interest in a Nicaraguan canal.

For many years the advantages of Nicaragua were weighed against those of Panama. Eventually Nicaragua lost by one vote.

But in 1916 the United States paid $3,000,000 for a 99 year option to dig the canal and establish naval bases in the Gulf of Fonseca on the Pacific side and at Corn island in the Caribbean. In the disarmament hysteria that followed the war, the program was shelved.

The entire route of the proposed canal is about 180 miles, and the last estimate placed the cost at approximately $700,000,000. The canal, as discussed 27 years ago, would have been basically for military purposes and to serve as a spare in the event of the Panama canal's being disabled. It is this that Gen. Somoza stresses.

Provides Fresh Water Harbor.

"In addition to naval bases at either end, there would be a great fresh water harbor in Lake Nicaragua [in western Nicaragua] big enough and deep enough to hold all the fleets of the world," he says.

"And nature has provided the best possible anti-aircraft gun emplacements for protection of this vast, inland base. These are the great cones of extinct volcanos which rim the lake and rise 5,000 feet above it. In the event of an air raid the ships would not be trapped as they would in a narrow, landlocked harbor. They would have 4,500 square miles in which to maneuver and fight back."

Enough commercial shipping could be allowed to pass the canal to pay for it, Gen. Somoza suggests.

Would Give Away Farms.

The advantage of launching the canal project immediately after the war is that it will provide jobs at a time when they are most needed, the president emphasizes. And Nicaragua is prepared to deed farms free along its route to the Americans who dig the canal.

The last survey of the area, looking toward the 42 foot, military canal project was made in 1931. In 1939-'40 a triple survey was made by Col. Charles P. Gross of the United States army engineers, Rock Island, Ill. Possibilities of making a 12 foot, 9 foot, or 6 foot barge canal from the Caribbean to Lake Nicaragua were explored. There is almost no transportation to western Nicaragua from its eastern ports of Bluefields and Puerto Cabezas except by air.

There are two incentives for building a canal across Nicaragua, according to Maj. Charles Duke, United States army engineers, who heads the canal project office here. These are the needed transportation of wild rubber from Nicaragua's jungles and the furtherance of the good neighbor policy.

Meanwhile, in his executive office, Gen. Somoza keeps an inlaid library table similar to the one he gave to President Roosevelt. To him it is a symbol of the Nicaraguan ocean gateway that is his dream.

CHICAGO JEWS SEEK $100,000 TO AID SOVIETS

Max Bressler, who was chairman of the recent United Jewish campaign that raised $150,000 in Chicago for Russian war relief, yesterday was named chairman of a United Jewish War Efforts campaign for medical field units for the soviet union. H. B. Ritman will be executive director of the campaign. The new campaign will seek $100,000 in Chicago with which to buy 50 completely equipped field hospital units for Russia. It is part of a $2,000,000 national drive headed by Rabbi Stephen S. Wise as chairman and Dr. Joseph Tenenbaum as chairman of the national executive committee.

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Elizabeth Sullivan, 6220 Greenwood avenue.]

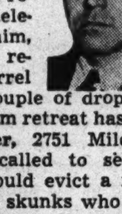
THE QUESTION.

What unusual requests have you received to rescue animals?

WHERE ASKED.

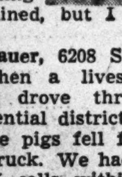
Anti-Cruelty society, 157 West Grand avenue.

THE ANSWERS.

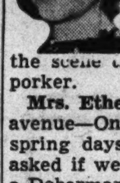


Dr. W. A. Young, 639 North Oak Park avenue, Oak Park—The young tuba player was scheduled to march with his band for the first time. An hour before the big event we received a frantic telephone call from him, asking if we could remove a pet squirrel from a tuba. A couple of drops of chloroform made him retreat hastily.

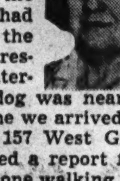
Louis C. Krueger, 2751 Mildred avenue—A client called to see if we could evict a family of skunks who had chosen to live under his front porch. We set a trap cage and when the mother skunk and her four little ones left for their evening walk in the orchard they walked into the trap. We liberated them later.



Chris Larson, 157 West Grand avenue—The manager of a hotel told us that one of his guests had died and that police were unable to enter the room because of a vicious chow dog. Armed with the customary noose I entered the room. The snarling chow was determined, but I captured him.



Margaret Hussbauer, 6208 South Justine street—When a livestock truck drove thru a residential district one of the pigs fell from the truck. We had 10 or 15 calls within a few minutes and rushed out there with our animal ambulance. But when we reached the scene there was no sign of the porker.



Mrs. Ethel Krueger, 2751 Mildred avenue—On one of the coldest spring days a woman asked if we could help a Dobermann pinscher with his life guard practice. She said the big black dog had been struggling in the lake for hours to "rescue" a heavy water-soaked log. The dog was near exhaustion by the time we arrived.

Herbert Carnes, 157 West Grand avenue—We received a report from some one walking thru the park that a stray dog and her three puppies were living under one of the buildings. It was 10 degrees below zero but we dug thru the frozen ground to reach them. The dogs could not have lasted much longer.

2 Policemen Commended in Holdup Slaying Case

Policemen Frank Brouillet and Maurice Broderick of the Lawndale station were commended by a coroner's jury yesterday for fatally shooting Andrew Nielsen, alias Thomas Hamilton, an ex-convict, in a gun fight. The policemen surprised him and several other men during an attempted burglary at a liquor store at 3946 26th street early Monday. In the face of gunfire, Broderick and Brouillet went after the men with their own guns, killing Nielsen and possibly wounding another man who escaped with his pals.

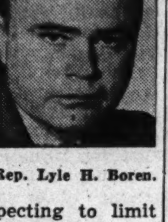
OPA FINDS SELF IN A MAN SIZED WAR WITH BABIES

They Flatly Refuse to Be Born One at a Time.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 26.—Horses may not mind changing from shoes to house slippers at night on orders from Washington. Sheep may switch their lambing time. But babies just won't comply.



Rep. Lyle H. Boren.

And so Rep. Lyle H. Boren [D., Okla.] lamented today on reports that the office of price administration is expecting to limit the size of maternity dresses for women who are expecting babies.

The OPA's plans to cut down the size of maternity dresses were mentioned during a public hearing of the house committee investigating restrictions on brand names and newsprint, of which Boren is chairman. Puzzled by the scheme, he asked overall manufacturers present as witnesses if they knew how to get the babies to play ball. He asked pants manufacturers. They all gave this gloomy answer:

Babies will come in twos or threes despite any OPA suggestions that they come singly so their mothers' dresses will fit.

No Flaps for Pockets.

Well, the committee chairman gave up and inquired about the flaps that have been ordered left off the pockets of overalls.

"Why should officials who've never been elected by the people," he inquired, "tell a farmer he can't have a flap on the pocket in which he carries his watch? Have they stopped the manufacture of scissor tail coats, wing collars, and gob pants?"

The overall men said they guessed not.

"They ought to stop lopping off the legs of overalls," Rep. Boren said, "as long as they leave any leg at all on a soup and fish suit. They ought to do something about the dresses the wives of cabinet officers wear. I haven't seen any frills taken off them.

Criticizes Dresses.

"Last night I rode down on the elevator with a Supreme court justice and some cabinet officers and their wives. The men were wearing scissor tail coats.

"It seems to me, by gosh, they ought to do something about this before they begin curtailing overalls."

One overall man complained that the OPA wants his company to change its label to give the lot number of the overalls. For 80 years, he told the committee, the label has read instead: "Guaranteed not to rip." Without questioning the sagacity of the OPA, he intimated that the guarantee against ripping might be more important to farmers who buy overalls.

W-G-N PROGRAM PAYS TRIBUTE TO CORRIGAN, FIRE COMMISSIONER

For his record of more than 50 years as a member of the Chicago fire department Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan will be cited "For Distinctive Service" on the program of that name to be broadcast over W-G-N from 9:30 to 9:45 tonight.

Highlights in his career, including an account of how he fell upon a bomb in the Auditorium theater to keep it from exploding, will be dramatized during the broadcast.

Davidson Cunningham, who conducts the program, will interview Corrigan briefly. The program will originate in W-G-N's main audience studio.

An eye witness broadcast of the flood at Beardstown, Ill., will be brought to radio listeners at noon today over WLS on its Dinner Bell program. Gov. Dwight H. Green will speak. Arthur Page, conductor of the program, and Don Kelley also will be heard.

ILLINOIS TECH GIVES DEGREES TO CLASS OF 128

A class of 128 persons last night received diplomas from the Illinois Institute of Technology at commencement exercises held in the Museum of Science and Industry in Jackson park. The degrees were conferred by President Henry T. Heald.

The Rev. J. M. Egan, president of Loyola university, was commencement speaker. His address was "America's Great Opportunity." He said that America always has been great because it always has been a religious nation.

Harold H. Sogin, 22 years old, 920 West 57th street, led the class in scholastic honors, with an average of 98.33. Leading scholar among the women was Mary Geraldine Green, 20, Negress of 6428 Langley avenue.

2 CONTRACTORS GET 2-5 YEARS IN HOUSING FRAUD

Detroit, Mich., May 26 (AP).—Seymour Smith and William S. Lipman, Chicago contractors who pleaded guilty to charges that they conspired to bribe former Detroit councilmen in connection with the Herman Gardens housing project, were sentenced today to serve two to five years in state prison.

Lipman, 36 years old, broke into tears as sentence was passed. Smith is 27 years old.

Three former councilmen—John F. Hamilton, Harry I. Dingeman, and Robert G. Ewald—have been sentenced to prison for receipt of bribes in connection with the housing contract.

CIO LEADER ASKS GOOD LIVING FOR ALL AFTER WAR

Urges Giving Business Chance for Profits.

New York, May 26 (AP).—James B. Carey, secretary treasurer of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, said tonight the post-war United States should offer "an opportunity for the business man to make profits and for every individual to use his abilities to the utmost to make a decent living and enjoy the intellectual and cultural fruits of civilization."

Carey warned 2,000 key executives at the 27th annual meeting of the National Industrial conference board, business research organization, that a return to "normalcy" will not solve the country's post-war problems.

"The failure to accept the necessity for a new approach [to economic and social problems] gave Hitler his chance" after the last war, and failure to meet the test of new thinking now will mean that "other systems, not based on democracy, will triumph in many portions of the world and perhaps here, too," Carey said.

Calls for Collaboration.

He proposed immediate collaboration on problems affecting labor, management, and government. Carey said industry and agriculture must be used to capacity after the war to provide a decent standard of living for every one.

"Labor participation in determination of administrative policies must be continued and increased," he added. "Labor management coöperation within the basic industries must also be extended."

He estimated that the government had invested 23 billion dollars in war plants and facilities of which 16 billion dollars worth could be converted to peace uses, and commented:

"Unfortunately, many business men hope the disposition of these facilities will be left entirely to private business.

Finds Danger in View.

"If this view prevails, the consequences will be catastrophic for vaunted free enterprise. Indeed, much valuable capacity may be deliberately plowed under."

Paul G. Hoffman, president of Studebaker corporation and chairman of the Committee for Economic Development, a business group engaged in post-war studies, said that long peace time unemployment or too much government employment would "spell death to free society."

Norman Angell, economist and British labor party member, said peace must have a "political foundation. . . . some dependable arrangement by which aggression, warmaking, from any quarter shall be prevented."

BREVOORT HOTEL FACES OPA SUIT IN RENT CHARGES

A suit to restrain the 120 West Madison Street corporation, which operates the Brevoort hotel at that address, from violating office of price administration rent ceilings was filed in federal District court yesterday by the OPA regional office. The corporation is accused of failing to state true maximum rents for 19 rooms and apartments when filing a registration showing the highest rate in the 30 days prior to March 1, 1942, and of overcharging $300 for about 40 rooms late in 1942 and early in 1943. Defendants, besides the corporation, are Joseph Stein, president; Fred Kean, general manager, and George Minck, resident manager. The suit was assigned to Judge Philip L. Sullivan for hearing.

THREE TESTIFY HOW FATHER HIT BABY THAT DIED

Tell Jury He Called It 'My Business.'

An all married woman jury, most of its members mothers, yesterday heard three witnesses accuse Thomas Bartell, 26 years old, 3204 Washington boulevard, of frequent abuse of his 20 month old daughter, Linda, whom he is charged with fatally beating on April 22. The murder trial is being heard by Chief Justice John A. Sbarbaro in Criminal court.

Thomas Bartell.

When they protested against his slapping of the baby, and its pitiful crying many times, some of the women witnesses said, Bartell told them: "It's none of your business."

"Neither the army nor navy can stop me," Bartell was said to have boasted on one occasion after departure of police, Mrs. Marie Schulte, housekeeper at the Washington boulevard address, testified.

Says She Heard Slapping.

Besides Mrs. Schulte, Mrs. Marie McGuire and Eugene Higgins all testified against Bartell. Sometimes, Mrs. Schulte said, the baby could be heard crying, and slapping could also be heard, as many as three or four times a week.

Higgins said that on Feb. 2 Mrs. Schulte had called him to the basement where the Bartell family occupied a rear flat and he heard the baby crying, heard slapping, and also Bartell's profanity addressed to the child.

Acrimonious exchanges marked the opening statements of Assistant State's Attorneys Francis McCurrie and Richard Devine and Charles A. Bellows, defense lawyer. Once in Judge Sbarbaro's chambers, out of hearing of the jurors, McCurrie declared that an uncle of Bartell had spoken to a state's witness who was asked to "go easy."

Mrs. Thelma Bartell, wife of the defendant was in court in mourning garb.

STUDY DRAINAGE PLAN IN REGION ABOUT PALATINE

Committees were appointed at a meeting of property owners in Palatine, Elk Grove, and Schaumburg townships last night to study the present status of Salt creek as a drainage medium and report at a later meeting concerning the need for a new drainage district there.

The meeting, held in the Palatine village hall, was attended by more than 50 farmers and 25 village residents. Leaders in the discussion of drainage needs were William H. Depue, Palatine village president, who estimated that 500 acres of land in the Salt creek watershed are flooded now by the creek; Aribert Wild, Chicago attorney, who lives on a farm in Elk Grove township and who estimated that improvement of drainage in the three townships' area would affect 38,000 acres of land; C. A. Hughes, Cook county farm adviser, who emphasized farm need of proper drainage, and County Commissioner William Busse, who also stressed benefits of efficient drainage.

Moynihan Elected Head of G. O. P. Revival Group

P. H. Moynihan, former congressman from the 2d [South Chicago] district, was elected permanent chairman of the Republican revival committee at a meeting in Hotel Sherman last night. William J. Grace was chosen temporary secretary. The committee, which is anti-Willkie and against internationalism, will meet in the Sherman next Wednesday to select a name, draw up a declaration of policies, and elect six vice chairmen.

AGREE PHILP'S PETITION NAMES ARE FORGERIES

All the signatures on the petition filed by John R. Philp to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Probate judge in the primary election of April, 1942, were fraudulent, it was agreed yesterday by opposing attorneys in a hearing before Judge Don S. Scott, sitting in the Cook County court. Twenty-one Democratic precinct captains of the 42d ward were charged with signing the names to the petition and they were placed on trial before Judge Scott of Saline county.

Atty. Mayer Goldberg, representing the Democrats charged with preparing the phony Republican petition, stipulated with Assistant State's Attorney Nathan Kinnally that all the signatures were forgeries. Testimony was then offered concerning the handwriting of the defendants. Kinnally said he would prove by handwriting experts that the defendants scribbled the names that appeared on Philp's petition.

The case is expected to take two or three days. A fine or a jail sentence of one year is possible in the event of a conviction.

PRIVATE RISES TO MAJOR AFTER ONLY 27 MONTHS

Harry C. Herman, 27 years old, an industrial surveyor, went into the army as a drafted private on Feb. 8, 1941. Today, 27 months later, in Tunisia, he is a major, his mother, Mrs. Wanda Herman, 5943 Kenmore avenue, learned yesterday. Maj. Herman, a graduate of the University of Michigan, attended officers' candidate school at Fort Benning, Ga., and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the infantry on May 28, 1941. He became a captain before the start of the Tunisian campaign in North Africa and five weeks later was promoted to major, his mother said.

STOCK RUSTLING EBBS; BARRETT PRESSES CURB

Thefts of live stock from Illinois farms declined sharply in the last week, indicating a lowering of "black market" supplies, Attorney General George F. Barrett said last night. Barrett said field assistants from his office were coöperating with downstate county authorities in the prosecution of rustlers.

He asked farmers to report all live stock thefts immediately and promised prompt action by state and county authorities, with penitentiary sentences to be asked for convicted stock thieves. He added:

"Investigators are checking on sources of supply of some packing plants and wholesale butchers. If we find them receiving meat from rustlers they will be prosecuted the same as bank robbers and other major criminals."

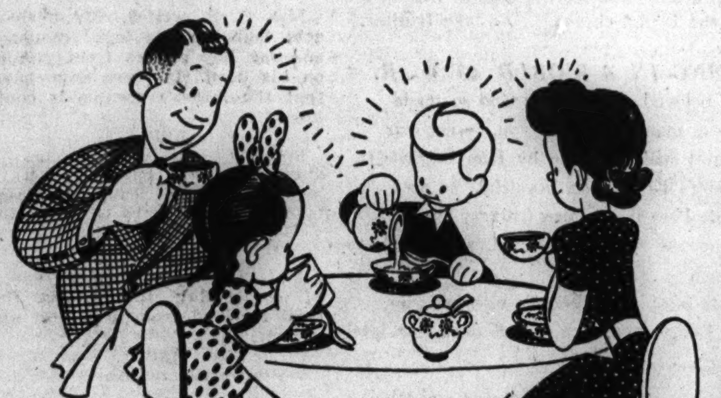
ON YOUR BERRIES...get "on the beam"
Use rich delicious Bowman Cream!
TASTEFULLY, NUTRITIOUSLY YOURS
Bud Bowman

THE BERRIES ARE COMING . . . and that means good eating's here. Strawberries, blackberries, raspberries, blueberries . . . made extra delicious and nutritious with country-fresh Bowman Cream. Not cream taken from the top of your Bowman Milk (although it's grand) . . . for that's snitching fine nourishment from the children.

EVEN BOWMAN MILK CAN'T DO a thorough-going health job without its rich cream top. That's why doctors always specify a quart a day for children with all the cream left in! So don't remove it. Instead, get your Bowman Cream separately. It's one of the best food investments you can make these days.



YOU'LL BE PLEASANTLY SURPRISED how far a mere half-pint of rich, sweet Bowman Cream goes. Makes ever so many bowlfuls of berries and cereal, precious cups of coffee, super-delicious and health-building. Supplies loads of valuable vitamin A and energy!

AND YOU CAN CUT THE COST DOWN even further by purchasing Bowman Cream in pints or quarts. Keeps beautifully. Like Bowman Milk, you can count on its always being richer, purer, better-tasting. 10 times tested to assure it.

SECOND FRONT AGAINST JAPAN.

Mr. Churchill at his press conference in Washington suggested to the Russian government that it get into the war against Japan. Here is clear, if a somewhat belated, evidence that Mr. Churchill recognizes that Americans regard Japan as first among our enemies. We have the attack on Pearl Harbor to avenge, the prisoners of Wake, Guam, and the Philippines to set free, and the invaders of the Pacific Islands that were under our flag to hurl into the sea.

The war has been conducted to date as if we were a colony bound to contribute everything asked of us and entitled to nothing in return from our allies. Mr. Churchill has given welcome evidence that he regards the United States as an independent country whose people have their own national honor and welfare at heart and are not in this war solely or principally to advance the interests of an ally or allies.

The Russians have clamored for a second front in Europe; it has been promised to them, and in a substantial measure it has been given to them by our campaign in North Africa and our bombing raids on Germany. We have poured food and military supplies into Russia. In return, Russia has done nothing to aid us against Japan. We are asking for the use of a few bases, but instead of yielding them Russia has renewed her treaties with Japan according fishing rights off the Russian coasts.

The contrast has offended American opinion except for that narrow section of it represented by a group of influential people in eastern seaboard cities. Their opinions, born of social ambition, are reflected in the state department and some of the other administrative offices in Washington, but the American people as a whole are alarmed at the neglect of the Japanese enemy and dismayed at the time we have given him to organize the empire he has conquered.

Sen. Chandler of Kentucky served his country well when he stressed the primary importance to Americans of the Pacific war. If Mr. Churchill on his arrival here had been disposed to regard the American rôle in this war as that of an auxilliary the Chandler speech and the enthusiasm with which it was received in the senate and in the patriotic press must have set him right.

The authentic voice of America demands action against Japan proportionate to the seriousness of the Japanese offense to our country. This voice is now being heard and it may safely be predicted that it will increase in strength and determination until the interests of America receive recognition in the war plans.

THE BOONDOGGLING CHAMPIONS.

The joint congressional committee on the reduction of nonessential expenditures has recommended that the National Youth administration be abolished. The public will doubtless be surprised to learn the youth outfit is still in existence. It is not only in existence but is asking for $59,304,000 to keep its pay rollers fat and satisfied for another year.

The findings of the congressional committee not only present cogent arguments for immediate abolishment of the NYA but give an excellent picture of just what is going on in that discredited agency. NYA was started to buy the "youth vote" for the New Deal. Its presiding genius was Mrs. Roosevelt's pet, Aubrey Williams, notorious for his advice, a few years back, to WPAers "to remember their friends" at the polls. When the war came the NYA foresaw the end of its existing boondoggling projects. The staff immediately undertook to make themselves an "essential" war agency. They embarked on a program of training young people for jobs in industry.

A few months later the Baltimore Sun looked into their activities. Its reporters found that the boondogglers had rounded up thousands of intricate machine tools that were needed for actual war production and had many of them hoarded away in warehouses, unused. Such courses as the youth administration was conducting were tremendously expensive, when compared with similar training given in the public schools of Baltimore.

The NYA has not mended its ways since. On last Oct. 28, the date on which the congressional committee got its figures, the agency had 43,000 youths in training and 11,806 pay rollers—more than one to every four students—to train them. Of these pay rollers only 44 per cent were engaged in direct shop supervision. The rest were sitting around offices drawing their pay. Furthermore, the committee found that only 50 per cent of the trainees ever got into war industry, and they could have got their training just as well somewhere else, as everything the NYA does is a duplication of activities of other governmental agencies and of the training programs carried on by the war industries themselves.

The NYA personnel is composed of lame ducks—not political lame ducks, because none of them could get elected to office in the first place—but economic lame ducks. The vast majority of them never had such a soft snap in their lives and they're not going to let go of it, war or no war, as long as congress is foolish enough to provide funds for them.

The investigating committee recommended that the equipment they have hoarded be transferred either to essential war industries or to industry, which can use it to some advantage, and that the functions be taken over by other governmental agencies that are already doing the same thing. If the committee's recommendation is accepted by congress, the country will save nearly 60 million dollars; thousands of worthless pay rollers will be kicked out of their soft situations, and, it is not too much to hope, may even find jobs where they will do something useful toward winning the war.

THE STRIKES HE BRED.

Mr. Roosevelt's war labor board is passing swiftly into eclipse, an eclipse that was inevitable in view of its fundamental policy. Thruout the country the no-strike pledge is being made a mockery. John L. Lewis and the miners defied the board, and with some success, inasmuch as the board has dumped the threatened mine strike back into the hands of the operators after denying a direct wage increase in a proceeding in which the union refused to participate.

At the tire factories in Akron the C. I. O. unionists outdid the miners. They not only went on strike, but reverted to their old mob tactics to bar the plant gates to men willing to work. Detroit war plants have been tied up by other C. I. O. strikes. The leaders of the C. I. O. unions have sought to excuse this repudiation of the no-strike pledge by repudiating the strikes and asking the men, in language notably less fervent than they normally employ, to return to their jobs. Their tactics are not convincing. The persistence of the strikes places the leaders either in the position of tacitly encouraging the strikes while denouncing them publicly or of being incapable of controlling the membership of their unions.

The no-strike agreements got as far as they did only because the war labor board followed a policy of granting the unions whatever they demanded, regardless of the cost to the nation in taxes. Obviously, when you can get what you want without striking there is no point in striking. Now that the much belabored Little Steel formula—in which the labor board, incidentally, punched at least one loop hole in the Chicago Surface lines' case—has placed a limit on wage demands, the labor board has become bankrupt of influence. When it cannot pay off, the unions won't listen to it.

Akron recently saw a repetition of the tactics of the early offensives of the C. I. O. There was mob picketing and the men whose patriotism urged them to go to their jobs were pummeled, and jostled, and prevented from doing so. At one Akron plant whose employés seemed disposed to remain at work the pickets were largely strangers from other plants.

Mr. Roosevelt is reaping the inevitable consequences of his own policy. He made his administrative agencies the active collaborators of the labor organizers. He and his appointees encouraged strikes and threw the influence of the government on the side of the strikers. Gross violations of law were ignored or palliated. Mob rule was encouraged. Having spent years in teaching radical organizations that they need feel no obligation to the law, Mr. Roosevelt has no right to be surprised when his pupils disclose that they feel no obligations of patriotism either.

The C. I. O. has become virtually his only remaining solid bloc of political support. His past political ambitions bred the strike situation and his present ambitions prevent him doing anything effective to terminate it. The successful prosecution of the war becomes of secondary importance to him when it conflicts with those ambitions.

THE FLOODS' LITTLE HELPERS.

Within reasonable limits the modern farmer can make up some of the time that he loses when rain and flood keep him out of the field. His farm is mechanized today. He can plow much faster with a tractor than he could with horses. If he can get help, he can put a headlight on the tractor and work it 24 hours a day, which, of course, he could not do with horses. Given the good fortune of a late fall or perhaps even a normal frost date, good farmers in the middle west might even hope to overcome the handicap that the weather has placed on them this year. They might have those hopes, that is, if it hadn't been for Joe Weiner, the Union Square farmer; Pretty Paul McNutt, the man power czar, and the rest of the planless planners in Washington.

Last year Weiner severely restricted the supply of agricultural machinery available to American farmers and increased the quotas of machinery available for lend-lease gifts abroad. At a time when man power was growing scarcer and scarcer the farmers were denied the machinery that might have helped make up for the missing hands.

When Weiner was fired and a belated attempt was made to rectify his mistakes, red tape defeated the attempt. By the time machinery manufacturers were given increased quotas it was too late for them to get their raw materials, make their subcontracts, and manufacture and ship the machines for this year's farm work. Such machinery as was available was so entangled in red tape that, according to Congressman Lawrence Smith of Wisconsin, some of it is still tied up in warehouses instead of being in the hands of farmers, who need it so sorely. The mess was made by Weiner and his associates, most of whom had never been on the seat of a tractor, over the protests of advisers whom the war production board had drawn from the farm machinery industry.

The administration not only withheld the farmer's tools; it took his help. Whereas any youth with a CIO card and a three months' training course has a good chance to claim draft exemption as a so-called essential munitions worker, young men with a decade or more of experience on the farms were packed off to the training camps by the hundreds of thousands. This destruction of the farm labor supply cannot be put down merely to lack of foresight. There is good ground to believe that it was the result of political favoritism and political animus by the New Deal.

The farm vote has turned away from the administration and thus, according to New Deal lights, has forfeited its claim to fair treatment. If America has a food shortage next fall, it will not be the result of any act of God. It will be due to the blundering and the political conduct of the war by the administration, which made it impossible for the farmers to overcome handicaps of weather that could easily have been anticipated and prepared for.

CHARGE ADVERTISING.

[Memphis Commercial Appeal.]

First accounts of the marriage of a young lady in St. Louis said merely that she and her attendants together carried eight bouquets of 234 orchids valued at $1,100. The bride's bouquet contained 72 white orchids, the bridesmaids had 30 each, and so on down to the flower girls with a mere half-dozen apiece. Offhand, it sounds sort of wasteful and suchlike. Then we found out the bride's papa is a wholesale florist and orchid importer, which makes it promotion in the line of business and chargeable to advertising. The shoemaker's child may be the worst shod in the community, but no one can claim the florist's daughter was not well flowered.

THE ADHESIVE BARNACLE.

After inspecting photographs of naval salvage work at Pearl Harbor, a colleague expressed a desire for information about barnacles. The large crop of these submarine mushrooms harvested there seemed to amaze him. Well, it's quite a story, chum.

There is the barnacle who is "an undesired, undetachable companion or follower," according to Webster. There is the barnacle goose, said in medieval legend to be hatched from a sea shell. The realm of fantasy also includes a character of American folk song called Barnacle Bill the Sailor, who may have been related to the more widely known Popeye the Sailor.

The true barnacle is a low grade form of marine life which was defined by Huxley as "a crustacean fixed by its head and kicking the food into its mouth with its legs." It plagued scientists for many years because of its resemblance to the mollusks. They classified it with the oysters instead of the shrimps, and didn't get straightened out on the subject until 1830.

The barnacle's nuisance value has been notorious among sailors for centuries. Ever since ships were made of wood, Jack Tar has had to work overtime scraping barnacles off the bottom. The old nautical custom of careening vessels on sandy beaches was largely for the purpose of exterminating barnacles. The things would get so thick on the ship's underwater planking that the old tub could hardly move.

Young barnacles no bigger than tadpoles [the larva stage] swim around freely until they find a ship, a piece of wreckage, a rock, or a pier. They settle down there for life, growing a shell and kicking for their dinner.

SHOP WINDOW HEAVEN.

In front, two modernistic children frolic,
Dressed smartly in whatever children wear;
My Lady takes her ease upon a chair,
No lifted brows can make her apprehensive,
Her furnishings are chic beyond compare,
In perfect taste, and far from inexpensive.

Ah me, that life should harbor such perfection,
Such savoir faire, with everything in place,
Where never storms can spoil the day's complexion
Nor passions mar each placid wooden face!
I gaze upon these faultless gowns and middies—
And then go home to mamma and the kiddies.

War Garden Lowdown—The End.

From now on it's up to you, but I am sure if you have absorbed all that I have taught you, you will be successful.

Remember, however, you will have bad days and that each day you will encounter new weeds, new insects, new worms, etc. That is, they will be new to you. Insects and plants are as old as creation. Cleopatra had the same weeds and bugs in her radishes. You may even find snakes in your tomatoes, as she did.

However, snakes are harmless. Furthermore, they'll get rid of more bugs than you ever will. So don't chop their heads off with a hoe. Remember, they've got to make a living just as you do, and it's no cinch with the whole world down on them. Between Hirohito and a snake in my garden, I'll string along with the snake. That goes for Hitler, too.

But you can rest assured you'll never see a snake, and Hirohito, and Hitler in your garden at the same time. No self-respecting snake would stay.

If you want to anger a snake, call him a Nazi or Nip. You'll have something in the way of trouble then. He'll boycott your garden; he'll put up a sign, "Unfair to Reptiles," and every union and nonunion snake will shun your garden and your bugs. Then where will you be? Some fine morning you'll go out in your garden and find what was once a grand panorama of luxuriant green and growing things nothing but a barren waste, destroyed by bugs.

And all around you leering snakes will be giving you the Bronx cheer. Jake Irmiter.

SPRING IN A WORLD AT WAR.

O earth, beloved earth, which God so made
No sin of man can change you, no act mar
(Else surely had you been by Him betrayed)
Once more I learn how beautiful you are!
Once more I see the slender, feathery grass
Tincture the warming ground, and watch the green
Like some most subtle bright contagion pass
From bough to bough where snow has lately been.

O earth, despite men's hates, serene and whole,
Intact in splendor and in loveliness,
Affirm this truth unto the needful soul,
Thru your renewing beauty, that no less
Is God attentive to His own, tho it
Be once more proven how we are unfit.

Where Gremlins Fear to Tread.

"Uncle," he began, "I have a new story I'd like to tell you. Did you ever hear of gremlins?"

"No, I haven't," I naively replied. This was a mistake, because he started to tell me all about gremlins—airplane, submarine, battleship, aircraft carrier, clipper, steamer, rowboat, zeppelin, subchaser, tank, jeep, motorcycle, and train gremlins.

"Ronnie," says I, "tell me about streetcar gremlins."

He looked at me [scornfully, it seemed], then replied, "Are you kidding? Chicago street cars don't need gremlins!" Guy Finamore.

POPULAR CURES OF LONG AGO.

CHARMS and luck pieces have long played important rôles in medicine. In some quarters they still do. If each of us would confess frankly we would probably admit some harmless superstition to which we adhere faithfully. Our allegiance is unconscious and, more often than not, the habit dates from childhood.

We have all encountered wearers of horseshoe rings, which are said to ward off rheumatism. Gold wedding bands have long been looked upon as cures for warts, sties, and sore eyes. Passing a handkerchief thru such a circle will endow the fabric with protective qualities against contagious disease.

The Swiss chemist, physician, and astrologer—Paracelsus—constructed a finger ornament of a dozen or more metals. The welding was done under the influence of certain constellations. In consequence, a long life was insured. Despite this safeguard, the inventor died at the age of 48.

Old wives' tales about babies number legion. Folk sayings dictate that it is unlucky to take the babe downstairs before it goes up. Nothing must be loaned from the house until the newborn infant has been baptized. Another absurd dictum is that neither finger nor toenails can be cut until the youngster has passed his first birthday. No child should be allowed to gaze into a looking glass until he is at least 3 months old. "Weigh an infant if you must but do not measure it" is an old New England fetish.

A curious Irish remedy for sore throat is to apply salt herring to the feet. Another has it that to avoid cramps in the legs all you need to do is to permit the toes to peep out beneath the bed coverings. Washing a sore with water, which has been poured over Indian arrowheads made of flint, will bring prompt healing. Against nosebleed, wear a house key suspended around the neck with a silk thread. To prevent toothache, put on the right stocking before the left.

Many of our cosmetics have come from ancient practices. For example, if the foliage of milkweed is stirred in a pan with melted butter and browned slightly, the mixture will remove freckles. A great complexion corrective came from the peach tree—stems and buds. Vision was preserved with a herb known as eyebright [euphrasia] which had become "decayed thru age."

The list could be extended indefinitely. It may be said that, despite widespread education, traces of these popular "receipts" remain thruout the world. By and large, they do little or no harm unless adequate treatment is delayed unduly.

Back of the old spring tonic idea is the notion that the thick blood of winter must be thinned and purified. Sulfur and molasses were beneficial. The sulfur was useful for arthritis and the molasses furnished a goodly supply of iron. Furthermore, such mixtures as rhubarb, dandelion, pepsissewa, wormwood, and burdock were bitter enough to demand several glasses of water to take away the taste, the result being a flushing of the circulation.

FATHER AND SON.

Mrs. R. R. writes: My husband gets boils on his legs frequently and my boy suffers from pimples on his head. Is there any chance that the father's trouble is contagious?

REPLY.

Probably cause and effect. The disorder may be impetigo, which is highly contagious. Scrupulous cleanliness with daily baths is the answer.

SAFE MAIL.

REPLY.

No—extremely remote.

ADOLESCENCE.

P. L. writes: What are the adolescent years?

REAL ISOLATIONISM.

Chicago, May 20.—I am an isolationist in the true meaning of that term—against war before Pearl Harbor, and now in it to the finish.

The Japs forced this decision on us. Because we objected to entering other nations' scraps prior to Pearl Harbor we are subjected to insults and purges. Those who use these abusive terms toward the so-called isolationists did everything they could do and against the overwhelming majority of our own people to drag us into this present conflict and now try to cover up their non-American attitude by calling us isolationists, not seeming to see that they convict themselves. Of course, we are an important part of the world merely because we held aloof from the petty jealousies and intrigues of some of the rest of the world, but we are not the world with its various political set-ups and its manifold problems in which we had no part, and we must still object to being a pawn in the game now being played, and subject to the whims of others who are not in favor of our way of life. The Roosevelt-Hopkins clique would force us into an alliance that cannot mean the good of the United States and would only nullify the real benefit we might be to a stricken world.

Yes, I am an isolationist and proud of it in the true meaning of that term. An American citizen first, but always ready to help any in distress.

G. C. Longman.

ALL BOYS DO IT.

Chicago, May 24.—I, too, am a resident of Morgan Park, but with a much different opinion regarding the shooting of a schoolboy by a policeman for throwing rocks than was expressed by Dorothy E. Saunders. Maybe it isn't a question of race, but rock throwing by boys dates so far back that no living person could tell who threw the first rock. If all the boys who threw rocks were shot for that reason we would have a maleless world today. No doubt the very policeman who shot that boy wouldn't even be here.

When it reaches the point where our young boys are to be shot for no more a crime than rock throwing, and the one who shoots them is to be patted on the back by our citizens and police captains and told, "Well done," we are becoming barbarous.

TREASURE TROVE.

IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, May 1.—Just a line to let you know the big thrill I got today when, while out in the field here in the southwest Pacific, I picked part of the March 13 edition of The Tribune, left by some other American soldier who, no doubt, hung his hat somewhere in good old Chicago at some time in the past.

Jeeps, it was great, and altho six weeks old I read every line, every advertisment, for this was truthfully my greatest treasure in all the time I've been here. It made me feel closer to Chicago, too.

So long, till this adventure is over, and "keep them printing."

An Old Reader.

THEY THROW THEM BOTH WAYS.

Chicago, May 23.—To the person that threw a bottle off the elevated at 63d street and Kenwood last Saturday, I want you to know that I was showered with glass and my baby nearly was hit. Surely no sane person would do such a thing. Mrs. Julia Peinovich.

ANTI-CIO.

Chicago, May 23.—Last Sunday the front page of The Tribune contained the following two headlines: "62,500 Idle in War Plants" and "Yanks on Attu Fight in Snow Up to Armpits." It was hardly necessary to read what was under those two headlines to understand what they meant. On the one hand the 40 hour week, time and a half for overtime, CIO inspired patriots were complaining about pay and conditions; on the other our armed forces were valiantly fighting to rid Attu Island of the Japs, under almost impossible conditions and without complaining.

Just recently a CIO agitator trying to stir up trouble at a submarine ship building yard saw a group of United States sailors standing near by, and thinking his microphone was turned off said to a henchman, "What does that bunch of 50 dollar a month punks want?" That just about sums up the way that organization feels toward the men in our armed forces. So long as the union dues come rolling in, the country and the 50 dollar a month punks in uniform can go hang.

STRAY DOGS AND RABIES.

Chicago, May 22.—In behalf of all the dog breeders in the Chicago area, may I as editor of Dog World express appreciation for the editorial, "Dogs and Rabies" in your May 22 issue?

It is a fair presentation of the rabies situation, and you have emphasized the vital solution of the problem—the elimination of humans who are not proper persons to own dogs. As you say, the rabies problem is mostly a matter of the stray dog problem and the stray dog problem is mostly a matter of negligent careless dog owners.

It is more logical to throw the negligent dog owner into the dog catcher's truck and impound him in the dog pound than to pick up the dog and put him to death for a crime of which he is not guilty. Will Judy.

CHANCE FOR FORTHRIGHTNESS.

Beloit, Wis., May 22.—If Gov. Stassen is really in earnest in his desire for a forthright Republican party, an excellent way to start the ball rolling would be for him to compile and publish a detailed report of all his own and Oren Root Jr.'s, receipts and disbursements, of whom received and to whom paid out, in that whirlwind campaign immediately preceding and during the 1940 Republican national convention at Philadelphia that resulted in flouting the wishes of the vast majority of the rank and file of the party by the nomination of Wendell Willkie.

THE CASE OF THE DISAPPEARING WINDOWS.

Chicago, May 24.—Paging Dick Tracy. There's a mystery within a mystery in his swell current murder strip! We all know now what happened to the rich widow—but what is happening to the windows in the club car of the streamliner that killed her?

In the May 16 strip there are five square windows all in a row. On May 21 the same car has 10. On May 22 we count an even eight. May 23 comes up with nine, and again with eight. And today, May 24, there are only six! As a matter of fact, the little round washroom window that "88 Keyes" climbed out of was triangular at the time of crash, on May 16!

As a matter of fact, why shouldn't I believe that he might actually be only "78 Keyes"?

John C. Wheatley.

NO USE TO HANG HIM.

Lincoln, Ill., May 20.—Far from vilifying John Lewis as the No. 1 traitor of this war, a popular pastime of the unthinking during recent weeks, I consider he is doing the nation a service beyond price in pointing out unmistakably, to all who will see, the ultimate result of New Deal labor policies, and in locating beyond peradventure the man responsible for our embarrassments.

If the American people refuse to heed this lesson, they would not be benefited by hanging John Lewis.

PROPOSE WORLD BAN ON SPIRIT OF WAR IN SCHOOLS

Educators Would Control Books and Courses.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 26.—An international agency to curb the indoctrination of youth with militarism and plans of national aggression is proposed in a voluminous report issued today by the Educational Policies commission.

The agency would be a part of any post war organization of nations to preserve peace and would function in an advisory capacity on educational systems, text books and methods in the various countries. It would determine whether the effect of the educational system in any country would promote aggression, or militarism or otherwise be dangerous to the peace of the world.

The question of what action should be taken to reform a condemned educational system would be for the members of the international organization of nations to decide.

Advises Remote Control.

The commission advised against the administration or supervision by the international body of the school systems of Germany, Italy and Japan after the conquest of the axis powers. Instead, it outlined measures of remote control pretty much along the line of Vice President Henry Wallace's proposals to extirpate the axis teachings that might makes right.

The commission of 19 members was appointed by the National Education association and the American Association of School Administrators. Its chairman is Alexander J. Stoddard, Philadelphia superintendent of schools. The only midwestern members are Francis L. Bacon, superintendent of the Evanston, Ill., Township High school, and Harold H. Blanchard of South Bend, Ind., president of the department of classroom teachers of the NEA.

Opposes U. S. Isolation.

The report propagandizes against the isolation of America in the post war world, against American imperialism and in favor of American coöperation "with full support to the international use of force in controling possible future aggression." The commission thinks the real choice will be between American imperialism and coöperation, as it regards isolationism a dead issue.

The chief functions of the educational control agency are described in the report thus:

"The agency should have one clear cut appraisal function. It should be solemnly charged with the duty of studying text books, syllabuses, and teaching materials, used or proposed for use in any and all countries, in order to determine whether their effect would be aggressive, militaristic, or otherwise dangerous to the peace of the world.

"All nations should agree to refrain from such instruction and to submit copies of all text books and teaching materials to the international agency.

Cases Would Not Drag.

"Refusal of any nation to make its teaching materials available for study, or any effort to disguise, delay, or withhold them, should be promptly publicized by the international agency for education.

"In the event that the experts of the agency should conclude that, in their opinion, instruction dangerous to the peace of the world is occurring, the agency should file a notice to that effect with the government of the country concerned. Full opportunity for discussion and conference should be provided, but cases of this kind should not be allowed to drag on indefinitely. If no adjustments are made in a reasonable period of time a full report on the matter should be submitted, together with documents and evidence, to whatever over all agency may be established to deal with international affairs in general.

"The international agency for education should be required to make this report public.

"The specific responsibilities of the international agency for education should not extend beyond investigation, discussion, public report, and referral to the general international agency.

"It is to be hoped, of course, that instances of war aimed teaching would seldom, or never arise—that the certainty of exposure would act as a sufficient deterrent."

RAILWAY FREIGHT OFFICERS.

The army transportation corps will consider a few more applications from men up to 50 years of age who have had a minimum of three years' experience in railway freight transportation in a responsible executive position. Candidates must be qualified to [1] direct and dispatch, [2] route large shipments of materials and supplies, [3] expedite freight shipments by rail, [4] coördinate freight traffic movement within area of assignment, [5] direct the preparation of reports, and [6] supervise and direct planning of programs, methods, and schedules of railway traffic within the local area. Applicants should be high school graduates or equivalent. Motor truck freight experience alone would not be considered. Apply, Chicago Officer Procurement District Office, 20 North Wacker drive.

C. M. H. writes: "I am 23 and I am a licensed pilot on the Illinois river. I have handled tow boats up to 350 horse power and about 100 feet long. Is there some branch of service that could use me?"

ANSWER: Aside from the amphibian command of the army engineers, the coast guard would be glad to hear from you. Visit its Port Offices [in your case St. Louis] and talk with the personnel officer or the captain. If you'd like the information on the amphibian unit, send us a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

W. A. S. writes: "We have two children, ages 6 and 9 months. I am employed in a war plant and recently was reclassified from 3B to 3A. My wife recently accepted a job in a war plant too, and her neighbors all frightened her to death telling her that in taking the job, she's only putting me in the army that much sooner. Is this so?"

ANSWER: Her employment would have nothing to do with your deferment because you are being deferred primarily because of your activity. Even if your draft board should consider reclassifying you again, you could first be considered for a 2B classification because of your job before being put into 1A, especially if your employer filed forms 42A and 42B for your deferment. Dependency, as a reason for deferment, has been eliminated.

R. C. D. writes: "I am 27, married, no children. I am employed by a large meat packing company here in Chicago as assistant manager and do supervisory and clerical work almost entirely, and the company has filed for my deferment on the grounds that I hold a C. P. A. certificate. Do you think my draft board must grant deferment?"

ANSWER: It is up to your draft board, but selective service has generally ruled that persons in the military age groups employed in clerical or semi-administrative work are not entitled to deferment. We hope your employer in filing for deferment didn't claim you were doing the work of a C. P. A.

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

STEAL FURS AND JEWELRY.

Jewelry and furs valued at $1,385, including two fox furs, a stickpin, a watch, ear rings, and cuff links, were stolen in the night from her home at 1068 Granville avenue, Mrs. Katherine Friedman reported to police yesterday.

SENATOR CALLS ON CONGRESS TO REGAIN POWERS

Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney.

Washington, D. C., May 26.—Declaring that congress has surrendered its constitutional powers to an executive burocracy which now threatens continued existence of the traditional American form of government, Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.] tonight called upon congress to regain its authority and to begin by requiring congressional approval of reciprocal trade agreements.

In a nation-wide radio broadcast Sen. O'Mahoney declared that the present trade agreements act, now before congress for extension until June 12, 1945, surrenders three great congressional powers to the President: Senate ratification of treaties, the power to tax thru regulation of tariffs and import duties, and the regulation of commerce.

No Information for Congress.

Congress has had no hand in performing these functions in connection with reciprocal trade agreements, because the chief executive negotiates the agreements with foreign governments and gives congress no information on what is being done until after the agreements have been signed, sealed, and delivered, he said.

Altho such agreements, under the present law, are not subject to review by congress, the agreements with Canada, Great Britain, Mexico, Brazil, and 18 other countries were subject to legislative approval before becoming binding on those nations.

Extension of the trade agreement acts has already been voted by the house and it is now before the senate. The senate bill includes a provision that the agreements will be subject to revocation by congress six months after the war ends. O'Mahoney will propose on the floor that the future agreements also be subject to congressional ratification in the same manner as required by other nations with which the pacts are made.

Press Virility Lauded.

Referring to the efforts of the press to open the allied food conference to the reporters, O'Mahoney told his radio audience in stinging words that "if the congress should pattern itself on the virility of the press and defend its power, the steady expansion of burocracy would not be the problem that it is today in America."

He said congress has been losing power to the executive branch ever since 1887 when it established the interstate commerce commission.

"We cannot preserve representative government in the United States if congress continues to throw its power away to the executive," the Democratic senator declared. "I care not how respectable and able and good intentioned the executive may be, he should not be permitted to exercise the legislative power."

"The legislative system of government is preserved in Great Britain and in Canada," he said. "Here it is being transformed into an executive burocracy. When we sacrifice popular sovereignty we sacrifice the foundations of our liberty. When congress abdicates free government dies."

TEACHER'S RAIL DEATH ACCIDENT, CORONER HOLDS

Wauseon, O., May 26 (AP).—Coroner H. M. Warner said today he believed Bess Schmidt, pretty Los Angeles school teacher whose body was found on the New York Central tracks near here, was killed accidentally.

He said he would withhold a formal verdict until after examining the woman's luggage, discovered on a train in Chicago this morning. He had expressed belief earlier that the woman might have been slain and placed on the tracks.

"It is my belief that at 2 a. m. Monday Miss Schmidt became ill. Her family reported her subject to nervous spells. She got up to retire to the train's ladies' room, opened an outside door by mistake, and fell to her death," the coroner said.

GREAT POST-WAR OPPORTUNITIES FOR EXECUTIVES IN AVIATION
says AVIATION
the industry's magazine

You are making impressions today that will work for or against you in seizing these opportunities

DON'T LET DOWN IN YOUR APPEARANCE

* "It is now clear that aviation offers one of the most challenging of post-war opportunities. And the challenge embraces many fields of talent: Aviation's engineers, designers and researchers will have the job of adapting war-born developments to peacetime usage. Aircraft production will offer the challenge of maintaining the advantages of volume production when huge wartime needs have ceased. To sales management, production will likewise be a challenge, for continued volume production will be dependent on the successful efforts of aggressive sales leadership. Distribution of aircraft and the parts and supplies to maintain them will offer ample room for new thinking. Air transport operation will call for alert leadership to compete with other forms of transportation. Opportunities will be there for all men who truly appreciate the possibilities of the new air world."

A Field-Fifty Gabardine Suit has the qualities in its make-up that are necessary to put you at your best. The smooth-textured fabric is one of the most flattering that you can wear. It will keep your appearance in top form for a long time, too, for it's a durable fabric that can take plenty of punishment. It's loomed to retain a press. A Field-Fifty Gabardine is a thoroughly versatile suit—one that looks right in town, in the country, or when you're traveling. It's heavy enough for early spring weather, yet light enough for warm mid-summer days. You may choose from single- or double-breasted drape or more conservative models in either tan or brown. $50

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Premier Joseph Stalin yesterday was foreseen as establishing an accord with the Russian Orthodox patriarchate in the near future, which would abolish all other Christian churches forever in soviet Russia. The prediction was made by Dr. James H. Rushbrooke of London, England, president of the World Baptist alliance.

Dr. Rushbrooke spoke before Baptist leaders at the Baptist divinity house of the University of Chicago divinity school. Members of the Northern Baptist general council, which closes its sessions today at the Hotel La Salle, also attended. The general council and other control agencies of the church are meeting in lieu of regular annual sessions scheduled for Denver, Colo.

The Baptist leaders, in regular sessions at the La Salle yesterday, adopted one of the largest budgets in its history after hearing that during the past year the church's emergency program calling for $600,000 went $115,000 over its goal. The war emergency service leaders expect a $1,500,000 program and another calling for $3,000,000 for Baptist world missions.

Dr. Rushbrooke warned Baptist leaders that religious freedom, at least as is known in America, is being strangled in Europe and probably will entirely disappear. The accord between Stalin and the Orthodox patriarchate will close out Baptist and other denominational work in the Soviet Union, he said, adding that while it is possible to have ritualistic services in Russia, no Bible classes, Sunday schools, or other forms of religious instruction are permitted.

Dr. Rushbrooke cited an accord in Spain which he said has closed all Protestant churches in that country.

"Because the Baptists are internationally the largest Protestant denomination, they have a special responsibility to work for the religious freedom of Europe," Dr. Rushbrooke said. "Baptists have a special advantage in that their democratic forms and practices provide a pronouncement from a great body of Christians rather than from a hierarchy.

"Baptists in England have suffered heavy losses in churches and property due to the war, but they have united behind the government in prosecution of the war and in plans for a post-war world."

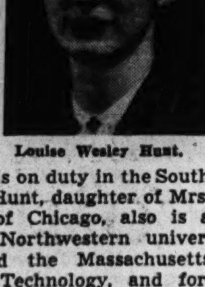
Women in War Work

—By Kate Massee—

For the first time since she was graduated from Southern seminary at Buena Vista, Va., Miss Louise Wesley Hunt will not be present for the Chicago alumnae luncheon on June 19. She enrolled in the overseas service of the American Red Cross several months ago and now is on duty in the South Pacific. Miss Hunt, daughter of Mrs. M. V. Hull of Chicago, also is a graduate of Northwestern university, attended the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and formerly was health director of the Harriet Hammond McCormick Memorial Y. W. C. A.



Louise Wesley Hunt.

The special guest at the luncheon, to be held at 1 p. m. at the Lake Shore club, will be the seminary's director, Mrs. H. Russell Robey, who will show technicolor pictures of the school. Installation of officers will close the program.

At a press luncheon yesterday at the Electric club, members of the WAAC recruiting office of the 6th service command announced an intensive month long campaign, starting June 1, to enroll 10,000 women in Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin in the WAAC. The figure represents the number of women needed in the 6th service command out of a total of 90,000 requested by the army before July 1.

To step up the campaign, the WAAC recruiting units, which started with six members have been increased over a period of several months to more than 200 officers and auxiliaries. Teams from the various recruiting centers in the three states involved will go out into counties and communities and, thru the coöperation of civilian aids and the OCD block organizations, will personally contact women and girls eligible for enrollment and urgently needed to release men for active duty.

Lt. Roma Scott, chief recruiting officer for the WAAC, reported that as of May 16, the corps' first anniversary, there were 62,500 WAACs enrolled, of which some 8,000 enlisted in the 6th service command. In addition to 120 companies that are now billeted at posts, camps, and stations, two contingents are in North Africa and England.

Two new posts of the Woman Ordnance Workers, Inc. [WOWs] were installed this week by Mrs. Caroline Budinger, executive secretary, bringing the total membership thruout Chicagoland to more than 15,000. The new units are post No. 19 from the Zenith Radio corporation, 6001 Dickens avenue, and post No. 20 from the Ohmite Manufacturing company, 4835 West Flournoy street.

Post No. 20 was granted its charter at a dinner meeting last evening in the Home Arts Guild, 205 North Michigan avenue, attended by 105 charter members and more than 50 guests from affiliated posts. Presiding were the post's organizing committee composed of Juanita Sheeps, chairman; Ellouise Perz, Ann Callaf, Mabel Miller, and Margaret Danielski.

More than 50 women employés of Zenith Radio corporation formed post No. 19. Their officers are Inice Curry, president; Marion Sellers, vice president; Hazel Fregeau, corresponding secretary; Lucille Rutkus, recording secretary, and Rose Coulter, treasurer.

WOW membership thruout the country now totals more than 33,000 women engaged in full time war work. The organization had its inception last September at the Hurley Machine company in Cicero with a membership of five women. Its purpose is to place war work on a patriotic basis, to combat absenteeism, and to promote better health and spirits thru group recreational activities. There are no dues, fees, or assessments.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Auxiliary Ambulance Corps of Illinois, Inc., was held yesterday afternoon in its offices in the Palmolive building. Officers elected were Mrs. Royden J. Keith, president; Miss Mary Hardwick and Miss Phyllis Thompson, vice presidents; Mrs. William Merrick, treasurer, and Mrs. H. C. Hoagland, secretary and assistant treasurer.

The committee in charge of the group's benefit cocktail party held on May 14 announced that more than $2,900 was cleared, and will be used to purchase three vehicles for the Red Cross blood donor service and one medical kit as a gift to the coast guard in this area.

[This department reports on women's war activities and answers questions regarding such activities.]

Canning Crops Endangered by Lack of Labor

Supplies of canned and processed foods will grow tighter and some crops may even be wasted unless the canning industry can recruit the peak load of 400,000 workers needed to process the fruit and vegetable crops this year, the office of war information said yesterday.

Explaining that canneries ordinarily depend on seasonal labor drawn from surrounding communities, the OWI emphasized the imperative need this year for volunteer work by high school students, housewives, professional and business men, and others who normally do not work in canneries.

"This year, the normal reserve of experienced local canning labor shows signs of serious depletion, exceeding that of 1942, yet the demand for canned and processed foods will be far greater than ever before," the report said.

The OWI said that more than 150 million man hours were required to pack the major seasonal fruit and vegetable crops in 1942, according to estimates of the National Canners' association, not including labor required in cultivating and harvesting.

"Wherever there is a cannery, local people have been accustomed to help out the family income by seasonal work in the neighborhood plant," the OWI said. "Last year, however, a great many of these townsfolk were missing from the canneries.

"The high wages paid in war industries accounted for some of the labor loss, and military service for men of draft age further drained the labor supply."

In an effort to provide adequate cannery labor, the United States employment service is recruiting workers with the aid of the agricultural extension service, the office of civilian defense, cannery operators, and civic, business, church, and school groups.

More Food Preservers

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 26.—The manufacture of 100,000 domestic food dehydrators and an additional 125,000 pressure cookers for home preservation of fruits and vegetables has been approved by the war production board, it was announced today.

Sen. George D. Aiken [R., Vt.] said WPB had informed him of the dehydrator program, which, it is estimated, will result in the dehydrating of about 150 million pounds of fruits and vegetables for use next winter. Aiken headed a senate agriculture subcommittee which recommended the program.

The dehydrators as well as pressure cookers, WPB officials said, will be rationed to consumers, chiefly farm families, thru department of agriculture war boards.

The additional allotment of pressure cookers will bring 1943 production to a total of 275,000, compared with 76,000 last year, and a pre-war average of 250,000. It is expected that 145,000 of this year's total will be available by Aug. 1, and the remainder by early fall.

[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

The demonstrator who appeared at the Fair store last week in a "Health-for-Victory-Club" canning demonstration had a streamlined and efficient way to prepare asparagus for canning.

Instead of pre-cooking the asparagus in boiling water, this young woman filled the glass jars with clean asparagus stalks, then placed the asparagus-filled jars, uncovered, on a rack in a steamer containing an inch of water. After 5 minutes of steaming in the covered vessel the asparagus was "blanched" to set color and stop enzyme action, and the jars were sterilized at the same time. Of course the jars had been subjected to a previous soapy bath and scalding.

The next step in canning asparagus is to fill the jars to within half an inch of the top with boiling water, add ½ teaspoon salt to each pint jar, and put on the lids. Self-seal lids with screw bands are put on once and for all; caps all in one piece, accompanied by rubber bands for the jars are screwed on, then turned back a quarter-turn for processing. At the end of the processing time, the cap is tightened.

Asparagus requires half an hour in the pressure cooker at 10 pounds pressure. Quart jars take only 5 minutes longer than that.

"Where am I going to get a pressure cooker?" My department continues to be bombarded with that question. Not many cookers are available. New ones now being manufactured will be distributed where they are needed most.

If you don't own a pressure cooker, first of all try to locate some person in your neighborhood who has one, and see if you can't arrange to borrow it. Every owner of a pressure cooker is urged to do a patriotic act by sharing her cooker with as many friends and neighbors as possible.

If you can't locate a cooker which you can borrow, investigate the possibilities of home canning group activity in your vicinty. Many community canning projects are getting under way. In most cases the canning will be done in schools, and there will be instructors present to give advice and supervise canning.

If there's to be no community canning project in your neighborhood, perhaps you can organize one. Pressure cookers will not be available to single families. To obtain one, you'll have to prove a great need for it. If a sufficient number of families gets together and agrees to share a cooker for the summer's canning, a purchase certificate may be issued to them.

To apply for a purchase certificate, send to your county farm rationing committee for the proper form. You and the other persons who agree to share the cooker with you must sign the application, which then is returned to the committee for consideration as to your eligibility to receive the purchase certificate. You will be notified one way or another when your application has been considered and your need determined.

Cook 15 to 20 minutes or until shells turn pink, then drain and remove shells and the black line running along the back. Combine 1 beaten egg yolk with ¼ cup catsup, ⅛ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ½ teaspoon minced onion, and ⅛ teaspoon salt. Fold in 1 egg white, beaten until stiff. Roll shrimp in seasoned fine bread crumbs, dip in egg mixture, and then again in crumbs. Fry in shallow hot fat until lightly browned. Serve at once.

WILSON'S WEEKLY Bulletin

By George Rector

Food and Nutrition Consultant to Wilson & Co.

A DELECTABLE ROAST WITHIN YOUR BUDGET

Those of you who have resigned yourselves to forego roasts during rationing might well take another peek at the table of point values. You will find boneless shoulder roasts much more economical in points than a prime rib roast because all of it is edible. Remember, too, that any meat, whether its point value is high or low, provides high quality nutritional essentials your body requires each day.

SUNDAY DINNER MENU

GELA SEALD LAMB ROAST
(Rolled)
MINT PEARS WITH JELLY
BAKED POTATOES
BUTTERED ASPARAGUS
STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE
MILK COFFEE

Use Bones and Trimmings

Ask your dealer to bone a 3 or 4-lb. shoulder of Wilson's Gela Seald Lamb and roll it. Be sure to take the bones and trimmings with you; they'll make a delicious broth. Wipe meat with a damp cloth, place on a rack in an open pan and roast in a slow oven, 300° F., allowing 40 to 45 minutes per lb. When about half done, season with salt, pepper and just a smidgin of garlic (optional). It's a hit with the carver! 3 lbs., 18 points. Serves 6-8. (If your dealer has previously boned the shoulder, it's 24 points for 3 pounds.)

An Exclusive Process

You will be delighted with Wilson's Gela Seald Meats. They are prepared by a process, exclusive with Wilson & Co., that seals in the original freshness and juiciness of the meat. Keeps the exterior more sanitary, too. Look for the clear gelatine coating and the Gela Seald name the next time you buy beef, veal or lamb.

To prepare any Gela Seald Meat, wipe it carefully with a damp cloth, being careful not to remove the gelatine coating which helps keep a roast more juicy. Then cook according to cut by the new low-temperature method. The drippings from Gela Seald Meats make an extra-delicious brown gravy.

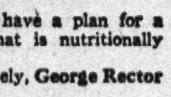
Conserve Points in Dessert

You can save points when making strawberry shortcake by using Wilson's Bake-Rite or Wilson's Certified Margarine for the shortening (5 points per lb.). You'll like the flavor of the dishes made with these fats.



Next week, I'll have a plan for a "carried lunch" that is nutritionally adequate.

Sincerely, George Rector

Several Homes on North Shore Having Visitors

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE presence in town of Mrs. Ernest A. Hamill II. brings the good news that the former Suzette Morton and her children again will be Chicago residents by fall. They went to Washington, D. C., when Lt. Hamill's duties took him there, but as he will be elsewhere by autumn, Mrs. Hamill and her young son and daughter will return here to live.

Mrs. Hamill, who will be here until the end of the week, is staying with her parents, the Sterling Mortons. They are moving out to Lake Forest for the summer today. Mrs. Hamill's Lake Forest house has been rented for the summer to Mrs. Paine Fentress.

The William S. Millers will be welcoming to Winnetka one of their daughters, Mrs. Albert F. Sise, who, with her two children, is arriving Saturday for a two week visit here. Mr. Sise may be able to join his family during their stay. The Sise home is in Wellesley Hills, Mass.

James Reid Shannons at Her Mother's Home.

Right down the street from the Miller home is the household of Mrs. Harry L. Street, which is enlarged at the moment by the presence of Lt. [j. g.] and Mrs. James Reid Shannon and their two sons, John and Reid Jr., whose home is in Denver, Colo. Lt. Shannon is en route to Harvard university for a naval training course, and his wife and sons will remain with her mother for the month of June at least. Mrs. Street has another son-in-law in the navy, Eric Lambert, who now is a lieutenant commander. He and Mrs. Lambert are living in Virginia Beach, Va.

Another Winnetka house with a guest is that of Mr. and Mrs. C. Durand Allen, whose daughter, Mrs. Robert Meleney, has arrived from Langley field for a short visit. Capt. Meleney remained in the south. Another daughter, Mrs. John Patrick Le Poer Trench, the former Susanna Allen, and Lt. [j. g.] Trench are now in Norfolk, Va.

Historic Church to Open Endowment Fund Drive.

A handsomely done little pamphlet that will be distributed at a banquet in the Union Avenue Methodist church tonight contains a message from Mrs. Francis Neilson to the Rev. J. Franklin Clancy, pastor of the church, congratulating him on undertaking the task of raising an endowment fund of $100,000 for the church. It was in the home of Mrs. Neilson's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift, that the church was founded, and the pamphlet contains quotations from her book, "My Father and My Mother," in which she writes often of her parents' interest and regard for the church.

The church was founded on Feb. 18, 1877, as the Winter Street Methodist Episcopal church. Later the name was changed. For 67 years it has been a prominent building in the area of 43d street and Union avenue, where it serves the old and the young of the stock yards neighborhood. Because the resident bishop, the Rt. Rev. Ernest Lynn Waldorf, and other Methodist leaders felt that the church and the parish house should be preserved for community service for future generations, the endowment fund drive was planned. It will be launched tonight.

Dr. Clancy Will Retire After 25 Year Service.

The dinner tonight also will be an occasion for sentiment as it will be announced that Dr. Clancy is to retire in July after 25 years of service. One of his sons, Rockwell F. Clancy, will act as toastmaster. As Mrs. Neilson has left for her summer home, Grey Rock, at Green Lake, Wis., it is doubtful whether

[TRIBUNE Studio Photos.]

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY MARCIA WINN

This Shrinking World.

The lady on the bus was reading the new WPB restrictions on female garments limiting hip girth to 56 inches and ruffles to 3 inches and was being belligerent about it. She was up to her third chin in frills and was sick about the future. "I just love ruffles," she was saying. "John loves me in ruffles, too. I just don't know what I'll do. . . ."

We got to wondering about this:

[Life without ruffles,
Life without truffles,
From this exterior
Must go all we reveria. . . .]

Back in 1522 a gentleman named Magellan set out to paddle his way around the world. It took him 1,083 days. Ladies then wore four dresses at once. First came a jeweled lawn shift. Next was an underdress of silk or satin or fur. Then came a dress with a voluminous trailing skirt, slashed to the waist, and wide flowing sleeves slashed to reveal puffed undersleeves. Over these came a false overdress often of embroidered gold net, and over it came a cloak. The ladies rarely removed these dresses, for they were so busy downing two pieces of beef, a stroke of roast, four loaves of bread, a piece of mutton, a mess of pottage, and four and a half gallons of ale a day that they had no time. They all died young.

In 1872 a Frenchman named Jules Verne dreamed up a phlegmatic Englishman named Phineas Fogg who, having boasted to his club members that he could go around the world in 80 days, took his servant, Passepartout, and did so. This was one-thirteenth of the girdling time of Magellan, and that year the ladies of France were wearing green and looking sallow in it. Those who yearned after their vanished youth wore their hair in two long Marguerite braids, and beneath the hair they wore jet, 18 button gloves, a fan so large it was called a fire screen, and a dress complete with polonaise and train of those new materials, alpaca and mohair. The dress required from 35 to 45 yards of material and could weigh as much as 50 pounds. These ladies, too, died young, and often in their dresses.

In 1938 an American named Howard Hughes flew around the world in a flying machine in 92 hours. This was about a twentieth of the time of Phineas Fogg, and that year the ladies of America were wearing dresses that hit a little below the kneecap, bathing suits without stomachs, no ruffles, no stockings whenever their legs and the weather permitted, and were generally unhappy that they had to wear any clothes at all.

Last year a gentleman named Wendell Willkie managed to girdle the world in 49 days, but this does not count because he stopped to talk to every one on the way. This year a bomber can fly around the world in 38 hours, but if any man does it he keeps quiet. This is less than half the girdling time of Howard Hughes, and ladies, when told they really should wear bathing suits without stomachs, no ruffles, and no stockings, say they want them after all.

Time for June Bride to Pick Dress Is Here

BY REA SEEGER.

Most of the bride-to-be shoppers are sleuthing around in a rosy tinted but very realistic mood. What with the month of June just around the week-end, all the wedding plans just about complete, the fun of selecting wedding gowns and the accessories of veils, gloves, lingerie, and flowers reaches a somewhat fever pitch. Wedding gowns this summer are outstanding buys, for price marks are sensationally modest, timed for war budgeting and made of materials beyond the hampering dictates of the priority rulings.

Some of the loveliest gowns are of sheer cottons, frosted and plain organdies, effective eyelet embroidery, pique, and net. They're made with ruffles, lace insertion, tucks, lace edgings, and applique band trim.

All are super-flattering and young, many of them so designed as to double for party, dinner, and dance dresses all this and next summer. White swishy taffeta slips and some gleaming white satin slips are worn under the gowns.

Traditional wedding gowns of shimmering white and ivory satin are breath takingly beautiful. Many are combined with luxury lace, most of these satin models feature long fitted sleeves and a row of tiny satin covered buttons down the front or back of the fitted basque bodice.

All necklines are high or simulated in a high outline with transparent yokes . . . skirts are very full with the long sweep trains, all tradition stuff which every bride expects . . . and this year more irresistibly feminine than ever before.

Also ready for the rush of June weddings are the exquisite bridal white orchids. These famous Canhamianas are only plentiful, really only available, in May and June. They are large, ruffled, petaled blooms in snowy white with dramatic magenta colored lips. They are unusually large and last a good week with careful attention off duty.

Club Women Nominate for State Officers

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

The stage was set yesterday at the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs' 48th convention for the presidential election, which will be held today. Three districts in the northern region nominated candidates after a drawing for the order of progression to the platform.

The convention, for which the final registration is expected to be 3,000, is being held in the Hotel Sherman.

Luck in the drawing favored the 3d district campaign committee for Mrs. Walter M. Rennie, whom alphabetical progression would have given third place. Mrs. Harold Wood, Mrs. Rennie's successor to the district presidency, made the nominating speech and Mrs. Homer C. Wright, past president of the Beverly Hills Woman's club, Mrs. Rennie's home group, gave the seconding talk.

Mrs. Truman F. Creager's name was presented to the convention by Mrs. T. C. Craig, retiring 2d district president, and the motion seconding the nomination of Mrs. Creager was made by Mrs. Charles L. Gerds.

Mrs. Albert J. Pohlman's candidacy was presented by Mrs. Roy R. Boudrye, 6th district president, and the seconding speech was given by Mrs. Vinton Earl Sisson, past president of the Austin Woman's club, Mrs. Pohlman's home group.

Two candidates for the northern region vice presidency were named: Mrs. Thomas Clyne of the 1st district and Mrs. Burton A. Noyes of the 7th. Mrs. David C. Slagle nominated Mrs. Clyne and Mrs. Charles E. Shaw nominated Mrs. Noyes. Mrs. George O. Smith presented Mrs. Raymond R. Fairfield, unopposed candidate from the 17th district, for the central region vice presidency. The 10th district named Mrs. Harry M. Daugherty for secretary, Mrs. Arthur G. Highgate presenting the candidate, and the 9th district named Mrs. George Lehle for the office, with Mrs. J. G. Waters giving the nominating talk.

Mrs. Preston L. Wettaw, retiring from the state presidency, is the candidate for the Illinois directorship on the board of the general federation. Mrs. Wettaw was the guest speaker at a separate morning assembly of the Junior club, over which Mrs. E. Wayne Michel presided.

The war service report of the federation was presented yesterday by Mrs. William T. Bruckner, chairman of the department and retiring general federation director. Illinois club women, Mrs. Bruckner disclosed, are subordinating all other activities to war work in the Red Cross, U. S. O. centers, and civilian defense organizations and are giving full coöperation to the conservation of vital war materials. Club purchases of war bonds, on incomplete reports, are well over $3,000,000. Many clubs are organizing classes and community forums to study peace plans. Mrs. Bruckner will head a procession this afternoon of women in uniform.

In a report on the Indian welfare department, Mrs. O. A. Rosborough, chairman, told the delegates that two Indian girls for whom the department provided nursing scholarships have been graduated and are now in military service, and 10 others are scholarship students in nursing schools in Chicago.

Ensign's Bride

Mrs. Billy McKee Rothwell.

Mrs. Billy McKee Rothwell is the former Barbara Tilley, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Gustave J. Tilley of Haussen court. Her marriage to Ensign Rothwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Rothwell of St. Louis, Mo., took place on May 24 in the Thorndike Hilton Memorial chapel, with a reception following at the Graemere hotel. The bride is a junior at Knox college.

Annual Open House Meeting Is Held by Group Aiding Blind

More than 600 members and guests of the Blind Service association, an organization founded to give higher education and constructive aid to blind persons, attended the annual open house meeting of the association last night in the Drake hotel. A musical program and motion pictures were presented by the Chicago Schools Army Air Forces Technical Training command.

In the last year, the association provided the Mount Sinai hospital with equipment to care for the blind, equipped five public schools with Braille machines, supplied hot lunches to blind children, gave a Christmas party with groceries and gifts for 1,000 blind persons, and held its annual concert for blind musicians and its annual sale of merchandise made by the blind. It has held monthly entertainment programs for inmates of the Home for the Blind and provided reading rooms for the blind at the association headquarters, 185 North Wabash avenue.

At the meeting, Mrs. Milton Zuckerman was elected as new recording secretary. Other officers reelected included Mrs. Nathan Goldblatt, Mrs. A. Orwin, Milton Smith, and Mrs. Emanuel M. Schwartz, vice presidents; Mrs. Milton D. Smith, corresponding secretary; Miss Henrietta Goldman, financial secretary, and George Bruski, treasurer.

Sally Appeals for Wagon or Bike for Boy

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Can any reader provide a coaster wagon or a bicycle for a small boy who, altho 8 years old, is now having his first taste of normal childhood? This youngster has been seriously underprivileged most of his life, so much so that it became necessary for the court to place him in the care of a children's agency. He has now been provided with a new foster home where he will have necessary attention and affection, but he has no toys. The agency will be glad to arrange transportation if any reader can provide either of the above mentioned items or other suitable playthings. The child's name will not be revealed.

Another child under care of the agency, a boy of 15, would be very grateful for a trombone. He is ambitious and interested in music, and if he had an instrument could receive free instruction and play in the school band.

Instruments of all kinds, including saxophones, trumpets, clarinets, banjos and drums, and orchestrations and music stands have been requested by an aircraft training school on the west side. There are several musicians in the students' body who would be happy to entertain the group if they had the necessary equipment.

Further details will be provided upon request.

she will be present. The church shows other evidences of thoughtfulness on the part of the Swift family than monetary. A favorite memento is a chair that Mr. Swift had made and which stands on the pulpit. Its arms and feet are made of cows' horns that Mr. Swift picked up in the yards.

Miss Dorothy Goes, who completed her junior year at Smith college last week, has gone to Washington, D. C., to visit her college roommate, Miss Marion Schoenfeld. Miss Schoenfeld's father, H. F. Arthur Schoenfeld, recently was recalled from his post as United States ambassador to Finland. From Washington Miss Goes will travel to Philadelphia and to West Point, where she will be the guest during June week of Cadet Benjamin B. Cassiday of Honolulu. Junior Gilbert Scribners Are Parents of Daughter.

Lt. Gilbert H. Scribner Jr. won't see his new daughter, born Tuesday night in the Presbyterian hospital, until he returns from duty with the navy in the Pacific. The baby has been named Helen Eaton for her mother, the former Helen Eaton Shoemaker. Mr. and Mrs. Warren W. Shoemaker and Mr. and Mrs. Scribner Sr. are little Helen's grandparents.

When Mrs. Vail Rhodes Bucklin returned last Friday from Charlotte, Vt., she brought a first hand account of her new granddaughter. The first child of Mr. and Mrs. Bucklin Jr. was born on May 5 in Burlington, Vt., near Charlotte, where young Mr. Bucklin is managing his family's farm. The baby has been named Leslie Constance, the middle name for her mother, the former Mary Constance Matthews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Matthews of Pasadena, Cal. Mr. and Mrs. Bucklin plan to go east again in August.

Thru the Looking Glass

A sophisticated perfume, one of those very dashing scents that you would wear when you want to feel that all other women seem a little dim by comparison to you, is the scent in one of the most interesting of the nonalcoholic colognes. It's wonderful!

First of all, there is the perfume. It's rather new to this country, but it's made history in the year or so that it has been available here. And it deserves to, because it's different and has plenty of character. A little exotic and more than a little alluring, it's the kind of perfume that bolsters the wearer's sense of smartness and intrigues all bystanders. We don't believe for a moment that all women should wear it on all occasions, but it's a honey for the right type who has the right, smart clothes.

It takes to what has come to be known as the "cream" variety of cologne with perfect smoothness. The scent is as exciting and beautiful in this medium as it is in the straight, concentrated perfume. As you know, colognes other than the alcohol variety are a wartime substitute—and very nice, too. In this one the changeover seems particularly successful.

This is a white liquid, even thinner than milk. It's to be used on flesh, never on fabric, and you'll find that it dries instantly and leaves no suggestion of film or stickiness. All that remains is a nice, cool sensation of smoothness and a beautiful fragrance, one that lingers for hours.

Using it helps you conserve your precious straight perfume, which you can apply sparingly. The white liquid, used as a body lotion, completes your perfuming of your person most artfully.

We recommend this to all women who like chic scents.

5,000 Volunteer Help for Salvation Army's 'Doughnut Day' Drive

More than 5,000 women in the Chicago area have volunteered their services in the annual "Doughnut Day" drive to be held on Tuesday, June 8, by the women's division of the Salvation Army, according to Mrs. Henry Paschen, campaign chairman, and vice president of the women's division.

Paper doughnuts will be sold by the volunteers on the streets of the city and suburbs thruout the day, and proceeds will be used in the welfare program of the organization. This includes war service as well as help for the needy on the home front.

Refreshment and recreation centers are operated by the Salvation Army for service men in all parts of the world, with approximately 500 centers in the United States. Hospitals for homeless women and children and unwed mothers, free medical and dental clinics, and summer camps for needy mothers and children are among other projects sponsored by the Salvation Army.

"...a Wife to Raise"

...By Margaret Weymouth Jackson

Copyright: 1943: By Margaret Weymouth Jackson

SYNOPSIS: Paul James, medical student, has been embittered ever since his father was sent to prison seven years ago, after a bank scandal. His mother died of a broken heart and his father died in prison. Paul still hates Will Presser, prosecuting attorney at his father's trial. Dr. John Lockerbie and his wife, Mary Ellen, took Paul into their home at that time and he has lived with them ever since. Mary Ellen is anxious for Paul to marry Sue Craft, who works in Dr. Lockerbie's office, but Paul says he has no time or money for girls. When Polly Richards is murdered and her husband, Lem, the town drunk, is arrested, Paul tries to comfort Isabel, their elder daughter. He kisses her, lends her money, gets her a new job at the university, and helps her with her little sister, Betty.

INSTALMENT X.

SECRET LOVE.

"I've got to see you," Isabel whispered. "O, Paul, when can I?"

He kissed her again, and he heard Sue coming. It was all Paul could do to take his arms away from Isabel and turn toward the door.

"I must get my supper," he said.

"What are you girls going to do?"

"We're going to have supper at Sue's and then go to the show," said Isabel; "but I have to be home by 10. Granny scolds if I'm late."

It was a date Paul understood and he said: "So long," and went on into the house, a deep excitement in him. He tried to subdue his emotion. "I've gone without looking at a girl for so long I act like a fool," he scolded himself. But all the time he knew that he would see Isabel at 10 o'clock. This was the doctor's night to play poker, and unless something unusual happened Paul would be free. At about a quarter to 10 Paul left his books and went straight to Mrs. Richard's. He overtook Isabel, drifting slowly toward home.

"You don't want to go in yet," he said, linking his arm within hers.

"I knew you'd come," she said triumphantly. "Let's go sit on the wall." The stone wall along the hill was an accepted rendezvous for lovers. It took them five minutes to walk there and Paul had kissed her a dozen times before he swung her up on the wall and himself up beside her. Isabel was eager and laughing and Paul knew now what it was about her smile—it was the promise of kisses. She was fragrant, responsive.

"Ah, Isabel—you're sweet!"

"Do you love me, Paul?" she whispered eagerly. "Do you love me a little?" Paul was worried.

"It's just this," he tried to explain, "I can't have a girl. I haven't any time—I'm always broke—I have to work day and night——"

"What has that to do with loving?" she said. "I love you. I'll always love you.."

"I've lived such a hermit," he whispered, his lips against her soft dark hair. "I have to learn——"

She laughed at this softly, with tenderness.

"I'll learn you!" she said and they laughed together.

"I have to go back," he told her. He slipped down from the wall and lifted her down. "Come along home now, Isabel."

She walked docilely beside him, her slender fingers twined in his. Paul asked about her father. She was instantly plunged into worry and Paul saw that her troubles were never far away.

"I just can't—it's so hard for me to go to see him. You can't know how I feel. He's always been in some terrible trouble of some kind She rubbed her cheek to his. Paul she pleaded. "Sue scolds me and Granny scolds and Dr. Conklin scolds—I get so blue. Just be good to me. I need someone to be good to me."

"I won't scold you," he said; "I'll be good to you." She planted a row of tiny kisses across his lips. She rubbed her cheek to his. Paul felt that he could never let her go.

"I'd feel so safe," she murmured, "if we could be married. If we could be married, Paul, I'd feel I had someone of my own."

Paul stood shocked.

"Isabel!" he said. "You know I can't even talk about anything like that. How could I marry anyone—now?"

"We could keep it a secret," she said pleadingly. But Paul had come to his senses.

"No secret marriage," he told her. "That wouldn't help you any. Now—good night. I'll see you tomorrow."

Within a week Paul was in a state of confusion unlike anything he had known before in his life. He was possessed, bewitched with Isabel. He could really think of nothing else, if what he was experiencing could be called thinking. He had been firmly convinced that there was no place in his life for romance. But every day by some miracle of accident or connivance he saw Isabel for at least a little while.

Yet, altho he was experiencing a wild happiness and delight, it was not unmixed with doubts and trouble. In spite of himself, Paul knew how Isabel looked to Mary Ellen. Mary Ellen had the town's prejudices. To her mind Isabel was under a cloud. It seemed so darn mean to be critical of Isabel, to find fault with her when she was so young, so sweet, and in such trouble. Yet he could not ignore the thought that some of Mary Ellen's disapproval was justified.

When Isabel bought a tweed skirt and a wool sweater and a pair of saddle shoes instead of paying debts he felt that Mary Ellen was right. He argued hotly with himself. The child couldn't wear Sue's old clothes all winter! What if she were childish about money? He was, himself, too stingy to breathe, he told himself. Was that such a wonderful virtue? In strong reaction he tapped his Commencement savings for twenty-five dollars so that he would have some money in his pocket. Isabel liked small treats. He would have to trust more to the future and not be so cautious.

But the worst thing of all was the ready way in which Isabel talked of love and marriage. It made Paul grave to realize that he had to have enough sense of responsibility for two.

In the midst of all this turmoil Mr. Anthony Palton, little Elaine Hartsdale's grand-uncle, came from Ohio. He took a room at the hotel in University Town where he could be near his niece. Every day he came to Hilltown in a hired car to see little Elaine and the Lockerbies. He was a dry little old bachelor, deaf, dignified, and self-contained. He was grateful that Mary Ellen wanted to keep the child as long as possible. He took great interest in Paul, who was, to be honest, scarcely aware of the old gentleman. But Sue was willing to talk about Paul and in his own mind the old man wove a pretty little romance about the doctor's two young people. Dr. Kittering was no longer encouraging about Mrs. Hartsdale, and Mr. Palton waited in patient sadness for her death.

"We hope, of course, that she will recover," Dr. Lockerbie told him, "but I want you to know that, in the event of her death, we would like to keep Elaine for our own."

"We'll see," the other said. "I can't imagine anything more fortunate for the child than to be here with your good wife, Doctor—but—we'll see.."

Early in December, Mary Ellen entertained what was called, in simple dignity, The Hilltown Eating Club. It was the men who played poker together, and their wives. It was a glutton's club of high order. They made a fetish of picnics, of Sunday night pitch-in suppers. They were cooks, organizers, of great excellence.

"By all that's right," Paul said, watching Mary Ellen baste the crackling skin of the fresh ham she had stuffed with garlic and roasted in a slow oven all day long—"the whole bunch should be dead with diabetes or Bright's disease. And none of you are even fat except Hoke's wife. It's disgraceful!"

Paul carried in a big log for the living room fire. Sue and Isabel were in the kitchen, helping.

Isabel said, now, "I'll hold the door open for you, Paul." He put the log on the fire and kissed her quickly. Mary Ellen came in from the kitchen with Sue behind her.

"If there's nothing more we can do we might as well go along, Sue," said Isabel, and Mary Ellen answered, "I think you've done all you can," with double meaning. Paul finished and the girls went out.

"I certainly hope Sue isn't hooked with Isabel," said Mary Ellen. "Just because she's kind, she's likely to get stuck with her. She doesn't know how to put Isabel in her place."

"And what is Isabel's place?" asked Paul stiffly, and Mary Ellen said: "Oh go peddle your papers.."

Studying in his room Paul could hear the laughter and fun downstairs. For the first time since he had lived in the doctor's household he got up and went out without telling anyone. He went to Richard's. Isabel was alone by the parlor stove.

"I'm going to tell the Lockerbies and Sue and all of them that you're my girl," Paul said, throwing his leather windbreaker down and standing by the stove. "We act as tho there were some reason we couldn't be sweethearts. From now on, everyone's to understand.."

But Isabel could always surprise him. Now she didn't seem to like this idea. When Paul pressed her for a reason she said: "They'll try to turn you against me!" Paul scoffed at this but Isabel insisted it was true.

"Mary Ellen Lockerbie doesn't like me," Isabel said, her lips trembling. "She won't want you to go with me."

"What nonesense!" Paul scolded. "Anyhow, she has nothing to do with it. Why should she care?"

"Well, she does care. She thinks I'm not good enough for you."

Paul felt an acute stab of pain. He was furious that Isabel could say such a thing about herself.

"That's the silliest thing ever heard," he cried, loud and angry. "You talk as tho Mary Ellen were a snob."

Satisfy Child's Curiosity and HelpHimLearn

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"We have 3 year old twins, a boy and a girl, and I'm anxious to know what I should begin to teach them. I read to them as much as possible, but they'll only listen for a few minutes, then they are off on some tack of their own," writes a conscientious mother.

"I've tried to get them to color pictures both in books and on cards, but before I can turn around they are either scribbling on some other paper or breaking the crayons to pieces.

"Jackie tries to take his toys apart, and Ruthie wants to undress all her dolls no matter how prettily they may be dressed. She finds a totally naked doll highly preferable to one in clothes.

"I've never had much to do with children of any age, that is, the training of them, so I'm at a loss to know just when the serious business of teaching little children should begin."

Teaching, as such, has no place in the young child's life. He's bent on finding out all there is to know about the world he's come into, and in the process of doing so he's learning as fast as he is able. About all we need to do is to make conditions favorable for this learning: Give him opportunity to satisfy his curiosity in it and provide channels for his ceaseless activity. And that's a great deal.

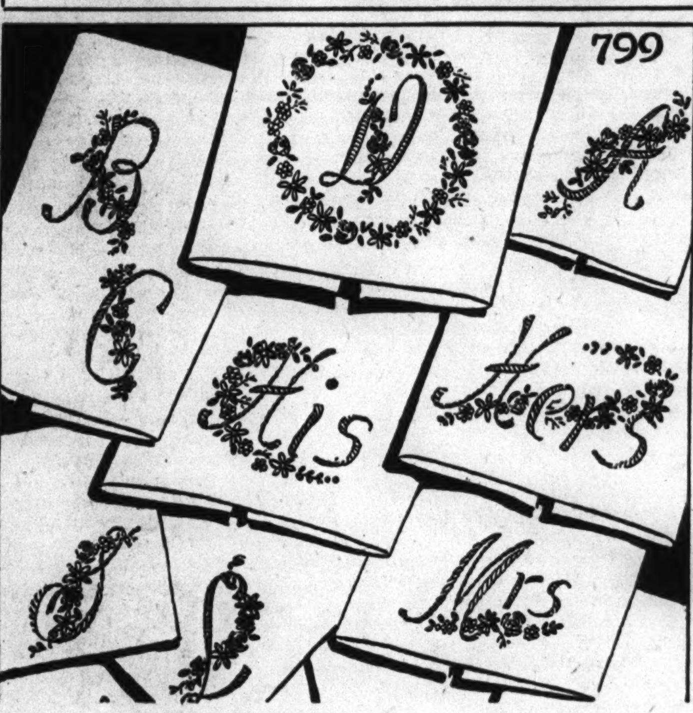
Curiosity is a major urge in a young child, for, to him, the world is chock full of new and wonderful things. With so many distractions, his attention doesn't stay on any one thing for many minutes; the power of concentration comes later. He tries to take his toys apart to see what makes the wheels go 'round, but that doesn't mean that he is, or will be, destructive. He's simply curious.

Children always seem to love the battered toy dogs, minus ears or tails; the dolls with one arm or leg and the teddy bears sans their button eyes. Looks don't mean a thing; as a matter of fact, the very appearance which their grownups deplore often makes the toy or doll more lovable to little children. Haven't you known a child to weep and protest because in desperation you washed a favorite woolly animal or dressed a dolly in pretty new clothes?

Learning at the tender age of 3 has to be a spontaneous thing, something from within reaching out. But we must, of course, guide, satisfy, and encourage it with response and materials, too.

To do this, supply your little boy or girl with the right playthings, books, materials for physical and manual activity, giving them plenty of outlets for this tremendous bodily energy they possess and must use. If they don't feel the urge to create their own pictures with pencils or crayons, let them alone and don't set them to filling in with color set designs or pictures. Simply watch them and if you notice a preference in any particular field of play, try to put the proper materials at his or her disposal.

Motifs for Hand Towels



BY NANCY CABOT.

Embroidery motifs for hand towels are popular summer embroidery themes. The complete set of initials and dainty pairs of "His" and "Hers" and "Mr." and "Mrs." are surrounded with dainty floral scrolls. These initials and sets, measure about 2 inches high. Either a satin or outline stitch may be used.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of the alphabet and motifs for finger towels, No. 799, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Good Morning!

Looking perfectly GORGEOUS in technicolor, Maria Montez and Jon Hall play the romantic rôles in this newest never-never chronicle of the South Sea isles.

She is Tahia, a princess, ruler of Temple Island. He's Kaloe, a shark hunter, to whom—because of a misunderstanding—she has refused a fishing concession in the shark infested canal which COULD provide him with rich rewards. ... Sabu is a mischievous lad who loves the two of them and is persistent in attempts to fix things up between them.

Thomas Gomez plays a sinister café owner who knows there's gold at the bottom of the temple pool and endeavors to get the deed to the island thru the corruption of Tahia's drinking, gambling young brother—played by Turhan Bey. ... Sidney [Charlie Chan] Toler is a combination lawyer, doctor, detective, and what have you who sides with the shark fisherman ...

And there you pretty nearly have the story—enough to chew on until you see the movie.

The action, never in the least credible, is menacing and amusing by turns and has a sort of fairy tale charm. The colors are beautiful, and "White Savage" is bound to please immensely folks who go in for this type of movie.

See you tomorrow.

4 EASY WAYS TO MAKE SHOES LAST LONGER

1. Let shoes "rest" by alternating 2 pairs. Wear one pair, dry other pair on shoe trees.
2. Keep shoes dry. If wet, dry on shoe trees or stuff with paper. Don't use heat! Shine with SHINOLA.
3. Repair shoes promptly—uppers, soles, and heels.
4. Shine shoes daily with SHINOLA Liquid or Paste. SHINOLA's blended waxes help seal out dirt and weather—help "feed" the leather, keep it limber, prevent deep cracks. See how quickly shoes shine!

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., May 26.—Jesse Lasky feels the part of George Gershwin in "Rapsody in Blue" should definitely be played by an unknown. Lasky has tested two important men for it—one, Richard Waring, who was leading man with Ethel Barrymore in "The Corn Is Green," the other, Robert Alda, a young stock player from the east. Jesse tells me it's a tossup between the two, and in order to decide tests will be run for Warners producers and some exhibitors who will act as judges. The one they pick gets the rôle. Both men, incidentally, have been given contracts by Jack Warner. . . . Look for Dorothy McGuire in "The Eve of St. Mark," Maxwell Anderson's Broadway success, for which Twentieth Century paid $300,000 and which Bill Perlberg will produce. She's the only one set so far, and this before finishing her first picture, "Claudia." . . . Laraine Day is the chosen one for the lead in "Dr. Wassell." She'll play Mrs. Wassell.

It's Tough Here.

Sol Lesser discovered it's going to be a very different setup and practically impossible to do a Hollywood canteen picture. Our stars aren't as easy to obtain as the stage stars he got for "Stage Door Canteen." But the battle goes on, with Sol undoubtedly on the losing end. . . . David Selznick has mentioned so many names for Shirley Temple's mother in "Since You Went Away." But Janet Gaynor's fans write me clamoring for Janet to play it. And wouldn't she be swell? . . . Tyrone Power's bedroom has been made over into a nursery for Annabella's sister's baby, due soon. Tyrone will be graduated May 31, when Annabella hopes he'll have ten days' leave in Hollywood. . . . Van Heflin and wife had a night at Ciro's before her baby arrives.

Farewells Delayed.

Because the picture, "Russia," unlike the country, is way behind schedule, they had what might have been a very serious setback when Robert Taylor was called for army induction. He packed his duds, went to the studio to say goodby, and the studio howled, "You can't go till the picture's finished!" Well, they had to get Washington and lots of officials to get another deferment. Bob was ready and wanted to be off. . . . Hedy Lamarr and John Loder have their license to wed. The marriage will take place any minute. Hedy's reversed the usual procedure of our girls who've married men years younger than themselves. John is much older. And are they in love!

Face Still Red.

Poor Brenda Joyce had a miserable time flying west. She was grounded at Fort Worth, then told she could get a priority, and landed in a plane filled with ferry command pilots. She up and got air sick, and the boys took care of her. Husband Owen has six more weeks to go at Fort Benning, Georgia. . . . . Now that Bill Lundigen's off to join the marines, Marguerite Chapman gave him a picture when she was a gawky kid of nine. When asked why it wasn't a pretty one she said, "All the boys in camp have Hollywood pinup girls. I want Bill's to be different." . . . Now I'll be darned if the Columbia praisery hasn't gone out to glamorize Holsteins, trying to make them the cover girls of the cow family! They've got 15 of them for "Without Notice." And since the cover girls fled from their gilded mansion and moved to the Garden of Allah, the watchman employed to guard them has lost his job.

I'll Bite—Why?

Harry Rapf started something I'm hoping other producers will follow. He took his last picture, with his own projection machine and all, down to Santa Ana and entertained the men in service. He plans to do it with as many new films as he can get. All our producers and most big stars have projecting machines, and run new pictures in their own homes for six or eight people. Why wouldn't it be better to show them to five or ten thousand—Yes?

Stage Note

Business is terrific at the Erlanger theater, where Katherine Cornell's production of Chekhov's "The Three Sisters" is now in its second week. The special matinée today, for the benefit of the actors' fund, sold out so quickly that the management has decided to offer one additional matinée next Monday afternoon. This announcement calls for prompt action from those eager to obtain matinée seats, for "The Three Sisters" has sold out at every performance since its opening on May 17.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

It is not stating any profound truth to observe that a plan of defense that provides against two contingencies is sounder than another plan that provides against only one. Consider this deal:

West, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠Q 4 3 2
♥A Q 6 3
♦10 7 6 4

WEST

EAST
♥J 9 5 2
♦K Q J 8 5

SOUTH
♠J 10 9 8 6
♥K 8 4
♦A 9
♣K Q 9

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 club	Pass	1 diamond	1 spade
2 clubs	2 spades	Pass	3 spades
Pass	4 spades	Pass	Pass
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the spade king and after seeing dummy's singleton club, concluded that the best defense was to stop club ruffs in dummy. To that end he continued with the ace and his last spade. This was taken in dummy and a club was led to the king. West won and shifted to diamonds, East's jack forcing the ace. Declarer now ruffed his low club with dummy's last trump, returned to the heart king, and cashed the club queen and his last two trumps, discarding diamonds from the dummy. On the last trump lead, East found himself in deep water. He saw that it would be vital to guard dummy's heart suit, but in order to do so it was necessary to discard every one of his diamonds. Declarer, who had not failed to notice the discard of the king and queen of diamonds, now calmly cashed the diamond nine, then collected the A-Q of hearts for the fulfilling trick.

It was not unnatural for West to want to prevent the impending ruffs of clubs in dummy, but it was quite unnecessary to play the third round of spades immediately. West could do this after he got on lead with the club ace. Meanwhile, it would be possible to investigate the diamond situation and find out whether East had a first round trick in that suit or a trick that would need promotion. Thus, the correct defense was for West to shift to a diamond after playing one round of spades. If East could win with the ace the defenders would be safe, and on a club return from East, West could return to his plan of leading two more rounds of trumps. Actually, of course, the diamond lead would have brought the jack from East and the ace from declarer. Then, when declarer led a club, West would have to go up with the ace and play his remaining diamond to insure the contract's defeat.

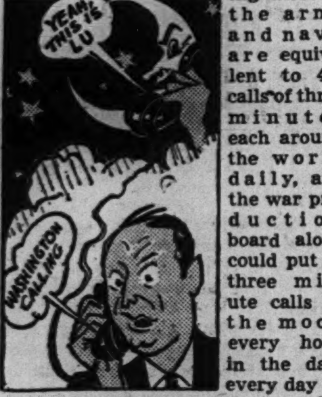
BYRD ASSAILS HUGE U.S. WASTE ON PHONE CALLS

Travel and Wire Tolls Called Extravagant.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 26.—Government long distance telephone calls, excluding those of the army and navy, are equivalent to 495 calls of three minutes each around the world daily, and the war production board alone could put in three minute calls to the moon every hour in the day, every day in the year, for its same annual telephone bill.



That's the graphic description of the magnitude of government long distance calls provided tonight by the congressional joint committee on reduction of nonessential federal expenditures.

Charges 100 Millions.

Hitting the extravagant traveling, telephone and telegraph expenses of federal agencies, the committee in a special report estimated that such costs, again excluding the army and navy, will reach 100 million dollars this year.

"In my opinion some of these expenditures for traveling, telephoning and telegraphing of certain agencies of the government are so excessive as to warrant immediate action by congress," commented Sen. Harry Flood Byrd [D., Va.], chairman of the committee.

Compared with the 1941 fiscal year, the board of economic warfare, headed by Vice President Henry A. Wallace, himself quite a traveler, showed the biggest increase for the current fiscal year. Its travel bill this year is likely to reach a total of $634,574.

Hopkins' Bill High.

The lend-lease administration, overseered by Harry L. Hopkins, is running up a communications bill which will run 10,111 per cent above that of 1941, according to the Byrd committee. Its estimated communications bill this year will be $88,937, compared with $871 in 1941.

The federal communications commission itself is one of the worst offenders in its use of telephone, telegraph, and cable services, increasing its communications expenditures to $636,308, compared with only $40,116 in 1941.

The committee found that a total of $15,573,834 was spent on communications by the federal government, excluding the war and navy departments, during the first six months of the current fiscal year, with the office of war information topping the list with a bill of $1,812,062 for the period, or nearly 12 per cent of the total.

Loses in Suit

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
RUTH DE WAR.

An all woman jury before Judge Burton A. Roth in Circuit court yesterday returned a verdict against Miss Ruth De War, 18 years old, 2448 Irving Park road, in her $100-000 damage suit against Silas A. Jayne, owner of the Green Tree stables in Norwood Park.

Miss De War's suit charged that Jayne had frightened a horse she was riding in an enclosure at the stables, causing it to throw her to the ground. She suffered a fractured spine.

The injury was received March 21, 1942, her suit alleged. She had been riding with John Boden, now in the army, and Jayne had run out on the track and seized Boden's horse by the bridle, the sudden action frightening Miss De War's mount, according to her testimony.

HOLDS JOHN D. JR. FORCED ACTION ON JACKSON HOLE

Washington, D. C., May 26 (AP).—Sen. Edward V. Robertson [R., Wyo.] accused the interior department today of bowing to an ultimatum of John D. Rockefeller Jr. in establishing the Jackson Hole national monument in Wyoming.

His statement came during a hearing by the house public lands committee on a bill by Rep. Frank A. Barrett [R., Wyo.] seeking annulment of a Presidential order which created the 221,000 acre monument adjoining Teton National park.

Newton B. Drury, national parks director, had read to the committee a letter in which Rockefeller told the department that he did not feel he could hold "much longer" the 32,000 acres of lands he owns within the monument area and which he has proposed to give to the government for park purposes. He explained he was "reducing his obligations and burdens" and felt it necessary to dispose of the Wyoming lands in some way.

"I feel," said Sen. Robertson, "that Rockefeller definitely delivered an ultimatum to the secretary [Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes], and that the park service sought to help Rockefeller on his tax problem."

VOTE TO TIGHTEN CONGRESS' HOLD ON F.D.R.'S FUNDS

Act to Prohibit Shifts of Cash to Agencies.

Washington, D. C., May 26 (AP).—A new move to tighten congressional control over federal spending was taken today as the senate appropriations committee voted to prohibit President Roosevelt from using emergency war funds to finance controversial agencies.

The committee first set aside a house prohibition against using any of the 200 million dollar White House money chest to finance the national resources planning board, or the farm security administration. Then it wrote into a $143,639,591 urgent deficiency appropriation bill a general ban against the fund's use for:

"The functions of any agency of the government for which appropriations have been duly made by congress, or for functions for which estimates have been submitted by the budget, and for which congress has failed to make appropriations."

Exempt War and Navy Units.

Exempted are the war and navy departments, which committee members said might need emergency financing from time to time. The amendment also would not restrict use of the President's fund for emergencies connected with the war where no fund appeal has been made to congress.

Sen. Millard E. Tydings [D., Md.] told reporters the ban was designed to prevent the President from overriding congress to supplement revenues allowed agencies, or to finance them entirely after congress has denied them funds.

The NRPB, the Home Owners Loan corporation, and the FSA are among the New Deal agencies which have been the target of recent congressional restrictions.

Vote NRPB $200,000.

The senate committee approved $200,000 for the NRPB in the independent offices appropriations bill on which debate will be resumed tomorrow. Chairman Kenneth McKellar [D., Tenn.] is seeking to raise this amount to $534,000. The agency, headed by Frederic A. Delano, uncle of the President, has been financed largely by transfers from the President's fund.

The committee voted to eliminate from the bill a house provision barring payment of salaries to Robert Morss Lovett, secretary of the Virgin Islands government, and Goodwin B. Watson and William E. Dodd Jr., federal communications commission employés. The three were accused by the Dies and Kerr committees of the house of having been affiliated with subversive organizations.

ASK SUBURBAN AID IN MAILING RATION BOOKS

Suburban residents were asked last night to join Chicago volunteers in preparing 18 million No. 3 war ration books for mailing thruout the midwest office of price administration region.

At least 20,000 volunteers are needed to transfer names and serial numbers from application forms to ration books and to insert the books in envelopes, Raymond S. McKeough, regional OPA administrator, said. Volunteers, who may select any of four work periods of a few hours each, are asked to register at one of the following schools:

Austin High, Pine avenue entrance; Calumet High, May street at 81st street; Marshall High, 3231 Monroe street; Schurz High, 4303 Waveland avenue, and Senn High, Ardmore and Ridge avenues.

Volunteers will start work June 1. The ration book mailing will begin June 20.

Mighty Mites of the U. S. Navy

Like a streak of lightning, the bouncing, bucking P-T Boats dash in close to play havoc with the huge Jap warships.

These midget warships of the U. S. Navy have won the acclaim of the nation's fighting men . . . and the call is for more and more.

That call will be answered, too. For Electric Power, the energy of war production, is fast at work. Speeding every operation of manufacture—the cutting and grinding . . . the welding and riveting . . . the fitting and assembling—Electric Power is helping to turn out P-T Boats in mass production.

Our wartime assignment is the supplying of Electric Power to the factories producing vital parts for P-T Boats and to all the other war plants in Northern Illinois. This job is our chief endeavor until victory is won.

NEW YORK CLIPS DERRINGER IN EARLY INNINGS

Bill Jurges Drives in Two Runs.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The seventh place New York Giants, who teased the Cubs by waiting till the ninth inning to beat the Chicagoans in New York on May 13 and again on May 14, befuddled our cellar boys yesterday by changing their technique to early accomplishment. The Giants grabbed four runs in the first three innings, their total in a 4 to 2 New York victory.

In the May 14 game in New York the Cubs made 11 hits off Bill Lohrman, but scored only two runs, one on a triple and an infield out, the other on three singles; yesterday they made 12 hits off this same Lohrman, and both runs this time were driven home on infield outs.

Lou Novikoff, recent holdout, making his 1943 debut, was up four times, but failed to make a hit or advance any of four base runners who were on when he was swinging. All the other Cubs in the starting lineup, excepting Paul Derringer, the losing pitcher, hit safely, but none connected for anything lustier than a single, symbol of Cub power most of the time in this cellar dwelling span.

Bartell Starts Giant Rally.

The Cubs, just off a train from the east, where they had lingered two days to see it rain in Syracuse, seemed excited in those productive Giant three innings. Maybe they were too worked up about Novikoff—but regardless, they didn't look adequate.

Dick Bartell launched the game by socking Derringer's first pitch for a single to center. Bill Jurges bounced out to Heinz Becker, then Len Merullo tried to spear Bartell at third after picking up Buster Maynard's grounder. Stan Hack fumbled the throw, however, so Bartell was on third and Maynard on first. Mel Ott lifted a high fly under which Eddie Stanky staggered, then misjudged by 10 feet. It plunked for a single, Bartell scoring. Two infield outs followed.

Jurges Drives in Pair.

The runs which were enough for New York victory purposes got home with two out in the second inning. Napoleon Reyes singled with one down and was forced by Lohrman. Bartell then bashed a double to left, Lohrman stopping at third. Jurges singled to right, scoring Lohrman and Bartell.

In the third the Giants got the run they didn't need. There was a single by Ott, two outs, and a single by Mickey Witek, which scored Ott. After this not a Giant got on base off Derringer until the seventh. Bartell then socked a single, his third hit, and promptly was doubled on Jurges' liner to Stanky. Kewpie Barrett finished up, holding the New Yorkers to a double by Ernie Lombardi and a single by Witek.

Todd Gets Another Hit.

The Cubs scored in the fourth and seventh innings. In the fourth Peanuts Lowrey beat out a bunt and reached third when Bill Nicholson dumped a single in left, first of his three hits in a row. Lowrey scored while Witek was throwing out Stanky. Novikoff popped to Jurges and Becker bounced to Reyes.

Becker opened the seventh with a single along the right field line. Ott showed results of his Polo Grounds billiards training by taking the carom off the boxes and holding Heinz to a single. Al Todd followed with the second of his two singles. Then Stu Martin, batting for Derringer, grounded out to Bartell, Becker scoring.

Three Indiana U. Football Stars Sent to Camp Croft

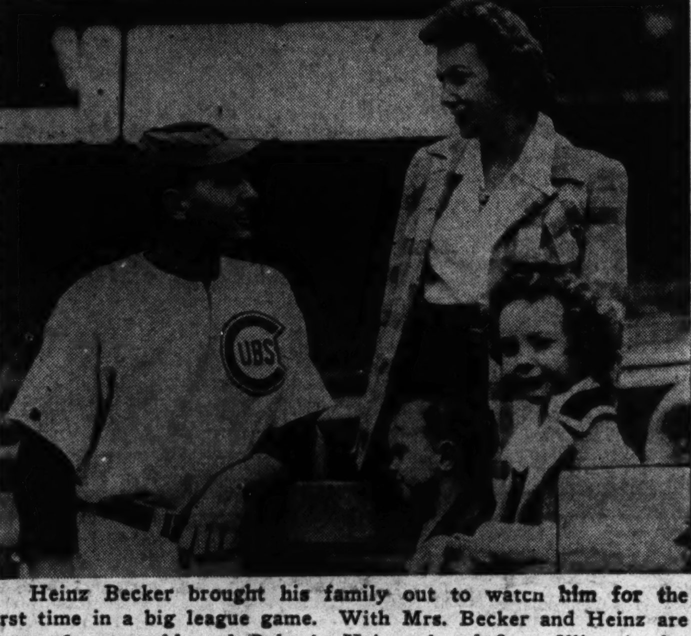
WRIGLEY FIELD HOMECOMING

Lou Novikoff's first big league effort of 1943—a ground ball to Second Baseman Mickey Witek in the second inning of yesterday's game between the Cubs and Giants. Ernesto Lombardi is the New York catcher and Babe Pinelli the umpire. Lou later had three more chances and made three more outs. To make it worse, the Cubs lost, 4 to 2.



Heinz Becker brought his family out to watch him for the first time in a big league game. With Mrs. Becker and Heinz are Betty, 6 years old, and Bob, 4. Heinz played first, filling in for Phil Cavarretta, who is under suspension until Saturday for a run-in with Umpire Lou Jorda last Sunday in Boston. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

Sox, Athletics Idle; Plan to Play Tonight

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., May 26.—The whimsical weather man gave the White Sox some more of his unwelcome attention today. So Manager James Dykes wasn't able to introduce himself and company to Connie Mack's Athletics. However, there is some hope they'll be able to get together tomorrow night under the Shibe park lights as scheduled, and if they really play it will be the first engagement of the season between the two teams. The Athletics were recent Chicago visitors, but were confined to their hotel quarters by rainfall.

Twelve Games Behind Schedule.

Today's postponement put the Sox 12 games behind their schedule. Nine of these must be played off in Comiskey park. Six of them are with six different teams. The three others are those recent Athletic washouts. Two postponements in St. Louis also must be taken care of.

The venerable Mack was right proud of his boys as he led them home from a western tour in which they won 6 out of 10, but his joy over this performance was dimmed by the fact that the populace failed to become aroused. The reason is those Phils, who, by their high stepping, have pushed the Athletics almost out of the local spotlight.

Mack to Use Rookie Pitcher.

Mack, who always is turning up something new in baseball talent, is going to let the Sox have a look tomorrow night at the right handing of a fellow named Orie Arntzen, who was schooled at the A's farm at Williamsport, Pa. Dykes probably will stick to his original plan to have Johnny Humphries, the electric light specialist, take care of the Sox mound chores.

HLAD SEEKS 1ST CENTRAL MEET HURDLE CROWN

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Charley Hlad, the former Michigan Normal hurdler who won the Western conference high and low hurdle championships this year, will have an extra chance Saturday to win a Central Collegiate title in Marquette stadium. While competing in these games for three years for Michigan Normal, he never was able to realize this ambition.

Hlad now competes for the University of Chicago where he is a student in the army meteorology school. He is eligible as a service athlete for the 18th Central Collegiate meet, and because of his Big Ten triumphs, is favored to win both hurdle events Saturday night.

In 1940, as a sophomore, Hlad was third in the C. C. C. high hurdles, which was won by Ed Smith of Wisconsin. He was eliminated in the 220 yard low hurdle trials. In 1941 he finished second in the high hurdles and was beaten by Gilder Farrow of Xavier of New Orleans. Harold Stickel of Pittsburgh, who tied the meet record in the low hurdles last year, defeated him in both the 1941 and 1942 low hurdle races.

Holds Other Titles.

Bill Cummins of Rice Institute whipped him in the high hurdles last June. Thus, Hlad never has won a Central Collegiate championship altho, in this span of competition, he won a National A. A. U. junior title and was regarded as one of the finest hurdlers in the nation.

Hlad won his qualifying race in the recent Big Ten high hurdles in the exceptional time of 14.1 seconds. This time was only one-tenth of a second slower than the Western conference record and, if Hlad can match it Saturday, he will establish a new Central mark.

Two other former Central Collegiate competitors will appear Saturday by virtue of their service status. They are Charles Beaudry, Marquette sprinter, who won the 220 yard dash in 1940, and Emmett Welch, Marquette high jumper.

Welch Faces Milne.

Welch will compete against Jim Milne of Michigan State, who is one of the two defending champions in the 18th annual meet. Milne won the high jump last year at 6 feet 4 inches and has a best mark of 6 feet 6⅛ inches. Milne is enlisted in the army paratroops and will report for duty immediately after graduation.

Michigan State, runnerup to Notre Dame for the indoor Central Collegiate team championship, scored 84 points last Saturday to win the Michigan intercollegiate crown. Capt. Bill Scott, who won the mile in 4:22, is another of the Spartans' outstanding athletes. He also won the indoor C. C. C. mile. He will match strides Saturday night with Clarence Dunn of Illinois, Western conference mile champion, Virgil Alston of Miami [O.] university, and Cy Perkins of De-Kalb Teachers, who won the I. I. C. title last week.

Johnny Liggett, a half miler, is another Michigan State star. He ran this distance Saturday in 1:57, which will place in Milwaukee, even if it is not fast enough to beat the Big Ten conference champion, Bob Kelley of Illinois. Dale Kaulitz, quarter miler; Jerry Page, 2 miler; Leonard Nabb, javelin thrower, and Bob McCarthy, sprinter, are others Michigan State expects to score.

C.D.G.A. Pep Talk Does Big Job for Golf

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The determination of officials of the executive board of the Chicago District Golf association to carry on the game in this section to the fullest extent commensurate with the war is reflected with encouraging consistency thruout the replies to a questionnaire circulated recently by THE TRIBUNE. Thirty-six of the 62 member clubs of the organization have answered the questionnaire to date in this special wartime survey.

The attitude of those clubs, judged by their answers, is a testimonial to the plans of the C. D. G. A. as set forth last winter by President Thomas G. McMahon and his colleagues. That program, geared to the war primarily, was designed to encourage member clubs to keep their courses and clubhouses open thruout the 1943 season in the face of such obstacles as transportation, man power shortages, and food rationing.

Encourages Golf Clubs.

The C. D. G. A. stand, taken at a time when many clubs were in the dark as to the future of the game, could not have been more appropriate. It proved to be the green light for a large majority of the clubs in the district, and concrete evidence of the area's spirit is shown in the widespread schedule of events a number of clubs will hold over the coming Memorial day week-end.

The aforementioned questionnaire, which was sent to the presidents of each of the 62 C. D. G. A. clubs, contained such questions as: Will you keep the clubhouse open for all activities? What changes, if any, have you made to meet wartime conditions? How are you meeting the man power situation with regard to clubhouse, course maintenance and caddies? What plans are you making to solve the transportation problem? Is your 1943 membership approximately up to 1942 par?

Here Are More Reports.

In yesterday's first article of the survey, Oak Park, Ridgemoor, Idlewild, Ridge, and Sunset Ridge presented their replies. Today, the following clubs make their reports:

South Shore Country club—Membership, with over-all increase of 100, includes 150 newcomers and 50 special army and navy memberships. Clubhouse will be open for all activities. Hazards that slowed up play have been removed, tees have been enlarged, and some trees have been planted. Older men are being used in locker rooms. Some bunkers have been removed to reduce labor. Caddy situation is O. K., tho the boys are smaller. Club has increased pay of larger and better caddies by putting in A and B classes. Members are asked to omit seldom used clubs from their bags. Caddy recreation grounds have been improved. Fifty per cent of membership lives within walking distance, 80 per cent within three miles. Illinois Central Electric and Chicago Motor coaches stop at club entrance. Club will hold a full tournament schedule with exception of fathers' and sons' event. The main invitational, Howdy day, was held last Saturday.

Knollwood club—The club plans to maintain its regular standards, even tho modified to conform to war conditions. New staff includes George Gammon, manager and supervising professional; James Weager, assistant professional; Lester Kelley, swimming pool manager, and Benjamin Ubing, locker room manager. Joe Beutucci enters his 17th year as greenskeeper. Plan to extend dining room facilities to include Thursday and Sunday dinners in clubhouse if patronage warrants it. The clubhouse will be used for women golfers' locker room. Meals will be served in the regular locker room grill. The clubhouse dining porch will be used for larger events. The club offers, in addition to golf, facilities for swimming, tennis, and riding.

Flossmoor Country club—Membership is 10 per cent under 1942 par. From 10 to 15 members, including former ones, have joined club. Clubhouse activity will be somewhat curtailed. The club is playing war or winter rules and has a provision for members to maintain traps. Several traps rated unnecessary have been filled in. Clubhouse service has been cut. On man power, Flossmoor is using clubhouse help not subject to the draft; has reduced the course maintenance force, and is using smaller boys and carts for caddying. There will be limited service from the Illinois Central Electric at Flossmoor to the club. The annual Flossmoor Frolic will not be held. The dining room will be aided by a victory garden. Charles F. Palmer is president.

Riverside Golf club—Riverside will celebrate its 50th anniversary on July 3. Membership is ahead of 1942 par. Until May 7, 35 new members had joined. Clubhouse will be open for all activities. Only expected service curtailment will be in dining room. Professional Jimmy Meehan also is manager. A woman cook instead of a man is now employed for dining room, and some high school boys are working part time on course maintenance. The caddy situation is good, because of the numerous villages surrounding the club. Swimming pool will be open as usual with a large membership. Club is fortunate in transportation facilities. It is 27 minutes from loop on C. B. & Q., with taxi service available for one mile ride from station. La Grange suburban car line is virtually at club entrance, at 26th street and Des Plaines avenue. Most members can use A cards to drive to club. Riverside plans to hold its annual Harvest Home in September. Dr. S. S. Fuller is president.

CHICAGO LOSES 10TH STRAIGHT; SAILORS WIN, 6-5

The 87th Street Navy Training school handed the University of Chicago's Maroons their 10th straight loss of the baseball season, 6 to 5, on Greenwood field on the Midway yesterday. Today 14 Maroons are scheduled to leave for their final contests of the season against Minnesota tomorrow and Saturday. Yesterday's score:

REDSKINS AND COLLEGIANS TO BATTLE AUG. 25

BY ARCH WARD.

The 10th annual All-Star football game, widely regarded as America's greatest sports spectacle, will be played between the Washington Redskins, champions of the National league, and a squad of college headliners in Dyche stadium, Evanston, the night of Aug. 25. Profits of the game will be donated to the Chicago Service Men's centers operated by Mayor Edward J. Kelly and Mrs. Kelly.

Mrs. Edward J. Kelly.

The site of the contest has been changed from Soldiers' field where last year 101,000 spectators saw the Chicago Bears defeat the All-Stars, 21 to 0, to Dyche stadium for three reasons. They are:

[2] To restrict attendance, as far as possible, to fans in the metropolitan area in conformity with the wishes of the office of defense transportation.

[3] To give more people an opportunity to "see" the game.

Record Gift to War Charity.

The net proceeds of last year's contest, which amounted to $153,945.92, were contributed to army emergency relief and navy relief. Almost $112,000 of that sum was raised by the distribution of 50 yard line tickets to fans who donated $100 to the army fund. No other single sports event has raised as much for war charity as the 1942 All-Star game.

The prices for this year's game will return to the old scale—$4.40, $3.30, and $2.20—with the exception of 3,000 box seats, which will be sold for $6.60.

Despite the fact that many of last year's collegiate headliners now are in the service of their country, the All-Star squad is expected to compare favorably with its predecessors, both numerically and competitively. Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., sponsor of the game, is asking no blanket release of players from the navy, army, or marines. Several of the most famous athletes in 1942 college football already have received permission from commanding officers to participate in the game.

Fans Will Not Be Polled.

For the first time in the All-Star series there will be no fan poll to determine this year's starting lineup for the collegians. A poll would be unfair to men in the service who may not be able to join the squad because of their inability to get a furlough or leave. Then, too, the All-Star squad for the first time will include undergraduate players. It might not be for the best interest of the player or his coach to have high powered exploitation of a sophomore or junior at Michigan, Ohio State, Illinois, Wisconsin, Notre Dame, and the other midwestern universities whose coöperation has helped to keep the All-Star game alive in the second year of the war.

The Washington Redskins, headed by Sammy Baugh, whose kicking, passing, and generalship were largely responsible for his team's 14 to 6 victory over the Chicago Bears in the pro league's championship game last season, will train, as usual, in San Diego, Cal. The All-Stars will assemble at Northwestern university Aug. 7.

Second Game for Redskins.

This will be the second appearance of the Redskins in the All-Star series. They were defeated by the collegians, 28 to 16, in 1938. The All-Stars that year were coached by Bo McMillin of Indiana and had as their ace performer Cecil Isbell of Purdue. Isbell's forward passing and running that night stand as the greatest individual performance in the history of the event, either by a collegiate or professional representative.

The professional champions have won five of the nine previous games. The All-Stars were victorious twice and there have been two ties. The record follows:

1934—All-Stars, 0; Chicago Bears, 0.
1935—All-Stars, 0; Chicago Bears, 5.
1936—All-Stars, 7; Detroit Lions, 7.
1937—All-Stars, 6; Green Bay Packers, 0.
1938—All-Stars, 28; Washington Redskins, 16.
1940—All-Stars, 28; Green Bay Packers, 45.
1941—All-Stars, 13; Chicago Bears, 37.
1942—All-Stars, 0; Chicago Bears, 21.

The All-Stars' coaching staff will be appointed by the director of the game. It will include representatives from various sections of the United States.

4 HORSES DRAW ATTENTION IN JOLIET STAKES

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The $5,000 Joliet stakes, which will head Saturday's Lincoln Fields program, shapes up as a more highly speculative affair than it has been in recent years. Chief attention will be divided among several horses which have not had an opportunity to perform previously before Chicago fans because of unfavorable weather conditions in the early part of the meeting being conducted at Hawthorne.

Last year Littletown and Occupation were well known to local race followers before they went to the post in this event, tho the crowd didn't fully appreciate the abilities of the former. The four horses upon which most of the discussion has been focused this time, however, are only names to the Chicago fans. These are Black Swan, Ogham, Civil Liberty, and Occupy.

Two Share Top Weight.

Under the conditions of the race, Black Swan and Ogham will share top weight of 125 pounds, each having won a stake event previously. Black Swan took the Bashford Manor at Churchill Downs and Ogham scored in Keeneland's Lafayette stakes. There has been much discussion of the relative ability of these two precocious youngsters both of which are capable of brilliant speed. The Joliet stakes may provide an answer. Black Swan is owned by Max Marmorstein, a Cleveland sportsman, and Ogham is the property of Mrs. Helen Miller of Chicago.

Following Saturday's Juvenile stake, the Memorial Day week-end will be completed by a program on Monday featured by the $5,000 Francis S. Peabody Memorial handicap. All net proceeds of this day will be divided among the Red Cross and the Chicago Service Men's center.

Racing Secretary William H. Shelley yesterday announced the weights for the Peabody handicap, allotting the top impost of 123 pounds to the Valdina farm's Rounders. That horse's stablemate, Valdina Orphan, was given 122, together with Best Seller. Next in order came Valdina Groom, which won handicaps on three Saturdays of the Sportsman's Park meeting. He drew 116 pounds. There are 24 nominated for this event and a field of about 12 is probable.

Hunt Alsab's Successor.

Upon Civil Liberty, Mrs. Al Sabath will base her hopes of finding a successor to Alsab as the winner of this race.

In the main event on yesterday's program Yar went to the post at 4 to 5 odds against three rivals in a gallop of a mile and seventy yards. The favorite stole a long lead on the first turn, galloped under restraint down the backstretch, then came on to win easily by three lengths. Vinum held second place and Johnny Jr., third. The winner, scoring his second straight victory of the meeting, paid $3.80.

WRIGLEY FIELD BOXING SHOW IS SET FOR JUNE 28

The Illinois Athletic commission yesterday granted Co-Promoters Irving Schoenwald and Jack Begun June 28 on which to offer a boxing show in Wrigley field. General Manager James Gallagner of the Cubs previously gave his approval.

Lee Savold, Paterson, N. J., heavyweight, and Lou Nova of Van Nuys, Cal., are sought to meet in a 10 round bout on the card. Nova, who collected $71,765 when knocked out by Joe Louis in a title engagement in the New York Polo Grounds two years ago never has fought in Chicago.

Zivic to Fight James.

The next show promoted by Schoenwald and Begun will be held in Marigold outdoor arena June 7. The card will include 10 round contests between Fritzie Zivic, former world welterweight champion, and Tommy James; Freddy Fiducia, Newark, N. J., heavyweight, and Nate Bolden, and Gus Dorazio, Philadelphia heavyweight, and Lem Franklin.

Steve Mamakos, Washington, D. C., middleweight, will be unable to go thru with a proposed match in Milwaukee next month because of a leg injury suffered in his winning effort against Tito Taylor of Chicago in Milwaukee recently. Steve will enter Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore Monday to receive treatment.

SENATORS AND LEONARD BLANK BROWNS, 1 TO 0

Knuckle Ball Ace Bests Niggeling in Duel.

Washington, D. C., May 26 (AP).—Emil [Dutch] Leonard, veteran knuckle ball pitcher, blanked St. Louis with four hits as Washington defeated the Browns, 1 to 0, before 13,500 tonight. Leonard bested another knuckle ball artist, Johnny Niggeling to score his fourth victory of the season against two losses.

Leonard was in serious trouble only in the eighth when the Browns advanced a runner to third on a walk and a long single by Vernon Stephens, who batted for Niggeling. Leonard ended the threat by forcing Tony Criscola to pop up and striking out Harlond Clift.

ARMY ASKED TO LIBERALIZE ITS ATHLETIC RULES

Washington, D. C., May 26 (AP).—As leader of congress' three friends of football, Representative Weiss [D., Pa.] today asked Brig. Gen. Millard G. White, assistant chief of staff, to alter present regulations and permit participation in intercollegiate athletic competitions by soldiers attending colleges.

Weiss' request in the interest of the American way of athletics, came shortly after Weiss and his two congressional colleagues, representatives Dilweg [D., Wis.] and Monroney [D., Okla.] had carried to ranking army officers their quest of a more liberal attitude toward the game during war time.

The army recently pointed out certain reasons why it said it may not be feasible for soldiers in college training to compete in athletics. Principal reasons were lack of time, transportation difficulties and the attitude on the part of some persons that such participation might come under the heading of special privileges.

Hanyzewski Sent to Brewers on Option by Cubs

The Cubs yesterday sent Pitcher Eddie Hanyzewski to the Milwaukee Brewers on option. The South Bend strong boy was rated a regular starter at the start of the season, but later showed evidences of nervousness, which led to the suspicion the young man needs more minor league seasoning. Eddie won 7 and lost 2 after going to the Brewers in midseason last year.

The Giants and Cubs played to a distinguished but absent audience of service men in the southwest Pacific yesterday. Every day Western Union provides a free play by play service of one game in the west for the Pacific area and one in the east for the European theater expedition forces. Yesterday's game here was the one that went over the ether to the fighting lads in Australia and the islands to the north.

The two detachments of Cubs who arrived from Syracuse reached the Wrigley field playing area an hour and 10 minutes before game time yesterday. They had time for a brief batting practice after the Giants had finished their clouting exercises.

It will be Lon Warneke vs. Johnny Wittig this afternoon in the second and middle game of the Cubs-Giants series in Wrigley field.

Walters Bats, Hurls Reds to 1-0 Triumph

Cincinnati, O., May 26 (AP).—Eddie Miller singled Bucky Walters home after two were out in the ninth tonight to give Bucky and the Cincinnati Reds a 1 to 0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Charley Fuchs had held the Reds to four hits and was within an out of finishing the game when Walters hit to Dannie Murtaugh at second. Murtaugh knocked it down but Bucky got to first with a single. Then, as Fuchs faced Lonnie Frey, Walters broke for second. Fuchs whirled and threw to the base and Bucky was tagged, but Umpire Al Barlick called it a balk and Bucky stayed on second. Frey then was given an intentional pass and Miller hit a single to left field. Walters scored easily to end the game. Score:

BRAVES WIN IN 11TH.

St. Louis, Mo., May 26 (AP).—Mort Cooper picked the wrong man to pitch to in the 11th inning tonight, and the Boston Braves defeated the Cardinals, 4 to 3, on Charley Workman's single. Al Javery held the Cards to six hits.

Cooper gave up a hit to Eddie Joost to open the 11th, and with two men down and Joost on third, elected to walk Johnny McCarthy to get at Workman.

Lou Klein and Walker Cooper hit home runs for the Cards, the former in the first, the latter in the sixth, tying the score after the Braves had taken the lead with a three run outburst in the fifth.

The fifth inning was the payoff, for Walker Cooper's error on Stan Musial's throw allowed the third run to reach second, all set for a scoring single by Joost. Two singles and a double counted for the first two. Score:

PIRATES, 17; DODGERS, 4.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 26 (AP).—The Pittsburgh Pirates plastered a 17 to 4 defeat on the Brooklyn Dodgers today to awaken the National league leaders to the dangers they face on their first western tour of the season.

Vince DiMaggio hit a homer with one on in the second inning and another with two aboard in the third to lead Pittsburgh's attack, which totaled 16 hits.

Lake View Is Victim No. 12 of Lane Tech

Lane Tech High, with Jim Suchecki yielding only one hit, defeated Lake View, 4 to 0, yesterday in Welles park for its 92d consecutive baseball victory in the north section of the City league and its 12th this season. Don Lasher singled in the first inning for the only hit off Suchecki, who struck out 15 in posting his eighth victory of the year.

Harrison, Gage Park Win.

Harrison Tech, defending City league champion, and Gage Park won and continued in their first place tie in the central section. Harrison defeated Englewood, 7 to 2, in Hamilton park for its eighth victory in nine games and Gage Park duplicated that record by blasting Tilden, 9 to 1, in Fuller park.

Bowen continued to set the pace in the south section by defeating Harper, 7 to 2, in Bessemer park for its 13th straight victory. Capt. for its 13th straight victory.

Dziatlik Hurls No Hit Game.

Steinmetz beat Marshall, 7 to 1, in Humboldt park for its seventh west section victory in eight games. Crane Tech, defending section champion, took over undisputed possession of second place by defeating Foreman, 8 to 3, in Altgeld park while Kelvyn Park was losing, 3 to 2, to Wells on Smith field. The latter game went nine innings and Stan Dziatlik held Kelvyn Park hitless but walks and errors in the first inning enabled the Panthers to score two runs.

Proviso High Tops Marmion Nine, 10 to 1

Proviso eliminated Marmion academy from the Illinois State High school baseball tournament by defeating the Aurora school, 10 to 1, yesterday in the final round of the Wheaton district meet.

George Kampf, Proviso right hander, held Marmion to three hits while his mates were pounding Jimmy Linden for 14. George Coen, with a triple and three singles in five attempts, and Tom Abbott, with a triple and two singles in four tries, were the standouts in the Proviso attack. Tomorrow afternoon Proviso plays Morton of Cicero in the opening of the Oak Park sectional.

Evanston Wins, 8-7.

Evanston and New Trier battled eight innings before Evanston won a Suburban league game, 8 to 7, in Evanston. New Trier outhit the winners, 13 to 8. Evanston scored the winning run when Jim Phipps was hit by a pitched ball and scored on a long double by Dick Scott.

Tony Jacobs pitched Thornton of Harvey to a 5 to 0 victory over Bloom Township of Chicago Heights on the latter's field. Jacobs yielded only three hits while striking out 11.

University High Triumphs.

University High defeated Harvard school, 5 to 1, in a Private School league game played at the University of Chicago. It was the third victory in five games for the winner.

Orland Park and Riverside battled to a 5 to 5 eight inning tie in Riverside, the game being called because of darkness. Orland Park, coached by Frank Haggerty, will play Blue Island there today and will be host to Wheaton in Orland Park tomorrow. Scores:

HIKERS EXPECT TO CATCH EARLY BIRD STILL ABED

And Why Not, When Jaunt Starts at 4:20 A. M.

BY BOB BECKER.

Chicagoland outdoor fans who are not planning to take a trip over the Memorial day week-end may get plenty of outdoors and exercise and enjoy spring near home by joining one of the organized walking trips scheduled for Saturday, Sunday or Monday.

The hiking clubs have scheduled outings to many corners of Chicagoland this week-end. One of the most unusual is a sunrise hike, the first held this season. The Englewood Outdoor club is sponsoring this unique jaunt, which calls for a 4:20 a. m. departure by train from the Illinois Central depot.

All Are Open to Public.

The only walk scheduled for Monday, a holiday, is sponsored by the Prairie club, which club also announces a bicycle trip for Sunday which will start from Des Plaines. All of the outings listed below are open to the public. Except for the small transportation costs involved there is no charge. Walks scheduled for this week-end:

SATURDAY.

BLACK PARTRIDGE WOODS [Prairie club]—Distance, 5 miles. Leave Union station on the Alton railroad at 1:30 p. m. Arrive Lemont 2:14 p. m. Returning, leave Lemont 5:26 or 5:56 p. m., via Blue Bird bus. Arrive bus depot, 20 East Randolph street, 6:35 or 7:05 p. m. Expense, 90 cents. [For information on how to join this hike or other Prairie club outings, telephone the club office, Dearborn 3737.]

SUNDAY.

SUNRISE HIKE [Englewood Outdoor club]—Distance, 6 miles. Time of hike, about 8 hours. Meet at 4 a. m. in main waiting room, Illinois Central station, Roosevelt road and Michigan avenue. Leave 4:20 a. m. Bring breakfast. Cooking facilities available; charcoal for broiling if necessary. Coffee free. Eat at Jackson park promontory. Games all day Sunday. Expense, 25 cents. [President of the club is Anthony Stelzer. Telephone, Beverly 3320.]

BILLY CALDWELL WOODS [Outdoor Physical Fitness club]—Distance, 4½ miles. Leave Gompers fieldhouse at Kostner and Foster avenues, 10 a. m.; follow north branch of the Chicago river. Stop at suitable spot for play. Ravenswood elevated to end of line. North on Kimball avenue to Foster avenue, and west two blocks. Return from terminus of Milwaukee surface line at 5:30 p. m. Bring lunch, cup, and stick. [President of club, Dr. A. A. Gour, Harrison 8890.]

ELK GROVE [Outing club]—Distance, 9 to 10 miles. Time of trip, about 7½ hours. Meeting place, Grand and Harlem avenues at 10:30 a. m. Leave via bus. Arrive Itasca 11:05. Returning, leave Mount Prospect. Arrive Jefferson Park 6:30 p. m. Expense, 55 cents. This will be a scouting trip thru deep woods, so the distance is not certain. [Telephone Perczella Munro, Kildare 9702, for further information.]

TOWN LINE ROAD-WOODS HIKE [North Shore Hiking club]—Distance, 6 miles. Time of hike about 2½ hours. Leave Winnetka village hall 9:40 a. m. For Chicago hikers: Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee electric leaves the Adams and Wabash terminal 8:45 a. m., arriving Winnetka Elm street station 9:36 a. m. No expense. This will be almost entirely thru woods. Walk begins at Town Line road, south on the east bank of the Des Plaines river thru private woods. [Leader on this hike will be Floyd Faxon, Tel. Dearborn 2306].

MONDAY.

MEMORIAL DAY WALK [Prairie club]—Distance, 6 to 7 miles. Leave North Western station 10:15 a. m. Arrive Dundee road 11:10. Arrive Deer Grove clubhouse 1 p. m. Leave clubhouse 4 p. m. RED CROSS DRIVE NETS 8 MILLION IN CHICAGO AREA

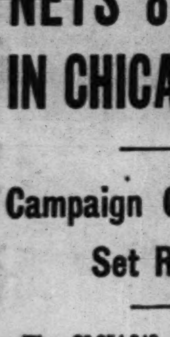
Campaign Contributions Set Record.

The $8,254,848 subscribed in the Chicago area in the 1943 Red Cross war fund campaign is the largest amount ever raised here for any war time agency or service, Martin H. Kennelly, general chairman of the campaign, announced yesterday. Final reports of the drive will show an increase in the total, he said.



Martin H. Kennelly.

The campaign also set new records in this district for the number of contributions, the average amount of donations, and the number of volunteer solicitors taking part.

Average Gift Was $2.

On the basis of the area's total population, the average per capita gift was approximately $2, Kennelly said. This figure is almost twice the amount given last year, when the total of the Chicago chapter's campaign was $4,200,000. More than 50,000 volunteer workers participated.

The war fund campaign headquarters, 36 South State street, will remain open indefinitely to collect pledges and commitments and to receive new contributions, Kennelly said.

"Our thanks to the thousands of volunteer workers and to the record breaking number of contributors who opened their hearts and pocketbooks to the Red Cross in this time of war, can never be adequately expressed, said Kennelly.

Community Fund Report.

An operating surplus of $79,176.31 and elimination of a deficit dating from 1935 will be reported at the annual meeting of the Community Fund of Chicago at 11:30 a. m. tomorrow in the stockholders room of the Continental Illinois National bank, 231 South La Salle street. The report will be made by Paul S. Russell, treasurer. The deficit had existed since the fund's fiscal year was changed seven years ago.

Russell's report will show that payments in 1942 to the 187 charitable and social welfare agencies participating in the fund totaled $3,294,081.79. Administration and campaign expense represented only 4.89 per cent of the total, with the largest amounts being used for family service and assistance, educational and recreational services, care of dependent children, and hospital and clinical care.

"The Importance of Community Fund Agencies in War Time" will be discussed by Samuel A. Goldsmith, director of the Jewish Charities of Chicago, and other reports will be made. Edward L. Ryerson, president of the fund, will preside. Election of officers will be held.

IDENTIFY WOMAN KILLED BY FALL AS PSYCHOLOGIST

New York, May 26 (AP).—Dr. Barbara Burks, 40 years old, who died last night in a 200 foot plunge from the George Washington Bridge, was identified today as a leading psychologist and an authority on heredity and environmental influence on children.

Dr. Burks was a research associate, under a Carnegie corporation grant, at Columbia university. She was awarded a Guggenheim fellowship this year for research on identical twins and was chairman of a committee of the American Psychological association to assist refugee psychologists in obtaining employment.

Dr. Burks' body was found by a passerby in the south roadway of Riverside drive. Police were unable to find any one who saw her fall.

EDGAR BLAKE, 73, RETIRED BISHOP, DIES IN FLORIDA

Coral Gables, Fla., May 26 (AP).—Edgar Blake, 73 years old, retired bishop of the Methodist church, died at a hospital today.

A native of Gorham, Me., Bishop Blake served as pastor of churches at Salem, Lebanon, and Manchester, Me., before he became a bishop in 1920. MACHINERY MEN BUY $1,750,000 WORTH OF BONDS

Articles ranging from nylon hose to huge pieces of machinery and valued at $100,000 promoted the sale of $1,750,000 in war bonds at a war bond auction sponsored by the Chicago Machinery Dealers' association in the Chicago Arena last night.

The auction started at a dizzy paee, the first 17 articles bringing the sale of $360,000 in bonds. One buyer bought $15,500 in bonds for three pairs of nylon hosiery; another invested $75,000 in bonds to get a $2,200 lathe.

The auction lasted six hours, ending early today. The main problem for some of the buyers was how to remove their heavy machinery premiums.

Croker's Widow Freed of Burglary Charges

Stillwater, Okla., May 26 (AP).—Charges of attempted burglary against Mrs. Bula E. Croker, 59 years old, widow of Richard Croker, once leader of New York's Tammany Hall, were dismissed today in justice of the peace court. Mrs. Croker was charged with attempting to enter the home of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Garrett, to obtain personal effects of Croker. The Garretts testified they did not believe Mrs. Croker had any intention of burglarizing their home.

DEATH OF EDSEL STIRS SURMISES ON FORD EMPIRE

Detroit, Mich., May 26 [Special].—The unexpected death of Edsel Bryant Ford has thrown into confusion the long laid plans of aged Henry Ford to pass his vast industrial empire to his only son and has aroused wide speculation regarding the future organization of the $718,000,000 enterprise.

Edsel, 49 years old, died at 1:30 this morning at his home in suburban Grosse Pointe Shores. Death was attributed to a recurrence of a stomach malady which had necessitated an operation for stomach ulcers in January, 1942, and recently was aggravated by undulant fever.

The family announced that burial will be private following funeral services at 2:30 p. m. Friday in Christ church chapel at Grosse Pointe. Interment may be in a family plot on a Ford owned farm near Henry Ford's birthplace where the elder Ford's parents, several brothers and other members of the family are buried.

Personal Fortunes Secret.

The death left the huge Ford Motor company, now doing more than 4½ billion dollars worth of war material production, temporarily without a president, treasurer and general manager. It also raised the problem of the disposition of Edsel's interest in the company and the effect of inheritance taxes on the business.

During the 24 years Edsel was president of the company, his father little by little had been effecting transfers of control and ownership of company stock to him. Details of these transactions were a closely held family secret but their purpose was to make preparations so that the anticipated prior death of Henry—now nearly 80—would cause as little disruption as possible in the company affairs.

Also closely guarded family secrets were the personal fortunes of Henry and Edsel and whatever arrangements that may have been made for the ultimate disposition of the company assets and personal accumulations of wealth.

Firm Worth $718,000,000.

Starting from an investment of $28,000 in 1903, the company itself had an asset value of more than $718,000,000 as of the close of 1941, according to a financial statement filed in Massachusetts, the only state with such a requirement.

At the time the Ford family became sole owners of the company thru the purchase of minority holdings in 1919 for approximately $75,000,000, Edsel was credited with ownership of 40 per cent of the stock, his father with 58 per cent, and his mother, Clara Bryant Ford, with the remainder.

To inherit the Edsel Ford interest are his widow, the former Eleanor Lowthian Clay, whom he married in 1916; one daughter, Josephine, and three sons, all serving in the army or navy—Henry II, 26, a lieutenant [j. g.] in the navy; Benson, 23, in the army air corps, and William, 17, a naval air cadet.

Fear Inheritance Taxes.

Whether there has been any shift in the company's 3,452,000 shares of common stock to Edsel's daughter and sons has not been disclosed. It is generally expected that unless lawyers have worked out some arrangement, inheritance taxes might force the sale of stock held by Edsel to meet the demands of the tax collector.

Altho there was no definite information concerning Edsel's successor as head of the company, sources close to the family speculated that the board of directors—consisting of Henry Ford, Edsel's two sons, Henry II. and Benson, and Charles E. Sorensen, vice president—would meet soon and name either the elder Ford or Sorensen president.

Ford, who will be 80 years old on July 30, has long insisted that he wanted no title with the company. He turned the office of president over to Edsel in 1919, soon after his son had completed a five year apprenticeship in factory and office and had served two years as vice president.

Moving Assembly Line.

Sorensen, Danish-born production genius of the company, was 61 last September. Associated with Ford since 1905, he has been credited with developing many projects conceived by Henry Ford. He originated the moving assembly line for mass production of automobiles and later adapted it to bomber plane production at the mammoth Ford operated Willow Run bomber plant.

Other names mentioned in speculation were those of A. M. Wibel, a vice president when he retired only a month ago and who, conceivably, could be recalled; Harry Bennett, personnel manager who has been a Ford aid since 1917; Ernest C. Kanzler, brother-in-law of Mrs. Edsel Ford, and young Henry II., who before the war was making an increasing number of appearances at Ford company affairs.

Kanzler was for many years closely associated with both Henry and Edsel Ford and is widely known in Detroit automotive and banking circles. He was chief of the automotive division of the war production board and later was director general of operations of the WPB but resigned those government connections.

Condolences Pour In.

However, there was no confirmation about any of these conjectures, the only thing certain being that there will be no disclosure of the future president until the Ford family's board is ready to announce it.

Meantime, hundreds of messages of sympathy poured in by telegraph and telephone from friends, acquaintances, and business rivals of Edsel thruout the world.

Despite his position as sole heir to one of the greatest fortunes ever amassed, Edsel's modest and retiring manner made friends rapidly and kept them. He was a great favorite among newspaper men from all over the nation who cover news on the automobile industry. Men long associated with him described him as one of the kindest men they ever met.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10¢ and 25¢.

W. G. RUDD DIES; VICE PRESIDENT OF PEOPLES GAS

William G. Rudd, 55 years old, vice president of the Peoples Gas Light & Coke company, died suddenly of a heart attack last night while attending a business conference in the Atlantic hotel. He had met in the hotel A. J. Clomick, 451 Aldine avenue, head of a steel business at 2375 Archer avenue. Mrs. Rudd had been under medical care previously.

Mr. Rudd had been connected with the gas company for 38 years; it was his only employer. He started out as an ordinary laborer in the Division street plant, but with a background of engineering, soon entered the operating end of the business. He rose thru every position to the vice presidency, to which he was elected in 1927.

Mr. Rudd's home was at 1131 North Ridgeland avenue, Oak Park. He leaves his widow, the former Miss Ernestine F. Hauser, whom he married in 1915.

VOTE TO INDICT HIT-RUN DRIVER IN GIRL'S DEATH

William Hummel, 22 years old, 929 Belden avenue, the licenseless hit and run driver whose $9 automobile killed Diane Ruehr, 7, and injured her mother on May 20, was reported named in a true bill charging manslaughter voted yesterday by the grand jury. Bail was fixed at $5,000.

Earlier Hummel had been arraigned before Judge Joseph B. Hermes in Safety court and held in bonds totaling $6,400 on five charges, including failure to have driver's, state and city licenses, a safety sticker, and one of disorderly conduct. Hummel was ordered held for manslaughter by a coroner's jury on Tuesday. Assistant State's Atty. Julius Sherwin said he expected the true bill would be returned in court today.

HAMILTON CADY, DEVELOPER OF HELIUM, IS DEAD

Lawrence, Kas., May 26 (AP).—Dr. Hamilton Perkins Cady, University of Kansas chemist who developed helium in natural gas in Kansas, died today. He was 68 years old.

It was in 1907 that Dr. Cady, a member of Kansas university's staff, found helium in natural gas produced at Dexter, Kas. Dexter had drilled a gas well and piped it into town. Everything was set for a celebration. Then some one discovered the gas wouldn't burn.

A call was put in for Dr. Cady and Dr. D. F. McFarland of Kansas university. They immediately identified the presence of helium in the gas. Scientists previously had discovered helium on the sun. The Dexter helium discovery ultimately led to establishment of a helium plant in that area.

FORD'S AILMENT USUALLY TRACED TO IMPURE MILK

Dr. Cutter Tells History of Undulant Fever.

Undulant fever, from which Edsel Ford, motor magnate, was suffering when he died yesterday, usually is contracted by drinking unpasteurized milk. The ailment is no respecter of persons. Many city business men are suffering from the malady because they have insisted on drinking milk from the farms which they run as hobbies and whose herds they believe to be clean.

Sometimes known as Malta fever, or brucellosis, the disease is difficult to diagnose. It can imitate accurately typhoid, pork worm infestation, malaria, and many other long-standing disorders, said Dr. Irving S. Cutter, health editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Tells of Symptoms.

Victims complain of weakness, poor appetite, headache, drenching sweats, chills, pains in the joints and muscles, fluctuating temperature, and loss of weight, Dr. Cutter said. At the outset the condition may simulate influenza, he added.

The fever may be contracted not only by drinking milk from cows infected with Bang's disease, or infectious abortion, but also by direct contact with animals suffering from the disease. Pasteurization of milk kills the organism. Sulfanilamide is used in treating the disorder.

Undulant fever has a military history, for it was thru the work of British army doctors that the cause of the disease was discovered.

First Traced to Goat's Milk.

British troops garrisoned at Gibraltar prior to 1887 found their ranks almost depleted by the fever. It finally was traced to milk of the Maltese goats. The importation of goats from Malta was stopped, and the trouble disappeared. In 1906 goat milk was banished from military and naval diet by order.

Bang's disease in cattle causes a $5,000,000 annual loss to cattle breeders and dairymen in Illinois alone. It causes a decrease in milk yield, lowers the calf crop, and causes sterility. Cows infected often lose their calves.

Dairymen combat the disease by having their herds tested regularly, and disposing of infected animals.

8 CENT HOURLY RAIL WAGE HIKE RECOMMENDED

Nearly One Million Workers Involved.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 26.—Recommendation that nearly one million "nonoperating" union employés of the nation's railroads be granted a general wage increase of 8 cents an hour was made to President Roosevelt today by an emergency board appointed from the national railway labor panel. The 15 unions involved had asked a 20 cent boost, with minimum pay of 70 cents an hour.

The wage increase, which will add an estimated 204 million dollars to railroad pay roll costs, would be retroactive to Feb. 1, this year. The board recommended that the 85 millions in back pay which will be due by July 1 under its proposal be paid to the workers in war bonds and stamps because of the inflationary nature of a lump sum payment. It turned down a request for a union shop.

Flynn Represents Unions.

Among the counsel representing the railroad unions in the wage case was Edward J. Flynn, former Democratic National committee chairman, whose nomination as ambassador to Australlia was withdrawn in January in the face of an avalanche of protests from the senate.

The board said the 8 cents an hour wage increase it recommended was "the minimum, noninflationary adjustment necessary to correct gross inequities and to aid in the effective prosecution of the war."

It said the higher wage rates conform with the standards prescribed in executive order 9250 and the general wage stabilization program. It said they do not provide a basis for increases in railroad rates or for resistance to justifiable reductions in such rates.

The board said in its recommendations to the President that the record of the railroads in the war "has been a magnificent one," the result of "constructive, self-denying, and patriotic attitudes of both the managements and the men."

Coöperation Praised.

"Fundamentally a spirit of coöperation has vitalized the efforts of the managements and the men," it said. "Without free and complete and whole-hearted coöperation between the carriers and their employés the magnificent record, as made thus far, could not have been achieved. It is of the utmost importance that this spirit of coöperation be not impaired."

The board, which made the recommendations today, started hearings in Chicago on March 1. It was in session 40 days, compiling a record of 6,300 pages and hundreds of exhibits.

Its chairman was Dr. I. L. Sharfman, professor of economics at the University of Michigan.

N. Y. CENTRAL'S 4 MONTH PROFIT IS 21¼ MILLIONS

The New York Central railroad had net income of $21,229,976 during the first four months this year, Frederick E. Williamson, president, announced yesterday at the annual meeting in Albany, N. Y. He estimated profits at the rate of 5 million dollars a month, against 4 millions a month last year.

Williamson said gross revenues during the remainder of this year will be "adversely affected" by the interstate commerce commission's recent suspension of freight rate increases.

Feed Industry to Hear Its Problems Analyzed

Expect Early Agreement in Coal Dispute

Washington, D. C., May 26 (AP).—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, has summoned the union's policy committee to meet here Saturday, a step indicating the UMW expects an early agreement in the soft coal wage dispute.

Operators and miners returned to the bargaining table today in line with a war labor board directive to work out a settlement of the miners' demand for pay on a portal to portal basis, which would cover their underground travel as well as actual productive time.

Expect Truce Extension.

Lewis and UMW district presidents met briefly with the Appalachian operators, north and south. The operators caucused for an hour, apparently trying to work out their own problems of strategy and representation on a negotiating subcommittee.

Lewis maintained silence on the WLB order, consistent with his position of refusing to recognize the board's jurisdiction.

The truce under which the industry has been operating expires next Monday. Informed UMW sources said that if an agreement is not reached the truce undoubtedly will be extended as long as bargaining continues. The truce was extended once before without assembling the policy committee.

Wait Definite Proposal.

Under UMW procedure, the policy committee acts upon any agreement reached by its negotiating subcommittee, and that is believed to be the purpose of the summons now.

At Fairmont, W. Va., Secretary Harry Bennett of United Mine Workers district No. 31, said:

"I am hopeful that the call means the subcommittee of the operators and the union now meeting in Washington will have some definite proposal on a new contract to lay before us at that time."

Union leaders said they were confident that an agreement on portal to portal pay, plus the increased vacation money and occupational charge allowances ordered by the WLB would exceed $1 a day.

1,500 EXPECTED AT THREE DAY BANKER MEETING

More than 1,500 members of the Illinois Bankers' association are expected to attend the organization's 53d annual convention, which opened yesterday in the Palmer House and will continue today and tomorrow. Yesterday's convention activities were confined to a meeting of the council of administration and the opening of registration.

Sen. Kenneth S. Wherry [R., Neb.], will address the association at its annual dinner tonight at the business sessions. The bankers will discuss and hear talks on current banking problems and trends. Speakers will include Gerald O. Thorpe, president of the Wisconsin Bankers' association; A. L. M. Wiggins, vice president of the American Bankers' Association; Dr. E. B. McNatt, Chicago regional director of wage stabilization for the war labor board, and Marshall R. Diggs, special consultant to the Smaller War Plants corporation.

INT. HARVESTER BUYS BUILDING ON N. MICHIGAN

The International Harvester company yesterday purchased the four story building at 174-176 North Michigan avenue for $215,000 from Austin L. Wyman and his wife, Dorothy. The property, which adjoins on the south the Harvester building at the southwest corner of Michigan and Lake street, fronts 48½ feet on Michigan with a depth of 130 feet. The price figures approximately $4,433 per front foot.

The property was bought by Wyman in 1940 for $200,000 cash from the estate of Henry Schoellkopf Sr.

An official of Harvester said the purchase was made to insure permanent light and air on the south side of the 22 story Harvester building and for possible use as office space or as the site for an addition to the Harvester building.

Coal Decision Held Breach of Wage Dam

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

More compensation for coal miners, if agreed to by the operators, will be achieved by detouring the "little steel" formula that is the basis of the administration's wage stabilization program, it became clear yesterday.

The war labor board opened the way for more pay for the miners when it instructed the United Mine Workers Tuesday to reopen negotiations with operators on the question of "portal to portal" compensation.

Increase in Rate Denied.

Rejecting the miners' request for a straight $2 a day wage increase, the board told the miners that the question of compensation for time spent in the mines getting to and from their jobs would be considered separately. The board indicated it would approve a settlement of this question agreed to by the union and the operators.

With other concessions granted by the board the miners are in a position to gain the equivalent of as much as $1 a day in extra compensation. If realized this would be considered a signal victory for the mine workers.

Apart from the question of the fairness of the miners' requests, the action of the board is considered to have an immediate and direct bearing on the entire stabilization program. Other labor groups have held up their demands pending the outcome of the miners' case. It was widely predicted before the board acted that concessions such as the ruling permits would not only bend but break the stabilization line ordered held April 8 by President Roosevelt.

Formula Raise Already Gained.

The earlier refusal of John L. Lewis, head of the mine workers, to appear before the labor board was predicated on his claim that the board was without power to grant any increase in compensation because of its adherence to the little steel formula. The miners have received since January, 1941, wage increases amounting to the maximum of 15 per cent allowed under that formula.

The language used by the board main plain that it is trying to meet the crisis in its affairs without cutting away from the "little steel" anchor. It said:

"The board feels that any payment for travel time should be designated and paid for as an item separate and apart from hourly or tonnage wage rates."

Surface Workers Would Share.

Benefits obtained under this clause of the ruling would be shared by those working on the surface as well as the miners working underground. It is estimated that miners spend five hours a week getting to and from their jobs after passing the mine portal. At straight time of $1.06 an hour this would amount to $5.30 a week. Furthermore it is said, the miners might argue that at least part of this travel time should be paid for at the overtime rate.

Altho the extent of the concessions to the miners will not be known until the present negotiations are concluded the position taken by the board may cause difficulty in future wage cases, observers believe. The board has now departed from its former literal application of the rule followed in earlier disputes, it was pointed out.

BENDIX ELECTS TREASURER AND VICE PRESIDENT

Ernest R. Breech, president of Bendix Aviation corporation, announced yesterday, the election of W. H. Houghton as treasurer and Arthur E. Raabe as vice president and group executive.

Houghton, who has been controler of Bendix for 14 years and a director since last year, succeeds as treasurer E. R. Palmer, who resigned. Palmer will continue a director and member of the executive committee, Breech said.

Raabe will be in charge of the Bendix radio division, Friez instrument division, Norwood division, and the Marine division.

EXCESS PROFITS CUT NEARLY 2 BILLIONS IN ARMY CONTRACTS

Washington, D. C., May 26 (AP).—Reporting elimination of nearly 2 billion dollars of what he termed excess profits thru renegotiation of army contracts up to May 1, Maurice Karker, chairman of the war department price adjustment board, said today the board will permit even smaller margins of profit when it considers the 1943 business of war contractors.

The board's renegotiations between April 28, 1942, and May 1, 1943, covered contracts totaling approximately 18½ billion dollars, Karker told a press conference, and eliminated excess profits of 1 billion 866 million dollars—of which 698 millions represented recoveries of excess profits already realized and 1 billion 168 million was price reductions for future deliveries on existing contracts.

There is no formula for determining a fair profit that will do "even decent justice" in all cases, he said, and the price adjustment board and its officers must rely on a thoro study of individual cases and a "common sense" decision.

Coal, Rail Pay Developments Boost Stocks

New York, May 26 (AP).—Stocks advanced on a wide front today in larger volume as brokers and traders talked about the "inflationary portent" of wage boost recommendations of federal agencies for soft coal miners and railroad employés in nonoperating unions.

Major progress of the share list was made in two rises—in the first hour and near the close. In between, prices weakened moderately under profit selling. Du Pont jumped 3¼, Eastman Kodak 2½, and United States Gypsum 2.

Bullish sentiment got further support from the war news, the tax compromise agreement and encouraging earnings reports.

18 SET HIGHS IN CHICAGO.

Eighteen new 1943 highs were established on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Merchants and Manufacturers Securities class A, the volume leader, advanced ⅜ point to a peak of 6¼, presumably on buying influenced by recent news of the company's expansion in the machine tool field. Fuller Manufacturing retained a ⅝ point gain after setting a new high of 5½.

RAIL, UTILITY BONDS RISE.

New York, May 26 (AP).—Rail and utility bonds today added fractions to more than a point to Tuesday's gains. Trading picked up substantially, sales totaling $15,344,500.

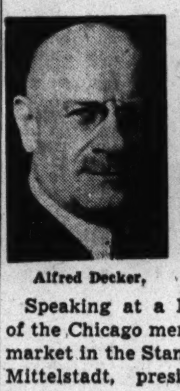
'SANE' BUYING DRIVE URGED IN MEN'S CLOTHING

Retailers Warned of Ration Threat.

Retailers of men's and boys' wearing apparel were urged yesterday to place more emphasis on the equitable distribution of goods to customers to avoid rationing. The retailers also were told that labor shortages more than shortages of raw materials would affect deliveries by manufacturers this year.



Alfred Decker,

Speaking at a luncheon meeting of the Chicago men's and boys' wear market in the Standard club, Harold Mittelstadt, president of Wilson Brothers, and Alfred Decker, board chairman of Alfred Decker & Cohn, warned that unless retailers limit sales and take steps to avert "panic" buying the situation "may provoke rationing."

Women Leaving Industry.

Mittelstadt called attention to the fact that an increasing number of women, who normally form a large portion of textile workers, are leaving the industry to seek higher wages in other war industries. Referring to this and heavy government purchases of textiles, he said he could find no evidences of a "softening" market in men's and boys' wear.

This is the situation, notwithstanding a record production last year of 13½ billion yards of all kinds of cloths, a 30 per cent increase above 1941, he said. Lend-lease purchases of cloth goods are increasing, rather than decreasing, and further increases after the allies invade Europe are in store, he said.

Shirt Outlook Good.

Mittelstadt predicted continued good business in men's and boys' wear thru the fall. However, by winter present inventories will have been depleted to such an extent that Christmas business will suffer unless civilian allotments are increased, he said.

The outlook for shirts is fairly good because the supply of cloth, except broadcloth, is adequate, he said. However, there is a bottleneck in the shortage of labor employed in fabrication, he asserted. The supply of wool goods is adequate but there is a bottleneck in the spinning of yarns, he said.

He urged retailers to give close scrutiny to the office of price administration's plans for grade labeling, asserting that if put into effect it "will certainly beat down the quality of a great many goods." Under a program of grade labeling the retailer will be forced to ask a higher price for an inferior grade of goods, he said.

Decker reiterated that retailers should impose their own system of allocating goods to consumers. He said woolen mills are two to three months behind on deliveries because of lack of machinery to manufacture more goods for civilians and because of the man power shortage.

Packers Facing Big Losses Thru Subsidy, Says Institute

Opposition of the meat packing industry to the office of price administration's subsidy program, scheduled to go into effect June 1, was announced yesterday by the American Meat institute, which said packers face a loss of more than 25 million dollars if prices are rolled back on meats in inventory and process. The subsidy to be paid packers would not benefit the industry, and the program is unnecessary, the institute said.

The institute, which represents 450 companies, said the industry normally has more than a billion pounds of meat and meat products in inventory and in production. To require the industry to suffer a loss of 2 to 3 cents a pound on this meat will be "a fatal blow to many meat packing companies," the institute asserted.

Provides 10 Per Cent Rollback.

"This program provides for a reduction, or rollback, of approximately 10 per cent in present retail and wholesale prices of meats," the institute said. "A subsidy is to be paid to processors of the meat to prevent the rollback from reducing the prices of live stock, thereby reducing production of live stock.

"The subsidy is thus, in effect, paid by the government thru the meat packers, and is not to the benefit of the meat packing industry. We are definitely opposed to being placed in this position. It must be emphasized that the subsidy to be given the meat packers is not one by which the meat packing industry would benefit.

"There is, however, no announced policy in the OPA's plan to 'subsidize the production' of meat for the tremendous loss which processors will have to take on all of the meats in store and being processed June 1, when prices are arbitrarily rolled back."

Declares Advance Is Less.

Asserting an announced objective of the subsidy program was to reduce retail prices to Sept. 15, 1942, levels, the institute said wholesale prices of many meats are below those levels, and retail prices have not advanced "anywhere near" 10 per cent. Latest government estimates indicate retail beef, veal, and pork prices have risen only about 2 per cent since last September, it said.

The institute said these facts have been brought to the attention of the government, but it has not received a reply to two telegrams sent to James F. Byrnes, director of economic stabilization.

Hog Receipts Large

Farmers again unloaded hogs in heavy volume yesterday, but demand was sufficient to hold the general level of prices in line with the average market of the preceding day. The average price was $14.30 per hundred pounds.

The Chicago yards in the first three days of this week received 73,400 hogs, including directs to packers, the biggest three day supply since the first three days of February, and the largest for May since the drouth year of 1934.

Stronger prices prevailed for most steers, yearlings, and heifers. The cattle top was $17.50. Most sheep and lambs sold steady. Top loads went at $16.

People and Events

The National Association of Personnel Directors has appointed Ernest J. Knight as public relations consultant, and Dr. Christian A. Ruckmick director of research. Knight formerly was a field representative of the United States employment service, and Dr. Ruckmick formerly served as chief civilian psychologist in the 6th service command at Peoria induction station.

Gerald L. Wartell, recently resigned district manager of the Franklin Life Insurance company of Springfield, Ill., has been appointed agency manager of the Globe Life Insurance company, Chicago.

Ben R. Newberry of the Lone Star Gas company, Dallas Tex., was elected president of the National Association of Purchasing Agents, at the annual meeting in New York.

PRICES OF USED CARS SOAR AS SUPPLIES DROP

Late Models Exceed List Cost New.

OPA Lifts Quota

Washington, D. C., May 26 (AP).—The office of price administration today set a quota of 51,000 new passenger automobiles for rationing in June, an increase of 1,000 over May. OPA also established reserves totaling 14,000 to fill demands that may develop in excess of 51,000.

BY ROBERT YOUNG.

Used car sales, once a sideline and a problem, have become temporarily at least the financial salvation for many automobile dealers in the last few months. A dwindling supply and sharply rising demand, particularly from the war production and agricultural centers of the middle and far west, have skyrocketed used car prices to the extent that price ceilings are being considered by the office of price administration.

Edward L. Cleary.

When new car manufacturing was halted, dealers turned to service and repair and used car sales. The latter business lagged when gasoline rationing was imposed, but the middle west, the west coast, and Texas demand soon revived and became stronger. War workers and farmers had no difficulty in obtaining C ration cards and had plenty of money with relatively little on which to spend it. These factors, plus a liberal OPA policy regarding tire recaps, resulted in a rush of used car buyers.

Dealers' Supply Drops.

The Chicago Automobile Trade association reported yesterday that the used car inventories of Cook county dealers as of May 1 had dropped to 49.7 days' supply from 60 days on April 1 and the all-time high of 143 days on Jan. 1. On May 1, 1942, the supply was 86.4 days.

The association reported that 173

RYE AGAIN SETS SIX YEAR PEAK; OATS ALSO RISE

Vast Sales of Cash Wheat by CCC Disclosed.

The Commodity Credit corporation has about completed the sale of 100 million bushels of cash wheat for feed purposes under authority of congress, it was announced yesterday. The sale was authorized less than two months ago.

The announcement came as a surprise to the grain trade and started a buying movement in rye and oats on the Chicago Board of Trade that carried all rye futures about 1½ cents a bushel higher to a new peak since 1937 and July oats up ⅞ cent.

Buying of rye futures was broad and December sold at 99¼ cents before heavy profit taking caused a reaction. Closing prices gained ¾ to ⅞ cent. Oats futures were ⅛ to ⅞ cent higher. Wheat finished unchanged to ⅛ cent higher. There was no trading in corn, with futures and cash at ceiling levels.

Demand Larger than Expected.

The large disposal of cash wheat at full corn parity price attracted wide attention. It was regarded as reflecting a much larger demand for cash wheat than had been expected.

Altho the credit agency is estimated to have more than 200 million bushels of cash wheat on hand, having obtained an estimated 160 million bushels or more when farmers defaulted April 30 on warehouse stored loans on the 1942 crop, it was expected that negotiations for the purchase of millions of bushels of Canadian wheat to be used for feed in the east will be speeded.

With little or no corn moving in the midwest to the deficit producing areas in the east and southwest there was a rush by speculators, professional operators and some cash interests to purchase rye and oats.

Rye Trading Shifted.

Effective today trading in rye will be conducted in the pit that has been used for many years for operations in corn, because of the increase in rye business. In the last two days sales of rye futures constituted about two-thirds of the total business on the exchange.

The food distribution administration announced in Washington that no large purchases of rye flour for Russia are in prospect, altho there probably would be buying for European nations after the war. Trade beliefs that rye flour will figure prominently in food shipments to Rusia have been a factor in the advancing prices of the grain on the Board of Trade.

The FDA said only small amounts of rye flour are being bought and little is going to Russia because it will not keep as well as white flour. Purchases last week totaled 18,475 pounds, the agency said.

USED CAR PRICES SOAR AS DEALER SUPPLY SHRINKS

retail outlets sold a total of 1,935 used cars during April and on the first of this month had 3,205 cars in stock. Edward L. Cleary, acting general manager of the association, said that, on a national basis, used car inventories estimated at 200,000 units are at an all-time low.

Cleary said that used car prices have advanced 10 to 20 per cent in the Chicago area since the first of the year, and as much as 25 to 30 per cent on the west coast, in Texas and other areas having a concentration of war workers and farmers. He said the market is "spotty" and that not all dealers are enjoying a boom, but admitted that in many instances the prices used cars are commanding are "plenty high." With the supply being rapidly depleted and ceilings in prospect, dealers realize this is a temporary situation and are taking advantage of it, Cleary said.

Some Exceed Organized Price.

As an example of the prices being paid, a Chicago dealer cited the following: A 1941 used two door Chevrolet, priced at $754 new, will bring $750 to $825 to a dealer in New York or Philadelphia and $900 to $925 in Chicago. In Los Angeles, Cal., the same car will cost up to $1,125, and in San Francisco $1,200.

Another dealer told of an automobile agency owner from a small Iowa town who purchased in Chicago a 1941 model car for $995, or approximately the price new. He drove the car to Iowa and disposed of it easily for $1,200. A third dealer reported that even larger profits are to be made in the sale of used station wagons, which are particularly scarce. A 1941 station wagon that cost $1,100 new will bring as high as $1,500 in Chicago, and still more on the west coast, he said.

Cleary said, however, not all dealers are participating in these large profits. He said that sales from individual to individual are increasing at such a rapid rate that only an estimated 34 per cent of used car sales are passing thru the hands of established dealers.

YARDS PROMISE FINANCING FOR KENWOOD L RUN

Separate Operation of Branch Sought.

Promises that the Union Stockyards and Transit company would do all the financing of the Chicago Junction railroad, provided the Illinois commerce commission permits independent operation of the present Kenwood and Stockyards branches of the elevated system, were made yesterday at a commission hearing.

A. G. Leonard, president of both Union Stock Yards and Chicago Junction, testified that the former company had $1,750,000 in cash and less than $100,000 in current bills, with no bonds outstanding. Asked what terms would be demanded for the financing, he replied, "Whatever the going rate might be."

Calls Present Plan Unfair.

The Chicago Junction has asked for a certificate of convenience and necessity [an operating permit] and the fixing of a division of transfer fares with the elevated company at Indiana avenue. It contends that the present arrangement with the elevated is unfair and that Chicago Junction, which owns the Kenwood-Stock Yards structures, is without control of its own property.

The 3.63 mile trackage was erected by the stock yards interests and rented to elevated lines for operation beginning in 1907. Rent at the rate of about $93,000 a year was paid until 1934. In 1938 the L, in bankruptcy, obtained a federal District court order abrogating the rent contract.

This order, however, instructed the elevated to continue operation of the lines for the benefit of and at the risk of the Chicago Junction.

Fear Damage Liability.

Attorneys for the Chicago Junction have said that they fear the road would be liable for damage claims in the event of accidents. They said elevated trustees have billed them for alleged operating losses that total $675,000.

John W. Barriger III., a vice president of Union Stockyards, testified that arrangements had been made to purchase 30 cars needed for separate operation.

It was brought out before adjournment to June 9 that Frederick H. Prince of Newport, R. I., was the majority stockholder of both companies and that directors of the Union company had approved financing of Chicago Junction.

ATTENTION!

YOU are needed now

to serve your country and yourself

by helping build

War Winning Ships

This is a special call for construction workers of the Chicago area who are not now working as maintenance or production workers in local war plants

The skills you have developed working as a carpenter, steamfitter, plumber, sheet metal worker, riveter, heater, burner, rigger, chipper or boilermaker can be immediately used in building ships that are needed NOW!

Any additional training you may need will be given on the job.

If you are a member of the A. F. L. your card is good for work. If you are not, you can join.

There is a place for you to live. The cost of your transportation will be advanced if you need it.

We suggest you bring your wife with you. There may be a job for her, too—at least she can help you decide that you ought to go to California for your war job.

Company representatives are at this office to answer all your questions, to hire and to arrange your transportation. Apply in person only any day this week, Monday thru Saturday, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., May 24-29.

Can You Work 4 Hrs. a Day?

We believe you will be interested to know that we have openings in light inspection work in our war plant for approximately 200 girls and women between the ages of 18 and 45 who have good eyesight and who are not now engaged in full time war work. No experience is needed.

The pay is 50c an hour with an increase after 30 days. A bonus of 10% is paid for night work after 6 P. M.

You may have your choice of the following hours:

AFTERNOON SHIFT:
3:30 p. m. to 7:30 p. m.

EVENING SHIFT:
7:30 p. m. to 11:30 p. m.

Here is your chance to play an important part in helping to win the war, as the item you will aid in producing is urgently needed by the men in our armed forces.

By taking advantage of these convenient hours you can earn extra money and still have time to take care of your household or other duties.

The plant in which these positions are available is located at 54th-av. and 16th-st., Cicero, Ill.

But please apply at our employment office at 5660 W. Taylor-st., Chicago.

MONEY FOR INCOME TAXES
DUE JUNE 15

Higher living costs and larger pay roll deductions may make it difficult for you to pay the 2d installment of your Federal Income Taxes on June 15th. If so, get the cash you need from Commonwealth. Our monthly rate is only 3% on balances of $150 or less, and 2½% on that part of the unpaid balance over $150, which makes the cost quite moderate for short term loans. Repay us in convenient installments . . . it is decidedly more convenient and far less burdensome than making a large lump-sum payment, and besides, you can rid yourself of other troublesome bills at the same time. Get any amount, $20 to $300.

INCOME TAX LOANS
COSTS LESS THAN $1.03 PER MONTH to Pay $50 Income Tax in 3 Monthly Installments
WITH LOCAL LOAN'S PAY-AS-YOU-GO PLAN

Example: If your income tax is $50 you may borrow the money needed and repay only $17.69 per month for three months. That includes a total cost of only $3.07, which averages less than $1.03 a month. There are no other charges! Borrow on your signature only if you have a steady income, or a quick furniture loan can be arranged. Stop in or phone tomorrow. Above figured on basis of 3% per month.

A CORRECTION
We advertised recently to the following effect: "Private Party who wishes to sell late model car can get highest cash price from party who needs car at once. Call Michael. Midway 6656."

The advertisement should have made clear that the advertiser is in the automobile business.

First Photographs! American Troop Landings on Attu Island in the Aleutians on May 11

[Acme Telephoto: From U. S. Navy.]

Landing party on Massacre bay beach at Attu returns Japanese fire from Attu's hills. The Japs, camouflaged, came down to the edge of the fog line to fire at our forces from crevices in the rocks, the navy caption says.

[Associated Press Wirephotos: From U. S. Navy.]

[Associated Press Wirephotos: From U. S. Navy.]
